A well-balanced, well-educated, competent girl

Very tolerant, sane and sensible; with good all-round ability and knowledge, much quiet determination, literary and artistic ability and a big capacity for inspiring friendship and affection, but almost philosophical in outlook and somewhat in a groove. Appears to have no desire to reach out and grasp opportunity, and possibly life runs too easily and smoothly for her.

The above is a Delineation of a reader's character from her handwriting. See others in the Weekly Irish Times

AUTUMN AND WINTER REARING.

Writing on this subject in the Weekly Irish Times, the Poultry Correspondent says:—

The great thing to remember is that late-hatched chickens must not be reared on the same ground that has been occupied by the earlier broods, nor should they be put in coops or brooders that have already been used until they are thoroughly cleaned. Autumn-hatched chickens cannot be expected to be as robust as those hatched in March or April, so that it is most important they should have fresh ground and uncontaminated appliances. Apart from its cleanliness, the nature of the run should be considered; for a place that might do well in spring is quite unsuitable now. Neither the short sun-burned grass of hilly sides nor the long grass in the rich aftermath of meadows is the best, but short, closely-cropped grass of rich land, which yields an abundance of juicy vegetation.

GARDEN, FARM, BEES, ETC.

BULBOUS IRIS.

Writing on this subject in the Weekly Irish Times, the Garden Correspondent says:—

As one of the earliest of spring flowers, that gem of the bulbous tribe, Iris Reticulata, demands early autumn planting. It is ideal for a little pocket in the rockery, where with us it invariably charms with its violet-scented purple and gold flowers ere February is out. This native of the Pyrenees, whence a traveller friend brought us our first bulbs, although available from all garden providers, proves hardiest of the hardy. Planted as indicated in stiffish loam, we consider it indispensable for the rockery, and our planting survived over many years with a little freshening up of the top soil, dividing and replanting as the bulbs increased. Of late years Iris Tingitana, introduced from Tangier in 1872, a lovely blue bulbous thing, has been largely grown by florists, and, potted or boxed now, yields an early paying crop under glass protection.

PROFESSORS AT PLAY.

SCHOLARSHIP IN FUN AND FANTASY.

DUBLIN EXAMPLES OF PARODY AND WIT.

By OLD FOGEY.

IN this series of Saturday articles we have given some thought to the mathematician who disguised himself as Lewis Carroll, and have let his case remind us of others that have given amusement. In this connection there is no need for us to leave our own country out of view. Of scholars at play no more compact exhibition is to be found than that which is seen in "Echoes from Kottabos." The material gathered in that delightful book of selections was solely the product of Dublin University men.

"Echoes from Kottabos," when first I read it, aroused in me a sensation to be compared with that of a small boy coming upon a group of his school masters practising juggling tricks. Many of its contributors, here discovered at literary play, were men of whom I stood much in awe, having known them hitherto only as grave and reverend Senior Fellows, or persons hardly less august.

Younger men were not all left aside. I recollect a graceful lyric by a Chancellor's Prize winner of the Kottabos period, whose more recent writings often delight readers of the Irish Times.

Parody was strongly in fashion during that period (the last years of the nineteenth century). Naturally, that form of clever nonsense is well represented among the "Echoes." One of them was as good a parody of Tennyson as could be desired.

Entitled "Willie and Winnie," it subtly copied the style of certain narrative poems of Tennyson (e.g., "The Brook"). Its author was Samuel Kennedy Cowan, a lavish contributor to Kottabos. A few of the opening lines will remind some readers of the purport of this piece of absurdity:

By chandler Chawkins at the shop abode
Willie and Winnie. Willie was a man,
And she a woman; and the moon was full.
Now Willie loved this woman, heart and soul,
From chignon to shoe-leather, and full fain
Had wedded Winnie; but the girl, because
She had so often seen him in the shop,
Thought not of Willie.

The narrative goes on to tell how Willie went to chandler Chawkins to ask for Winnie's hand, and found the old man in talkative mood. Here is a good specimen of mock Tennyson:—

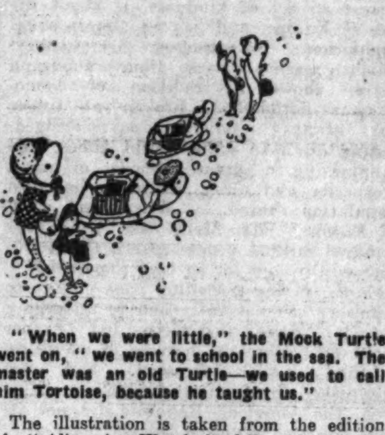
And in those days he bought a pair of dogs—
Caesar and Pompey—each so like to each
That not one single man in the whole world
Could tell the difference. And he made a song,
And sang it; strangely could he make and sing:
"Like is my Caesar, so they say, they say;
But Pompey is like him any day;
I know not which is liker, he or him.

"He, art thou like? The liker him must be;
He, thou art liker; like is him to he;
He, him, if him were liker, he were him.

"Two eyes has each, and they possess two tails;
Neither is feminine, for both are males;
Neither can climb a tree, and both can swim.

"Well-bred is each, for I am sure of that;
And his nose is like him's, for both are flat;
And both are fleet of feet and lither of limb.

A WONDERLAND SCHOOL.



"When we were little," the Mock Turtle went on, "we went to school in the sea. The master was an old Turtle—we used to call him Tortoise, because he taught us."

The illustration is taken from the edition of "Alice in Wonderland," pictured by Mabel Lucie Attwell. It is reproduced by permission of the publishers, Raphael Tuck and Sons, Limited.

"Well trained is he, I never use a switch;
But him is trained as well; but, tell me, which Did we refer the 'he' to; which the—'him'?

"And 'he,' of course, refers—but, nay, I'm wrong;
The 'him'—I quite forget now; but as long
As him and he are happy, what's the odds?"

* * * * *

Tennyson was a favourite subject for parody in that period. "Echoes from Kottabos" has several parodies on "Locksley Hall." One of these, by Charles Pelham Mulvany, began thus:—

'Tis the place and all around it, as of old the porters loll,
Velvet-capp'd and gaitered, guarding the Examination Hall.

College Hall, that in the distance overlooks the College Park,
Whence the daring Senior Freshman scales the railings in the dark.

Many a morn from yonder casement, as I can remember well,
Have I looked on boozy Sutton sloping slowly towards the Bell.

Kottabos was founded in the early 'seventies of last century by Dr. Robert Yelverton Tyrrell, who, a short time before, had been elected a Fellow of Trinity College, Dublin. It was edited by him during all its career, which extended over the following twenty-five years. That career was far from being continuous during the quarter of a century; there were long interruptions, due, not in any degree to a drying up of the fund of scholarship and vivacity in Trinity College, but to the simple fact that such publications seldom pay for themselves. That fact was the ground theme of a clever and amusing parody of Browning, done by the witty editor himself, and entitled "Caliban Upon Kottabos." Here are some lines of the parody:—

'Will sprawl now that the cricket's coming on,
On flat o' back i' the mid o' the day
'Pon the grass-banks;
And, while he chews stem o' black ha'peny clay,
Looks out o'er yon much mire o' the football ground,
Billowing with blackish sea o' mud-made furrows—
A bad gigantic smile o' the brown old earth,
And talks to his own self howe'er he please,
Touching that other Thing called Kottabos;
Because he sent a song-thing to the Editors.
They wouldn't have ——

Then we have the musings of Caliban:

Hopeth that some say Kottabos will die,
Die o' misprints, o' parodies, o' Browning,
Or Greek and Latin verse, or prose o' Newcomen;
Or doze decrepid, t' dose as good as die,

In this spiteful mood Caliban gives vent to one criticism after another, thinks of all the ale and "baccy" and other indulgences that might be purchased with the shilling charged for a single copy of Kottabos, and vows that in future he will content himself with perusal of the copy in the "Phil." reading room. Poor Caliban's monologue is cut short by a stunning blow of a cricket ball.

* * * * *

Kottabos contained not only examples of the art of parody; it was not restricted even to English verse and prose. Many ingenious and delightful excursions in Greek and Latin composition appeared in its pages. Its genial editor, after the death of Kottabos, devoted the greater part of his energies to the editing of the Correspondence of Cicero, a task in which he was assisted by the late Dr. Louis Purser.

The best of the contributions to the scattered numbers of Kottabos were reproduced in the volume, "Echoes from Kottabos," in the editing of which Tyrrell was assisted by the late Sir Edward Sullivan.

RATHFARNHAM DISTRICT COURT.

OVER A GATE.

A MIX-UP AT CHURCHTOWN.

(BEFORE DISTRICT JUSTICE REDDIN.)

Francis Ashby, Landscape, Churchtown, charged Albert Rave with having assaulted him at Landscape on August 10th.

There were cross-summonses by defendant and his wife against Francis Ashby.

Ashby said that Rave was a tenant of his, and lived on the grounds of Landscape. Witness erected a gate near the enclosure at Rave's, and on the evening of the 10th inst. found that Rave had put a padlock on it. Witness broke off the padlock, and Rave said he would brain him if he passed through the gate. Witness went through, and Rave hit him on the head several times with a piece of wood. Witness tried to defend himself, and they fell to the ground. Rave bit witness on the finger, and tried to bite it off.

In reply to Mr. Murnane, witness said he had a right to go through the gate.

Dr. Shaw, Terenure, stated that he attended Ashby, whose face was scratched and his finger seriously injured. It looked as if it had been bitten.

Ashby declared that Mrs. Rave pulled his glasses off. He had failed in ejectment proceedings against Rave. He denied that he tried to "gouge" out Rave's eyes, or that he struck the first blow.

Mrs. Ashby said she saw Rave biting her husband on the finger. She did not see her husband striking Mrs. Rave, but she seemed to be mixed up in the row.

Albert Rave said he was a Frenchman and a market gardener. Judge Shannon, he said, had told Ashby that he was not to interfere with witness.

"Ashby struck the first blow," he said, "and let me have it between the eyes. He stuck his fingers in my eyes, and I bit him hard. If I had not a good set of teeth, I would have lost my eyes. Mrs. Ashby and her daughter dragged me along the ground, and then I overturned Ashby. (Laughter.) Ashby hit my wife several times, and she bled profusely."

In reply to Mr. Coulter, solicitor, witness said he gave Ashby as good a bite as possible. (Laughter.)

Mrs. Rave deposed that Mr. Ashby hit her a blow in the mouth and broke a tooth.

James Conway stated that he saw Mrs. Rave bleeding from the mouth.

Mr. Coulter—Are you sure it was not Mr. Ashby's blood?—How could it be his blood coming out of another person's mouth? (Laughter.)

The Justice said that Ashby had a right to this place and he was entitled to go through the gate, and any assault which he may have committed on Rave was justified. He fined Rave £5 for assault, and ordered him to find bail—himself in £10 and two sureties of £25. He dismissed the charge against Ashby.

Mr. Murnane gave notice of appeal.

CROSS-SUMMONSES FOR TRESPASS.

John Doyle, Friarstown, Tallaght, summoned Bernard Flood for allowing his horses to trespass on complainant's land.

Mr. John Moran appeared for the plaintiff, and Mr. J. G. Allen for the defendant.

There was a cross-summons by Flood against Doyle.

Flood said he lent Doyle a roller and he broke it. When witness said, "When are you going to pay me for the roller?" Doyle replied, "When are you going to pay for the grass?" Flood said he did not think that Doyle took out the summons for the "fun of the thing," nor for the pleasure of having a day in court. Witness's cattle never trespassed to his knowledge.

Doyle also denied that his cattle wandered.

A witness declared that there was one cow which would jump anything.

The Justice advised Flood to repair the fence. He believed that his cattle did trespass, and he awarded Doyle 20s. for the trespass and 21s. costs.

He dismissed the summons against Doyle.

A MUSICAL SCUFFLE.

Annie Matthews summoned Margaret Dunny, Scholarstown, for having assaulted her on August 10th at Scholarstown.

Complainant said that there was a wedding in the neighbourhood, and a row arose because defendant beat complainant's daughter. Defendant tore witness's blouse off and cut her.

A daughter of complainant said that she was dancing with "her mother's sister's daughter" to the music of a gramaphone. Mrs. Dunny was jealous of this, and threw witness's mother into the ditch.

Defendant said that Mrs. Matthews made a "clatter" at her and overbalanced and fell into the ditch. (Laughter.)

Defendant's son that Mrs. Matthews fell into the ditch as she was having a scuffle with his mother.

A Guard deposed that complainant came to the barrack, and her face was bleeding. She said that there was jealousy over the fact that her daughter was more attractive than Mrs. Dunny's. (Laughter.)

Defendant was fined 20s. and 4s. 6d. costs.

DUBLIN DISTRICT COURT.

DID NOT KNOW IT WAS STOLEN.

(BEFORE MR. HANNAN.)

Patrick Doyle (25), of no address and no business, was charged by Detective Sergeant Lynch and Detective Officer Byrne with having on August 10 entered the dwelling-house of 1 Cambridge terrace, Ranelagh, and stolen jewellery, including a gold chain, value £5, and a pendant, value £14, the property of Miss Lilian Syms.

Doyle, when arrested, said that he got the jewellery from a man whose name he refused to disclose. When charged, he said he was not guilty of breaking and entering, and that he did not know the jewellery was stolen.

He was remanded for a week.

BEGGING IN STREET.

John Doyle, of no fixed address, was sent to prison for fourteen days for begging and obstruction in Henry street.

LARCENY OF TYPEWRITER.

John Dillon, of Cabra road, was charged on remand with the larceny of a typewriter, the property of the Royal Typewriter Company, Frederick street, Dublin. The charge against him previously had been one of stealing and fradulent conversion.

Evidence was given that Dillon had agreed to purchase the machine on the instalment plan, but did not pay the first instalment. Later Dillon 'phoned to the Royal Company to say that the machine had been stolen.

Sergeant Curry said that Dillon had told him the lock of his office in Fleet street had been battered and the machine stolen.

Accused, in evidence, said that for a week prior to the machine being missed he was obliged to tap the lock of his office to get in. On the morning on which he missed the machine the lock gave way altogether. On seeing that the machine was not there, he told the police and the machine company, after questioning several people who had visited his office.

Inspector O'Callaghan, who prosecuted, said that Dillon had been convicted before. He was putting advertisements in the papers getting people to come into partnership with him, receiving £20, £10 and £5 from such people.

The Justice convicted and sentenced Dillon to six months' imprisonment, with hard labour.

Mr. McGonigal, solicitor, appeared for Dillon, and Mr. T. A. O'Reilly (Messrs. Duggan and O'Reilly) watched the case for the Royal Typewriter Company.

BLACKROCK BATHS CASE.

(BEFORE MR. CUSSEN.)

Patrick O'Brien (15), of Summerhill, and Hugh Kearney (11), of Summerhill, were remanded for a week on charges of having stolen money from clothes at Blackrock Baths on days in July.

Inspector Gilbride and Detective Officer O'Shea prosecuted.

IRISHMAN'S DIARY.

The Spider's Thread : The Race in "Dubliners"
A Portrait of Handel : Cotton for Roads.
Liqueur des Vagabonds.

Through Moroccan Eyes.

In common, I suppose, with other Irish people who travel abroad, I have often been struck by the disconcerting number of foreigners who seem to have extremely hazy ideas of this country. The remark that one comes from "Ireland," "Irlande" or "Irlanda" means simply nothing to hosts of continentals, although some associate the word in a vague way with "Angleterre." I was the more pleased, therefore, to learn from a friend the other day that there is another side to the picture, and that our local political problems appear to be followed with interest in Morocco, of all places. He tells me that while on a visit to Casablanca he was approached by an Arab trader who was selling some souvenirs. After the customary period of bargaining, my friend made a selection and offered a Free State currency note in exchange. This the Arab declined to accept, and, when his attention was drawn to the fact that payment was guaranteed by the Bank of England, made the penetrating reply: "Guaranteed, yes, to-day—but to-morrow?"

Foreign Drivers in Ireland.

The absence of the foreign drivers, Carraciola, Campari and Nuvolari, from Belfast this year seems to have taken a certain amount of interest from the Tourist Trophy race. These drivers usually gave a spectacular display at the corners, and the rivalry between their cars and the British Bentleys has been one of the special features of the race in previous years. Foreign drivers have always been popular in Ireland. While talking about the French drivers whom we used to see in Dublin, a friend of mine was trying to fix the year of the race mentioned in the story, "After the Race," in James Joyce's "Dubliners." "Dubliners" was published first in 1914, but, as Joyce had been unable to get a publisher for some time, owing to what seems to have been an objectionable reference in the manuscript to King Edward, it was probably written one or two years before—that is, at least twenty years ago. I suppose that the race was the Gordon Bennett race of 1903 that the poet was harking back to in his mind. The only clue given in the story, which may not, of course, be an account of an actual race, is as follows:—"Now and again clumps of people raised the cheer of the gratefully oppressed. Their sympathy, however, was for the blue cars—the cars of their friend, the French. The French, moreover, were virtual victors. Their team had finished solidly; they had been placed second and third, and the driver of the winning German car was reported a Belgian."

Liqueur des Vagabonds.

"Bootleg" whiskey has been the bane of America since prohibition, as poteen has been of this country for some generations, and methylated spirits, either pure or as "Portuguese wine," of London since the War. A new concoction has now been found to be popular among the tramp class in England. This latest drink, which has but lately come to the notice of the police, seems to have worse immediate effects on its devotees than any of the other topes. Those under its influence are driven completely insane, at any rate, for the time, though it has not been long enough in vogue for the ultimate results to be ascertained. It is concocted by mixing surgical spirit with a certain very well-known and nauseating liquid. For my part, I would as soon drink a mixture of petrol and lubricating oil, but, as surgical spirit is a first-class remedy for sore feet, tramps have no trouble in obtaining a supply from any chemist. The authorities certainly will have trouble in putting down the new drink; for the other ingredient is obtained just as easily.

The Spider's Thread.

Following the illustrious example of Robert Bruce, I have often watched a spider swinging from its silken thread. It has never seemed right to me that the thread should be strong enough to carry the comparatively heavy weight of the spider. I am surprised, therefore, to read a statement by Professor Inglis, of Cambridge, to the effect that the spider's thread is the strongest known substance. The professor, speaking recently at Lincoln, said that a filament of spider's web, with a section of one inch, would stand a pull of 560 tons, while a similar filament of steel would stand a pull of only seventy tons. The professor foresaw the day when the web will be produced by synthetic means, and our bridges of the future will be gossamer-like structures, slung from one bank of a river to the other.

A Portrait of Handel.

I came across a very interesting portrait of Handel recently which was acquired under curious circumstances. Many people are familiar with an old joke about an organ in Dublin which was played by Handel, and is still played by handle. A musical friend of mine was inspired to write a humorous song on this theme, incorporating a well-known oratorio ending in every verse. On hearing the song performed, and seeing much of the composer's work in evidence, an old lady said that she had an engraved autographed portrait of Handel which had lain in an attic in their house for some time, and offered it to my friend. He was delighted, and in due course received the engraving, framed in a very deep gilt frame. Written in the bottom left-hand corner is "T. Hudson (pinxit)," and on the other side "L. J. Hinchliffe (sculpsit)." The work cannot be said to be autographed, though Handel's signature has been taken from a private letter, and is pasted to the picture.

Road-Making with Cotton.

Road engineers, I hear, are now considering the possibility of using cotton as a material for road-making. The idea, apparently, is that, if a cotton mat is laid between the foundations of the road and the surface, when the time comes for repairing the surface, the automatic drills will loosen the surface and rip it from the mat, saving, in many cases, the time and expense of disturbing the foundations. This would not only hasten the work, but would considerably reduce the costs. From the point of view of traffic, too, it would be a very valuable innovation; for it is reckoned that traffic blocks, caused by the familiar "road up" nuisance, cost business firms and other users of the streets the not inconsiderable amount of £300 per diem in a large city.

QUIDNUNC.

PRINCES' THANKS TO THE FLEET.

On the conclusion of his visit to the Mediterranean Fleet, the Prince of Wales, who was accompanied by Prince George, sent the following message of congratulations and thanks to the Commander-in-Chief of the Fleet:—

"My brother and I wish to thank you and your staff and the personnel of the Queen Elizabeth for the excellent arrangements made for our visit. We have been most comfortable on board and very well looked after. The barges and picket boat escorts provided by the Queen Elizabeth and Revenge were extremely smart in appearance and most creditably handled, and we would be grateful if you would convey our appreciation to proper authorities. Our one regret is that our visit could not have been extended."

Notice is given in last night's London Gazette of a composition dividend of ten shillings in the pound, payable on August 23rd, in connection with the affairs of the Hon. Hugh Patrick Lygon, of "The Elms," Tilshead, Wilts.

BOOKS OF THE WEEK

PAUL VERLAINE.

Poet Under Saturn. The Tragedy of Verlaine. By Marcel Coulon. Translated and with an Introduction by Edgell Rickword. London: Humphrey Toulmin. 10/6 net.

THE life of Verlaine may be approached by his biographer in one of two ways. He may be treated as the poet who, whatever his superficiality of thought and his emotional voluptuousness, stands out above modern French writers for his delicacy of touch and for his exquisite sensitiveness to transient emotion. This manner of approach is the only one of real value to the reader; for only from this angle is Verlaine worth studying.

M. Coulon, unfortunately, has limited the appeal of his book by dealing with Verlaine rather as a biologist than as a literary critic. In the introduction Mr. Rickword explains that the origin of almost all Verlaine's work may be traced to some particular circumstance in his life, and that, "without a rather detailed knowledge of that life, it is impossible really to understand what he is driving at."

The point is without force. Verlaine's poems, and every other man's poems for that matter, must stand by themselves if they are to be allowed any poetic value at all. Verlaine's character is neither very complex nor very interesting. No real dualism exists; for the most luxuriant of his verses, both secular and religious, had their root in the same emotional intoxication. His life of the grossest self indulgence has a certain morbid interest, but it does not deserve the space that M. Coulon gives it here. Criticism of the real Verlaine, the Verlaine who survives because of the "Fêtes Galantes" and "Sagesse," and not through the eccentricities of "le pauvre Lélian," is lacking in his pages.

Mr. Rickword has done his work as translator very well, although it seems that he has gone to unnecessary trouble in translating the quotations into English prose. It is probable that most readers who are interested in Verlaine are sufficiently acquainted with his language to follow the excerpts in the original.

THE DUTIES OF CRITICISM.

Criticism. By Desmond Macarthy. London: Putnams. 7/6 net.

THE duties of a critic of literature are, in Mr. Macarthy's opinion, to enter the various rooms in the House of Art, to inspect the furniture, to look at the view out of the window, to write down his impressions, and pass on rapidly to the next. As he is not a creator, he must not stay in any room too long or start the furnishing on his own; he is only the guide, the counsellor, or the house agent for the Muses and their clients, and it is his experience, and not his creative gifts, that are valuable.

Such is Mr. Macarthy's conception of his duties, and in this selection of essays we see how well he has discharged them. For many years he has been opening and shutting his doors, but he enters every room as if it were a fresh one. He is never contemptuous, because it is like rooms that he has seen before, or shocked because it is totally different. Yet what a temptation it must be for an elder critic to settle on one cosy suite in the House of Art, of unexceptionable taste and acknowledged superiority, and pass the rest of his days in dusting and cataloguing! That is the way of many established critics, but not Mr. Macarthy's. He is still poking his nose into the newest of the rooms; often he does not like the smell, but smell is subjective and fugitive, and everything smells when it is new. What matter are the contents, and these he describes and estimates conscientiously.

Whether he is writing of Browning or Dean Inge, Donne or Mr. Gerhardi, Mr. Macarthy tries to look at his subject from the angle of a contemporary. Often to appreciate a book to its full we need to re-create in ourselves the minds and circumstances of its first readers. We need this most of all with the rebels. What would Samuel Butler be without a Victorian background, or Beckford without the eighteenth century?

Outstanding among the other essays are Mr. Macarthy's subtle appreciation of Mr. Yeats, his interpretation of T. S. Eliot, and his gentle castigation of Miss Gertrude Stein—but why discriminate? They are all delightful.

THE USE OF FERTILISERS.

Fertilisers and Food Production. By Sir Frederick Keeble, G.B.E. Sc.D., F.R.S. London: Oxford University Press. 5/- net.

THE decline in British agriculture during the last century or so has had unfortunate consequences both for the individual farmer and the nation. Many remedies have been suggested, but surely none of them has had the same solid foundation as the one put forward by Sir Frederick Keeble—namely, increasing and intelligent use of fertilisers. From experiments carried out at Jealott's Hill Research Station and elsewhere he estimates that England could produce at home fifty-five per cent. of her food instead of the present figure of thirty-eight per cent., representing an annual saving of about one hundred million pounds—and this result in six years.

The means whereby this happy result may be obtained are described in detail, and the experimental evidence on which the uses of the fertilisers are based is recorded fully, and is very impressive. Not all this evidence has been collected at research stations, as there is a possibility that yields obtained on farms are never so good as those obtained at the research stations, and also because England is largely a land of small-holders; and much of the experimental work was carried out on small holdings in all parts of the British Isles. This means that the results obtained may be applied to the average farm.

This book will be an eye-opener to the farmer; in it he will find a mine of information in a form in which it can be readily translated into practice. Arable and grass land, cattle and sheep, pigs and poultry are all discussed in the light of the new knowledge, and it will not be easy for anyone interested in agriculture to ignore this remarkable book.

THE CHINESE CASE.

China Speaks. By Chih Meng. London: Macmillan and Co. 7/6 net.

MESSRS. MACMILLAN recently published "Japan Speaks," in which the Japanese case in the Sino-Japanese dispute is ably stated. In "China Speaks" the opposite side now has a hearing. Whether it is that Mr. Chih Meng is a more persuasive advocate or that the Chinese case is intrinsically the stronger, most European readers will find the second book the more interesting of the two. The greater half of both books is devoted to the consideration of treaties and breaches of treaties, concessions and repudiations, "insults" and boycotts. There are masses of statistics and diagrams, newspaper cuttings and startling revelations. Mr. Kawakami and Mr. Meng guide the reader with practised charm through this bewildering mass of material to precisely contradictory conclusions. Which is he to believe? Reason is no help in this case; for both are so eminently reasonable, and the baffled reader can only fall back on his sympathies. To these Mr. Meng unquestionably makes the more potent appeal.

China, which, her enemies allege, is unfit to govern herself, and is in such a state of chaos that foreign intervention is almost an act of kindness, is about the size of Europe, and has an almost equal population. Nevertheless, her history, which reaches back four thousand years, shows a tradition of homogeneous nationhood, broken at times, but always implicitly acknowledged, lasting down to quite recent times, and culminating in great periods of peace, prosperity and unity, in which her vast population shared. "Where and when in Europe," Mr. Meng asks, "did four hundred million people govern themselves successfully and for so long a period?"

China, in the transition from empire to republic, has naturally had to undergo a period of great instability, but France fared no better—the horrors of whose revolution were increased, and not diminished, by foreign intervention; likewise, the American Republic did not attain political stability till 85 years after its revolution. Moreover, the transformation in China is far more complex than any that confronted France or the United States. "Compared with Western history it is like undergoing the Renaissance, the Industrial Revolution and the Civil War, all at the same time." Japan accomplished her revolution peaceably, but not only was her area vastly smaller, but her problems were simpler.

China has always been a peace-loving nation, ruled by scholars rather than by soldiers. Her methods of penetration have been cultural rather than military, and for long centuries Japan was the admiring disciple of her culture and civilisation. Now China is faction-ridden and disorganised, but the psychology of a people rarely changes, except when external violence is brought to bear on it. Unless she is goaded by her enemies into a militarism, which may well be a menace to the whole world, China, if left to herself, will one day return to the paths of unity and peace

RECENT FICTION.

Secret Lives. By E. F. Benson. Hodder and Stoughton. 7/6 net.
Monkey Business. By Joan Butler. Stanley Paul. 7/6 net.
A Girl of the Island. By J. M. Walsh. Hamilton. 7/6 net.
Corporal Downey Takes the Trail. By James B. Hendryx. Jarrolds. 7/6 net.

MR. E. F. BENSON, with considerable ingenuity, has devised yet another convincing mise en scène for his familiar figures. This becomes a harder task every time that Mr. Benson finishes a novel, because there is only a limited number of suitable sites for these middle-aged cronies with comfortable incomes. Under what roofs and in what surroundings shall we meet them next?

In "Secret Lives," as the title suggests, all is not what it seems, and the little group in Durham square is disturbed by the arrival of Miss Susan Leg, a mystery woman, whom the reader instantly takes to his heart, despite the suspicions of Mrs. Mantrip, the villainess of the piece (Bensonian version). This unpleasant widow with literary pretensions is the doyenne of the square, and unwisely antagonises the new arrival. When Miss Leg's fork luncheons and fashionable dinners are reported in the papers she regrets her rudeness, especially as her neighbour's clairvoyante Lady Eva Lowndes and a whimsical bachelor, Jimmie Mason, report the triumps of Miss Leg's French chef.

Like a scarlet thread running through the grey London lives of the householders twines Rudolph da Vinci and his richly preposterous novels.

Rudolph da Vinci's real name and the flutter that he causes in Durham square dovecots will not keep any but the dyspeptic from their dinners; but after a good meal these sedentary adventures will provide an excellent nightcap—mild and entertaining.

* * * * *

Miss Joan Butler is not quite so amusing as Dornford Yates or Ben Travers, but she belongs to the same category of wit makers, and her new novel, "Monkey Business," is full of rollicking and humorous situations, which ought to provide a good temporary cure for the "blues."

Tony Bellew, the hero, is a young man very much "about town," but, by the terms of his father's will, he must lead for six months of every year a life of impeccable respectability. Tony's intentions are excellent, but circumstances, and his unsuitably chosen friends, make hay of his resolutions, and the fun becomes fast and furious as Tony emerges from one perilous situation only to find himself faced with another more hazardous to his future than the last

* * * * *

Mr. Walsh has provided a thrilling, if somewhat conventional, plot, with the South Pacific for a setting. There is the hero who "makes good," the girl largely responsible for his downfall, and the real heroine, around whom the story revolves. A villain, one De Gilion, an ex-convict from New Caledonia, [illegible], and the scene of action, which reads like the New Hebrides, is sufficiently romantic and unusual. Thrills and excitement abound. Though rather Beatrice Grimshaw and water, we must not be unjust and the story will not disappoint the reader.

"Corporal Downey Takes the Trail" is a typical story of the North-West Mounted Police by the author of the well-known "Connie Morgan" novels.

It tells of the outlaw band operating in Dawson City, when the gold rush madness was in the air and desperadoes infested the Northern trails. Corporal Downey's task is to seek out the murderer of Benny the Rat. Buck Hammond confesses to the deed, but he is also a "square shooter"; so Corporal Downey refuses to believe and engages in a thrilling and hazardous man hunt, which ultimately leads to the happy union of Stella and her lover, and the removal of any slur on Hammond's character.

THE GROWTH OF BOLSHEVISM.

Bolshevism, Theory and Practice. By Waldemar Gurian. London: Sheed and Ward. 10/6 net.

"IT is not enough to refute errors; one must overcome them by understanding their grounds." These are the concluding words of Waldemar Gurian's criticism of Bolshevism, and they explain concisely the purposes of this book. It is one of the most exhaustive treatises on Bolshevism hitherto published; for the author traces its growth as a slow, but almost inevitable, development of the social and psychological conditions of Tsarist Russia.

The history of revolutionary socialism in Russia is long, since, through the nineteenth century, every method from terrorism to Nihilism and Tolstoyism was employed to overthrow the imperial régime. What is the reason that Bolshevism succeeded where the others failed? Herr Gurian's answer is that it was to its very limitation that it owed its success and its driving power. Hitherto Russian revolutionaries were a divided and unorganised collection; they theorised and criticised and compromised. Many of the best known Russians of the day were included in their number, and, from the point of view of intellectual eminence, they were immeasurably more distinguished than their Bolshevist successors. Lenin considered it was because they were unorganised and undisciplined that they never reached a wider audience than the intellectual middle-classes from which they sprang—they were amateurs of revolution.

Among the Bolsheviks Lenin was the only one with an intellectual outlook, and by preference he selected his instruments from among those whom he knew he could dominate intellectually. In his exile he formed that band of disciplined and highly organised revolutionaries which, when the moment came, was able to assert itself out of the chaos of the Russian revolution. The Bolsheviks had a policy, even though it was bloody and audacious. Kerensky had none, and, in addition, the Bolsheviks had a consummate tactician as their leader. Their eventual triumph was inevitable.

Herr Gurian has an interesting chapter on the personalities of the Bolshevist leaders. His style is cumbrous, and the book is too long for its material, but it is valuable, because, unlike most modern accounts of Bolshevism, it does not detach it from its setting, and treat it as an isolated phenomenon. He sees its tyranny and cruelty, its wastefulness and its incompetence, but he sees it as a warning, and not as a justification, for the capitalist world.

THE BENCH.

From the Bench. By Cecil Chapman. London: Hodder and Stoughton. 8/6 net.

MR. CECIL CHAPMAN during his many years as a magistrate in London established a reputation for humanely intelligent treatment of the cases which came before him that has become something of a legend. Accordingly, his opinions on the administration of justice and the law—which, as he tells us in his new book, are not always the same thing—deserve careful attention, especially in view of the importance to which this subject has been raised by the recent research of criminologists and psychologists.

"From the Bench" is a treatise rather than a book of reminiscences. Every chapter is devoted to one or other of the various manifestations of human frailty with which police magistrates have to deal. In the last three, however, Mr. Chapman departs—though with success—from his own bailiwick into the higher spheres of international obligations and the proper attitude of the public towards social questions.

The author's own philosophy is consistent throughout, and it is that the personality of the accused is almost as important as the crime with which he is charged. Accordingly, it is not surprising to learn that Mr. Chapman is most suspicious of all laws and punishments in which the influence of the old lex talionis can be traced. In this regard he condemns flogging in all cases, and argues that even garrotting was not stopped by its introduction for this particular offence. His contention is that the danger, in fact, had passed before the Security from Violence (Garrotting) Act of 1863 became law.

Some of Mr. Chapman's theories will provoke criticism. It is his contention, for instance, that England would be better advised to pay more attention to foreign examples, and by inference he charges her public with a leathery—or, at least, a complacent—conscience. Ever kind, the author calls it a superiority complex, but his real meaning is perfectly clear.

Mr. Chapman's style is easy and charming, and, even when he is dogmatic—this occurs very seldom — his manifestly genuine desire to further the cause of social service forbids any feeling of annoyance.

OUR LADY OF LOURDES

FIRST MEETING OF THE IRISH SOCIETY.

The Feast of the Assumption (August 15) was observed in Lourdes by the handmaids and brancardiers of the Irish Society, which is now affiliated to the Archconfraternity Notre Dame de Lourdes, entitling all members and associates to the several indulgences.

This was the first meeting of the Society as a body in Lourdes since its inception some three years ago.

The meeting was held in the chapel of the Hospitalitié. Monsignor Gerlier, who was accompanied by his secretary (Abbé De Bertel), presided.

There were also present Comte Etne de Beauchamp, K.S.G., president, and George Boutril, vice-president of the Hospitalitié. Apologies were received from Prince Bian and Mons. Verges, head of the St. Vincent de Paul Society, both of whom were absent in Paris. Others who favoured the meeting were the Rev. J. Power, P.P., Saltley, near Birmingham; the Rev. Father McCarthy, C.F., director of the Maria Assumptia Pilgrimage; J. O'Malley Moore, editor, Antonian Press, Dublin; Dr. John J. P. Sherry, Mons. P. Peros, B.L., Bordeaux, and J. E. Legg, London.

His Lordship said how very happy and delighted he was to be with the Irish brancardiers and handmaids. He had a very precious souvenir of his visit to Ireland and the wonderful and magnificent ceremonies which took place there.

The Act of Consecration to Our Lady of Lourdes was recited, and at its conclusion his lordship pinned on the bronze medal of the Hospitalitié on one of the regular brancardiers.

This increases the regular Irish brancardiers (auxiliaries) to three.

As it is customary that each branch of the Archconfraternity make an offering to headquarters, it was decided that the first Irish gift should be a "voteur" invalid chair for the comfort of the sick, with the name of the Society inscribed on it.

The three hundred pilgrims of the Maria Assumptia left Lourdes on Tuesday in a comfortable corridor train. All the pilgrims, including the sick, were most happy and regretted having to leave so soon.

Monday being the great Feast, the Irish had the honour of the blessing of the sick, but, owing to a heavy fall of rain, the procession and blessing of the sick had to take place in the aisle.

OLD CONTEMPTIBLES' ASSOCIATION.

MONS ANNIVERSARY DINNER.

The Dublin Central Branch of the Old Contemptibles' Association has arranged to hold its annual dinner, to commemorate the 18th anniversary of the Battle of Mons, to-night at the Red Bank Restaurant. The sale of tickets has been brisk, and a large attendance of ex-officers, ex-Service men and their friends is ensured. The dinner will begin promptly at 7.30, as there is a lengthy musical programme. Decorations and medals will be worn.

Almost all the regiments that took part in the Battle of Mons and the subsequent retreat will be represented, among them being: The 5th Royal Irish Lancers, the 8th Royal Irish Hussars, the South Irish Horse, the Royal Artillery, the Irish Guards, the Royal Dublin Fusiliers, the Royal Inniskilling Fusiliers, the Munster Fusiliers, the Connaught Rangers, the Royal Irish Regiment, the Royal Irish Fusiliers, the Royal Irish Rifles, the Leinster Regiment, the Queen's Royal West Surrey Regiment, the King's Liverpool Regiment, the Royal Army Service Corps, and the Royal Army Medical Corps.

MISUSE OF WORDS.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE IRISH TIMES.

SIR,—I was pleased to read in your issue of to-day that "rain now began to fall" and not "commenced," after twice previously reading "has decided to commence" and "intends to commence." Would not "to begin" have read better? I do believe that the good old words "begin," "began," "beginning," etc., are in danger of becoming obsolete, so that, after a while, the use of them will sound quaint and antiquated.

You do not nowadays—listen almost where you will—hear of anything as "beginning," as everything is "commenced"; but what a shock would our instinct for language receive if this change should ever be made in the language of any English version of the Bible. The Authorised Version never once uses it and I have not met it in the Revised Version. What would we think of "In the commencement God created the heavens and the earth"; "In the commencement was the Word"; "The fear of the Lord is the commencement of wisdom"?

Milton never, that I remember, uses the words "commence" or "commencement," and Shakespeare perpetually makes his beautiful uses of the simpler and shorter words, and makes "begin" even shorter and simpler yet, as in the touching line that tells so much of the guilt-wasted soul of Macbeth—

"I 'gin to grow a-weary of the sun."

I also often wonder at the "awful" misuse of the words "awful" and "awfully," as "awfully nice," "such awful good fun," instead of a simple "very." Those who make so many other and worse misuses of the words are very far from a correct use of a vocabulary. Our school-teachers do not correct the error in their pupils, and use it very much themselves.—Yours, etc.,

"T. T. H."

A prominent aristocrat, the Marquis Mastonde, a son of the Marquis Casa Velaxco, was shot dead yesterday at his home in Madrid, says a Reuter message. The shooting followed a violent quarrel with the hall porter about money the Marquis is said to have owed him.

Railway Stock Investments.

Cork Committee's Decision.

FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.

CORK, Friday.

AT the meeting of the Pilotage Committee of the Cork Harbour Board to-day, the general manager submitted the pilotage fund accounts for the half-year ended June 30, 1932. The expenditure side of the account showed a surplus of £1,007 3s. 8d. on the half-year's working.

Mr. Wallace, Chairman of the Board, drew attention to the Pilots' Benefit Fund. The investments made for the Fund showed an investment of £511 in Great Southern Railways Co. Ordinary stock, recorded on June 30 as worth £84 6s. 3d.; £400 Great Southern Railways Co. 4 per cent. Debenture stock, recorded on December 31, 1931, as value for £228; £51 Great Southern Railways Co. 4 per cent. Preference stock, valued for £18 7s. 2d. As shareholders in the Great Southern Railways system, the members of the Committee should follow very closely how their investments had been applied. He suggested that the Law Agent be directed to ascertain by what authority, or under what Railway Act, had the pilot money been applied and used by the Great Southern Railways Co. for the last ten years. The next point he wished to have cleared up was: What was the relationship between the directorate of the Great Southern Railways and the I.O.C.: had the Pilotage Committee money been used to institute competition between road and rail?

"We want to know," said Mr. Wallace, "exactly the position of agreement, or otherwise, that exists between the railway company and the I.O.C. It seemed strange that we should have an investment of close on £1,000 in railway stock without making some request for information as to how it is being used. You may have seen in yesterday's paper where the railway company is running a sixpenny return fare between Cork and Cobh, which obviously will be very detrimental to the 'bus service, which is parallel. England thought fit to amalgamate her railway system, and we followed her in a sheepish, inexperienced fashion. It seems that we have no brains in this country."

Mr. Mercier said that it appeared that the Pilotage Committee held a smaller interest in railway stock than the Harbour Board, which held about twenty times as much stock. He suggested that if it was desired to pursue the matter further that the matter be referred to the Harbour Board, and that the Board should join the Stockholders' Association, which was endeavouring to secure a tenure of existence for the railways. With regard to the Railway Amalgamation Act of 1924 the Harbour Board was unanimously opposed to it.

Mr. Mercier's suggestion was adopted.

Town Clerk's Office Invaded.

Unemployed Demonstration In Ennis.

FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.

ENNIS, Friday.

REMARKABLE scenes were witnessed in Ennis last night, and to-day, when close on two hundred unemployed labourers invaded the office of Mr. M. J. Carmody, Town Clerk, and made a demand for work.

Mr. Carmody pointed out that he was powerless to act without the authority of Mr. Commissioner Meghen, who was in Dublin.

The labourers requested Mr. Carmody to get into communication with Mr. Meghen and he did so, the result being that the Commissioner arrived in Ennis to-day. He held a conference in the Town Hall with representatives of the unemployed, who told him that they and their families were in need of wages and food. They mentioned that a grant of £10,000 had been sanctioned for the repair of the Fergus drainage district, portion of which is near the town, but, as work would not begin for at least a fortnight, they had sent a telegram to President de Valera requesting him to expedite the issue of that grant.

The Commissioner explained that the amount of grants allocated to Ennis was small and not sufficient to absorb the full number of men seeking employment to relieve immediate distress. He undertook to employ at least fifty men on relief work as from Monday, married men with families to get preference.

With this undertaking, the men withdrew from the Town Hall.

Later a reply to the telegram sent to President de Valera was received from his Secretary, who stated:—"Communicating with Parliamentary Secretary, Board of Works."

Poteen at 5/- Per Quart

FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.

DERRY, Friday.

AN interesting sidelight was thrown on the poteen traffic between the stillers of Inishowen (County Donegal) and Derry City when, at a special Court in Derry this evening, Edward Doherty, father of a fourteen-year-old girl who was detected bringing poteen into Derry, was fined £50, or six months' imprisonment in default.

Preventive Customs Officer Bartley Doolin said that while examining passengers' luggage at Pennyburn Railway Station, Derry, the girl attempted to rush past him. Witness felt something firm against his hand and asked the girl had she anything dutiable. Her mother rushed forward and exclaimed: "Say nothing; no, she has nothing." Mother and daughter were taken to the Customs office, where the mother told the daughter to hand over the stuff. The girl opened her clothes and produced two flasks and a bottle containing four pints of poteen.

The mother said that they sold the poteen in Derry for five shillings per quart.

Mr. P. Maxwell (for the defendants) said that the mother accepted full responsibility.

Captain Gosselin, Resident Magistrate, in announcing the fine for being in possession of the poteen, said that the father was the originator of the traffic, and he used that wretched child to carry the muck into Northern Ireland.

The father said that his wife was trying to make a few shillings.

The mother, who appeared in the dock with another child in her arms, was charged with aiding and abetting, but was discharged.

The father came to Court only to see what had become of his wife and children, and was ordered by the magistrates to be summoned as the parent of the girl.

Limerick Fishery Dispute.

In the report of the meeting of the Limerick Fishery Conservators, which was published on Thursday, a statement that "it was strange that the Board should be ordered to prosecute, in view of the fact that they were directed to return the captured boats and nets of the offenders," attributed to Mr. H. O'Brien Moran. The remarks were made by Mr. Maurice Johnson, Killaloe.

IRISH NEWS IN BRIEF

Heat Wave in Cork.—The heat wave continues in Cork, although the temperatures taken yesterday show a decrease, the sun reading being 96, and shade 74.

Newbridge Rate.—Newbridge Town Commissioners struck a rate of 4d. in the £ on land, and 1s. 4d. on other hereditaments. Mr. M. Smyth said that it was the lowest rate in the Free State.

Support for Government.—Danesfort and Cuffesgrange Branch, Fianna Fail (County Kilkenny), passed a resolution pledging support to the Government in the present crisis, and calling upon all Irishmen to stand behind President de Valera.

The Economic Dispute.—Ballysax Branch of Cumann na nGaedheal passed a resolution "viewing with alarm the continuance of the present tariff war."

Child Drowned in Well.—Alice Lutterell (3), daughter of Mr. John Lutterell, Garryricken House, County Kilkenny, was drowned in a well near her father's house. She was playing with other children in the yard, and, on being missed, a search resulted in the finding of her body floating, face downwards, in the well.

Boy's Skull Fractured by Horse.—The seven-year-old son of Mr. E. Chestnutt, Drumlee, Ballymoney, was admitted to the Route District Hospital yesterday suffering from a fracture of the skull, as a result of a kick from a horse. An operation was necessary and it is expected that the boy will recover. The boy had gone out with the servant man to round up the horse, and was behind it when the animal kicked out, striking him on the forehead.

Roads Grant.—At a finance meeting of the Kilkenny County Council, a letter was read from the Free State Department of Local Government and Public Health stating that the Minister for Finance had sanctioned the allocation of a further sum of £3,000 to the Council for the improvement of important county roads. A vote of thanks was passed to Mr. Gibbons, Chairman, for the efforts he has made in trying to get for the county a substantial portion of the unemployment grant; also to Mr. Derrig, Free State Minister for Education, for the attention that he has given to matters dealing with the welfare of his constituents.

Music at Bray.—The Workers' Union of Ireland Band will give a recital at Bray Esplanade to-morrow, from 7.45 to 9.45 p.m.

Castlecomer Coal.—Kilkenny County Board of Health has decided to use 80 per cent. of Castlecomer coal in all the institutions under their charge.

Imperial Service Medal.—The King has awarded the Imperial Service Medal to William Bell, postman, Fivemiletown Sub-office, Armagh; and Peter Smith, postman, Downpatrick.

Unable to Pay.—Monaghan and Cavan Mental Hospital Committee was informed by the clerk that, though they had £2,291 to pay, the money was not available to meet it, and the staff and contractors would have to wait.

The Mercantile Marine.—Wexford Borough Vocational Education Committee has decided to establish a school for pupils desirous of training in the mercantile marine and fishing industry. The Wexford Harbour Commissioners have approved of the proposal, and decided to contribute the entrance fees for pupils whose parents are in poor circumstances.

Tullamore Fair Failure.—Tullamore fair yesterday was a failure. There was a small supply of the rougher kinds in all departments, as, owing to the poor demand and prices, good quality beasts were not brought to the fair. There was an absence of buyers. A lot of cattle and sheep remained unsold, and many people had to sell at a big sacrifice. The quotations were:—Yearling stores, £6 to £9; 1½ to 2 years, £10 to £11; fat cattle averaged £11; beef, 30s. cwt.; lambs, 10s. to 15s. each; fat sheep, 25s. to 30s.; bonhams, 10s. to 13s.; horses, £15 to £20.

The Honey Harvest.—The yield of honey in County Wexford, where the season is almost ended, is not easy to estimate, owing to the varied weather conditions that obtained during the past three months, and also to the wide difference that exists between the results obtained in neighbouring apiaries. There has now been a run of extremely bad years for bee-keepers. The year 1930 was looked upon by the oldest bee-keepers as the worst in their memory, and last year was not much better. Hopes for a return to more favourable results this year were discouraged by the summer weather conditions, fine days and wet alternating, without the sustained heat that favours the work during the honey flow.

HEAT WAVE IN BRITAIN.

A DOZEN DEATHS REPORTED.

HEAT wave items from the provinces in Great Britain yesterday include the following:—

James Jackson (64), member of a firm of Macclesfield bakers, was overcome by the heat and died while engaged in the bakehouse.

At Cardiff the temperature at midnight was about 80 degrees—the hottest night for ten years. Many people spent the night on the sands. Moonlight bathing was general.

A heat wave tragedy was investigated at Liverpool. William Fisher (89), of Owen road, Birkdale, fell out of his bedroom window early in the morning. His daughter-in-law said she thought he stood on a bed under the window, leaned out to get air, and overbalanced. Verdict—accidental death.

William Davies, an elderly engine driver at a Crewkehne (Somerset) webbing factory, was overcome by the heat while at work about noon and died.

William Arnold (51), a dairy farmer, of Abbey road, Cambridge, on holiday at Bournemouth, collapsed owing to the heat while walking through Bournemouth pleasure grounds about mid-day, and died before reaching hospital.

Mrs. Martha Thompson (70), of Leeds, who was staying on holiday at Glenfield, Leicestershire, was overcome by the heat and died suddenly.

STEEL WORKERS AFFECTED.

At Newport (Mon.) the temperature reached 93 degrees, and equalled the record of July 12, 1925. Steel workers were affected by the heat, and some mills were stopped.

Robert Dearden (21), of Malpas, bathing at Newport Lighthouse, was missed by companions. When the tide receded, his body was recovered near the spot where he was last seen.

Grace Batten, 15, daughter of Mr. F. T. Batten, motor engineer, of Cullompton, Devon, died, it is believed, from the effects of the heat, after complaining of feeling unwell and retiring to bed.

Exeter temperatures were the highest for ten years.

While discussing routine business at his desk in Riverside road Post Office, Oxford, Mr. Alfred John Haddocks, 58, of Divinity road, Oxford, a clerical officer, collapsed and died. The effect of the heat was believed to be the cause of death.

The intense heat stopped the running of the miniature railway on the beach at Sandown, Isle of Wight. The rays of the broiling sun so expanded the injectors of the engine that it had to be shut down from noon until three o'clock.

A verdict of death from apoplexy, due to the heat, was returned at an inquest at Atherstone, Warwickshire, on a twelve-year-old boy, Wilfrid Colclough. The boy had been bathing regularly in the river, and returned home complaining of pains in the head, and died suddenly.

The father, a hatter, said that he had six children, some of whom had never worn a hat.

The Coroner remarked that some kind of covering for the back of the head was necessary for protection during a heat wave.

Cardiff's share temperature of 93 degrees was the highest recorded since 1876.

A woman was affected by the heat and collapsed in Wellingborough Police Court while applying for a maintenance order against her husband.

Navvy work outdoors was suspended for four hours owing to the heat, and people buying butter in Wellingborough market carried it home in jugs.

Alfred Sallis (20), of Thorpe Mews, North Kensington, London, was drowned in the Thames at Maidenhead last night while bathing.

Mrs. Fox, wife of Professor Fox, of Cardiff, was drowned while bathing at Llangennith, in the Gower Peninsula, Glamorgan, yesterday afternoon.

Lance Bombadier Albert Stevenson (21), of the 3rd Medium Brigade, Royal Artillery, stationed at Longmoor, was drowned in Frensham pond, near Farnham, Surrey, yesterday. Stevenson, whose home address was at Alfreton, near Derby, had been taking part in a bathing parade.

A BEAUTIFUL MIRAGE.

It was stated at Lincoln yesterday that two local men, C. Steel and A. Lewis, had seen a beautiful mirage over Lincoln Cathedral.

They say that they saw a farmhouse, three haystacks and a corn field reflected in the sky. The men were two miles from the Cathedral, looking in a northerly direction.

The whole of Europe is sweltering in the heat wave, and messages from various centres record the highest temperature for many years past.

From Cologne it is reported that the thermometer yesterday registered 95 degrees fahrenheit in the shade, and it is expected that it will be even hotter to-day.

Moreover, the weather stations predict that the heat wave will continue for several days longer.

Rotterdam reported a temperature of 94.5 degrees at 5.30 yesterday afternoon—the highest ever registered in that normally cool area.

HEAT IN ENGLAND.

HOTTEST DAY FOR 21 YEARS.

Last night all England sweltered after the hottest day recorded for 21 years—99 degrees was recorded at Greenwich at 3 p.m., but respite from the heat is promised.

Cooler weather by Sunday is the refreshing promise of the weather experts.

Very high temperatures will continue today, however, in the South-East and the Midlands.

At 10 last night the temperature in London was 85 degrees—eight degrees higher than at the same time on Thursday, and the experts believed that there was every possibility of outrivalling the warmest night since records were taken—a night in August, 1911, when the temperature between midnight and dawn did not fall below 67 degrees.

Tragedies attributable to the heat wave were reported yesterday from all parts of the Kingdom. From the provinces 14 heat deaths were reported.

Thunder is expected by this evening and then cooler on Sunday.

ANYTHING BUT POLITICS.

TALK WITH LORD ASKWITH.

"MY visit to Ireland is purely a social one, and I think I would rather say nothing about political questions," said Lord Askwith to an Irish Times representative, who yesterday sought an interview.

Lord Askwith is staying at Kenure Castle, Rush, County Dublin, as the guest of Lady Askwith's nephew, Lieutenant-Colonel Padmer.

The railway strike at Dundalk appeared to interest Lord Askwith, but he confessed he knew little of the details of the matter.

"It arouses memories of various disputes and strikes in the past, when I visited Ireland in an official capacity," he explained.

He especially recalled the Belfast riots of 1907, when he was a newly-appointed Assistant Secretary of the Board of Trade.

"My most vivid recollection of that eventful time," said Lord Askwith, "was seeing the Cameron Highlanders posted throughout the streets, and the soldiers escorting flax-laden vans, with R.I.C. men lying on top of the bales."

On the subject of the land annuities, Lord Askwith believes that the dispute could only be settled by arbitration.

"The trouble is, however, that you cannot have arbitration unless you have agreed on some basis for the discussion. Of course, the tariff war is suicidal. England is the only market for Irish cattle. The French do not want them, and the Free State cannot possibly consume all the cattle it produces."

He did not think it possible that tillage could be made profitable, as the country is too damp. And, in any event, the Free State could not compete with the great grain-growing countries of the world.

Lord Askwith recalled that he sat with Sir Harry Peat and Lord Finlay on the Royal Commission which examined the question of admitting Canadian cattle to England, and expressed the opinion that the Canadian cattle were not of the standard of those imported from Ireland.

EMIGRATION QUESTION.

When the Imperial Conference at Ottawa was mentioned, Lord Askwith smiled, and remarked that he could see at least one result of the Conference—the establishment of another bureau in London with a staff of officials, probably paid for by Great Britain.

"I should like to have seen the Conference coming to some decision on the problem of emigration, which has become so acute during the past few years; but, as the delegates have not touched this question nothing can be said."

Lord Askwith has spent considerable periods in various Colonies and Dominions with Royal Commissions and Parliamentary delegations. He was with the Commission in Malta last year, and has only recently returned from Bermuda. During the course of his travels he has studied the problem of emigration and the overcrowding of various countries.

Lord and Lady Askwith will leave Dublin on Monday for Westport, County Mayo, where they will be the guests of Lord and Lady Sligo.

A NATIONAL GOVERNMENT.

CALL FOR UNITED ACTION.

In connection with the present political situation, The Standard, the weekly Roman Catholic newspaper, publishes this week editorial references to the speech delivered this week by Cardinal MacRory at the celebrations at Slane, when he described the continuation of the tariff war as "a sin and a shame." The Standard urges that "the light that was lit on Slane should not be exposed without shelter to the mists and blasts that blow from Moscow," and it suggests that all parties should come together to find a solution.

"It is an occasion," says The Standard, "when mere party politics as such should be laid aside, and men of ability brought together, no matter of what party, or of no party, for we need the wisest heads and the combined intelligence of the nation in the emergency.

"Where it might be difficult for one party alone to revive negotiations that have been interrupted, without any loss of dignity, a combination representative of all parties in the State would be free to lead where mere party must hesitate to tread. Even if further negotiations should prove unavailing—a remote possibility in view of the obvious British anxiety to find a way out—such a combination of parties would be invaluable should the tariff war continue. But we need not anticipate the future of the negotiations.

"There is no question of asking the Government to abdicate its authority; for it would only strengthen itself by calling others into consultation. A national union would be a great check on extremists of both sides—left or right—as the case of Germany shows. They are a menace to the State. Already there has been talk of civil strife. From such a prospect all good citizens of the Saorstat must shrink with horror. Whatever will bring about a peaceful union of the people should have the support of every responsible man in the State."

Armagh Murder Charge.

Sequel to Domestic Servant's Death.

FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.

PORTADOWN, Friday.

HAROLD COURTNEY (22), lorry driver, of Church street, Dungannon, who was arrested in Coalisland yesterday in connection with the murder of Minnie Reid (23), domestic servant, of Drum, Eglish, Dungannon, appeared before Major J. D. MacCallum, Resident Magistrate, at a special court, which was held in Edward street barrack, Portadown, to-day.

The accused man was attired in the khaki shirt and dungarees which he was wearing when arrested, and did not appear to be greatly perturbed by the charge against him. He sat beside his solicitor, Mr. A. P. Orr, Dungannon, with whom he had a brief conversation towards the close of the proceedings, which only lasted ten minutes, and, at the request of District-Inspector Anderson, were adjourned to August 26th.

The charge preferred against the accused man was: "That at Derryane, in the County of Armagh, between July 27 and August 3, 1932, he unlawfully killed one Minnie Reid, with malice aforethought."

District Inspector Anderson said that the girl the accused man was charged with murdering was a domestic servant in the employment of Mr. David Collen, Stuart avenue, Portadown, from July 1 last to July 27, on which date she disappeared. In the evening, some time after 8 o'clock, she brought in Mr. Collen's supper. That was somewhat earlier than the usual hour, and her explanation to Mr. Collen for doing so was that she was going out, and might not be back before he needed it. She left the house some time after 8 o'clock and nothing further was heard of her until August 3rd, when her body was found in a clump of laurels in a laneway in the townland of Derryane, Birches. The following day a search was made in the locality, and some distance from where the body was discovered a blood-stained razor was found, with which it was believed the deed was committed.

"Further than that I do not intend to go at present," added Inspector Anderson.

District Inspector Anderson went on to give evidence of arrest, and said that the accused man when cautioned stated: "I have nothing to say," adding on the way to Coalisland police barrack: "You have the wrong man." Witness believed that he would be able to connect the accused man with the offence with which he was charged. He asked for a remand in custody until August 26th.

Mr. Orr, who did not question the witness, inquired regarding the proceedings at the next court, and Inspector Anderson said that another formal remand would be applied for.

Head-Constable Slack, C.I.D., Belfast, was in charge of the investigations.

Charge Against Two Councillors.

Unusual Case in Waterford.

FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.

WATERFORD, Friday.

A CASE of unusual interest was heard at Waterford District Court to-day, when Mr. Nicholas Quinlan, Town Councillor, Shortcourse, Waterford, cattle dealer, appeared as complainant against two fellow-councillors, Messrs. David Nash and Thomas Purdue, representatives of unemployed on the City Council. The summonses, of which there were three, in each case charged the defendants with, while being in receipt of home assistance, unlawfully acting as councillors, contrary to the provisions of the Local Government (Ireland) Acts, 1898-1925, and the Application of Enactments Order, Article 12, 1898, as adapted.

District Justice McCabe reserved his decision for a week.

When Mr. Charles S. Quinlan, solicitor, who appeared for the complainant, his brother, was about to open the case, Councillor Purdue said that he and his colleague had been unable to procure legal assistance because they were unemployed. They regarded this as a very important matter, and asked for a month's adjournment.

Mr. Quinlan said that the summonses were served a fortnight ago. The defendants wanted an adjournment because they intended to act again at the next Corporation meeting. If the defendants gave an undertaking not to repeat the offence between now and the adjourned hearing, he would not object.

Purdue—Would not that be a move in the direction of an injunction, your worship?

Mr. Quinlan said that the case of the defendants could not be prejudiced by formal proofs being put, and the Justice agreed to this course.

Mr. Quinlan then applied to have Councillor Purdue excluded from the Court while the case against Nash was being heard.

The Justice—On what grounds?

Mr. Quinlan—You have power to do so under the rules.

The Justice—But why do you say I should exercise those powers?

Mr. Quinlan did not press the point.

Mr. Quinlan said that the defendants, if convicted of the offence charged, were liable to a penalty not exceeding £20, together with disqualification for ten years from the date of conviction. One of the first acts of the Free State Legislature was to give legal sanction to the abolition of the workhouse system, and validate various county schemes. On May 5, June 2, and June 9 of the present year both defendants received dockets valued at ten shillings each from Home Assistance Officer McGrath, and on the same dates it would be proved by the Town Clerk they took part in the proceedings of the Waterford Corporation. If the offences were proved, the Probation of Offenders Act did not apply.

Formal evidence was given by the Home Assistance Officer and Mr. P. J. O'Brazil.

The Town Clerk, asked by the Justice if he had any record of the defendant's voting at the meetings in question, replied that Councillor Nash had proposed a proposition on May 5.

He added that he could not say if Councillor Purdue was present at the meeting when the resolution was put.

Councillor Nash said that there were several meetings where record votes were taken, and the Town Clerk should be asked to refer to the minutes of these.

Councillor Purdue said that Mr. Quinlan had not made the distinction between union relief and home assistance. Home assistance was given to able-bodied men on account of the abnormal unemployment.

Councillor Nash gave an undertaking to the Justice that if the case were adjourned for a fortnight they would not attend the Council meetings in the meantime.

Mr. Quinlan—I will not accept that undertaking.

The Justice refused to give the fourteen days' adjournment.

THE AMERICAN MARKETS.

REUTER'S TELEGRAMS.

NEW YORK, Friday.

The Stock Exchange opened strong, with several large blocks of shares changing hands following the announcement of the formation of the Commodities Finance Corporation. The Corporation, it is stated, has been formed with funds of 50,000,000 dollars, subscribed by local banking institutions for financing the purchase, carrying and orderly marketing of agricultural and other commodities for domestic consumption or export.

After advancing 1 to 2 points during the morning in active trading, the market encountered some selling which reduced or cancelled the earlier gains. Prices, however, quickly rallied to show fractional advances, with Rails notably firm.

In the afternoon the market still seemed influenced by wheat, and when the wheat market sagged shares also eased, the leading issues declining 1 to 3 points in very dull trading.

Only a temporary stimulus was obtained from the announcement of the formation of the Commodities Finance Corporation, which was a little disappointing to some brokerage quarters, as bankers scotched the rumours of a "pool" to boost commodity prices, pointing out that the fund would perform a conservative banking function.

The mercantile reviews available to-day failed to shed any particularly new light on the general trade situation.

The meeting of the railroad executives in Chicago brought the brief statement that the subject of wages was discussed, and that another meeting would be called later.

Towards the end the list declined sharply by 1 to 6 points, but some covering developed in the final dealings. The market closed easy.

CHICAGO MARKETS.

CHICAGO, Friday.

With buying power not sufficient to absorb the increased hedging pressure prices receded on the grain market to-day. The news of harvesting weather was favourable, while unresponsive cables, coupled with the failure to materialise of the expected increase in the export demand, added to the depression. Stop-loss selling and liquidation caused further recessions in the late dealings. Wheat values eased owing to selling by Eastern and foreign connections. Scattered liquidation of the September option caused declines in maize, while the market also eased in unison with wheat and on a slow shipping interest. Trading, however, was of a narrow character. Rye moved lower in sympathy with wheat and owing to an absence of foreign interest; while oats declined on light purchases and in unison with maize.

Possession of Revolver.

WATERFORD, Friday.

At Waterford District Court Frank Walsh, Dublin, former light-weight boxing champion of Ireland, and a young man, Daniel Campbell, stated to be a native of Tipperary, were put back for sentence until to-morrow morning, charged with the possession of a revolver without a licence.

Campbell was further charged with the larceny of a revolver from Walsh, against whom there also was a prosecution for being in possession of five rounds of ammunition.

Both pleaded guilty, Campbell admitting that he stole the revolver from Walsh at Tramore races.

Mr. C. S. Quinlan, solicitor, said that his client (Walsh) was an ex-soldier, and had a revolver given to him as a souvenir by the late Major-General Cullen, of the Free State Army.

Dundalk Chapel Destroyed.

FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.

DUNDALK, Friday.

THE chapel attached to St. Mary's College, Dundalk, was destroyed by fire this morning, despite heroic efforts by firemen, guards and civilians. The fire was discovered about five o'clock, and the alarm was immediately given to the Guards and private Fire Brigades in the town. Quickly the Fire Brigades of Messrs. P. J. Carroll and Co. and the Great Northern Railway Works were on the scene, and some time after six the Newry Fire Brigade, which made the 13 miles' journey in less than half-an-hour after it had been summoned, arrived. By that time the fire had gained complete control of the chapel, and efforts were concentrated on cutting off the rest of the college on the one side, and private houses in St. Mary's road on the other. These efforts were successful, and in a few hours the fire was completely extinguished, and civilian volunteers and Civic Guards were busy on salvage work within the ruins of the chapel, of which only the walls remain.

SACRED VESSELS SAVED.

Efforts were made by guards and civilians, among whom was Mr. J. Coburn, T.D., and members of the community, to save the sacred vessels, and they managed to bring the tabernacle, encased in marble, with its contents from the high altar to a place of safety. The vestments, which were kept in another portion of the chapel, also were saved.

The origin of the fire is unknown. Flames were first seen at the gallery end, and these spread rapidly along both aisles, and bit by bit the roof disappeared. In an hour the place was completely gutted.

Within the last few years a very valuable altar, donated by a Dundalk woman, was installed, and extensive renovations, which included the painting of the entire church, and the provision of a beautiful mosaic to the wall behind the altar, were carried out.

Cardinal MacRory, who was informed of the fire this morning, has given permission for Mass to be celebrated in the concert hall attached to the college.

Sequel to a Tipperary Eviction.

FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.

TIPPERARY, Friday.

AT Tipperary Superintendent Quinn charged Mrs. Margaret Conway, Bridge street, Tipperary, with besetting the premises occupied by Michael Harold at 36 Main street, and also with besetting the premises of Louis J. Dalton, Main street, Tipperary.

Mr. L. J. Dalton, who resides at Clondalkin, said that he was the owner of the premises from which defendant's husband was evicted for non-payment of rent. The local Town Tenants' League informed witness that there was no case against him. Witness had seen defendant after he had let the house to Mr. Harold speaking to customers in the street and calling Mr. Harold a "grabber," an "evictor" and an "emergency man."

Mr. Harold gave similar evidence, and said that the defendant called after him as he was leaving the premises.

Defendant, in evidence, denied interfering with anybody entering or leaving the premises.

She refused to give an undertaking to the court that she would not walk up and down the street near the premises in future.

District Justice Troy imposed a sentence of three months' imprisonment, the warrant not to issue if she refrained from interfering in the future.

The Irish Times.

SATURDAY, AUGUST 20, 1932.

NEWS SUMMARY.

IRELAND.

A last-minute hitch has occurred in the negotiations concerning the railway strike at Dundalk, and a deputation of the Urban Council will interview the manager of the Great Northern Railway to-day.—(Page 7.)

A fire early yesterday morning destroyed Captain Bloomfield's residence at Newpark, near Waterford. The damage, which includes the loss of a valuable art collection, is estimated at between £70,000 and £80,000.—(Page 7.)

Notes which were stolen from a post office in Tipperary last year by armed men have been identified by a Dublin bank, which they reached in the ordinary course of business.—(Page 7.)

Thirty-two cars will take part in to-day's Tourist Trophy race over the Ards Circuit in County Down.—(Page 7.)

Unemployed invaded the Town Clerk's Office in Ennis, demanding work.—(Page 5.)

A meeting of farmers in Streamstown called for a settlement of the economic dispute with Great Britain.—(Page 8.)

At Portadown yesterday, Harold Courtney (23), a lorry driver, of Dungannon, was charged with the murder of Minnie Reid, domestic servant, at Derryane, County Armagh.—(Page 5.)

GREAT BRITAIN.

Many casualties, including twelve deaths, were caused by a heat wave in Britain yesterday. The whole of Europe was reported to be sweltering, the temperatures in many centres being the highest for years past.—(Page 5.)

ABROAD.

Telegrams from Ottawa indicate that the Anglo-Irish conversations there have reached a more hopeful stage. Both parties are said to be seeking an "agreement to agree." It is suggested that if negotiations on the subject of the land annuities were resumed the hostile tariffs should be suspended on both sides, and in the better resultant atmosphere the personnel of the arbitral tribunal might be discussed.—(Page 7.)

Mr. J. A. Mollison, after flying for thirty hours, made a perfect landing at Pennfield Ridge, New Brunswick, yesterday. He left Portmarnock on Thursday.—(Page 7.)

It is understood that the Anglo-Canadian agreement at Ottawa, now nearing completion, will place Canadian cattle on the same footing as Irish cattle in pre-tariff days, as regards exports to Britain.—(Page 8.)

The statement of Herr von Papen, the German Chancellor, that his Government would remain in office for some time to come, has given rise to considerable speculation.—(Page 8.)

SPORTING.

At Hurst Park yesterday Sickle Moon won the Robin Hood Stakes.—(Page 10.)

FINANCIAL.

London Stock Markets rallied and many gains were registered. British Funds were exceptionally lower in places.—(Page 12.)

The Treasury Bill rate was slightly higher. Loan and Bill rates were unchanged.—(Page 12.)

Dublin Market was steady. Bank Stock rose 5 points, and Guinness units improved.—(Page 12.)

Ideals and Interests.

One hundred and fifty years have passed since Burke wrote: "We view the establishment of the English colonies on principles of liberty as that which is to render this Kingdom venerable to future ages." Even Burke, greatest of political philosophers, did not foresee the developments which to-day are being crowned at Ottawa. At the beginning of this week Mr. Baldwin created a happy interlude in the process of commercial bargaining when he discoursed to the Canadian Club upon the higher purpose of the Imperial Conference. He pleaded for such elevation of mind and consecration of fellowship as would soften future asperities within the Empire—whose members, as he said, are more than a family. They represent the moral and intellectual embodiment of a civilisation which, in the world's greatest crisis, they have helped to save for mankind. Among living statesmen, perhaps, the mantle of Burke's sane idealism has fallen most largely on Mr. Baldwin. He hopes for an Empire which will be the Kingdom of Heaven on earth, but he recognises that to-day the British Empire is a product of mixed motives and ambitions. It must travel towards perfection by the path of co-operative effort, and it must seek unity without the submergence of any of its members. The particular genius of every member of the Empire must contribute to the glory of the whole.

Mr. Baldwin's audience included Mr. Seán T. O'Kelly, the leader of the Free State Government's delegation at Ottawa; and we can fancy that Mr. O'Kelly was a wistful and attentive listener. All the reports from Ottawa suggest that the personal relations between the English and Free State delegates have been excellent. President de Valera's men have discovered, we think, the British Government's sincere good-will towards the Free State; and Mr. Macdonald's men, no doubt, have been quick to perceive Mr. O'Kelly's embarrassments. This personal good feeling aggravates a lamentable situation. Between the British and Free State Governments to-day is a naked clash of ideals. The British Government's ideal contemplates an Irish Dominion, gaining prosperity with the increasing prosperity of the Empire, reaping the rich benefits of the British market, united to Britain and to the other Dominions by the link of the Crown, but free in all respects to cultivate her individual genius and to build upon her own traditions. Alas! the Free State Government has poured all its forces, and all its tragic incapacity to forget, into the ideal of an absolute isolation. Neither economic gain nor the prospect of economic ruin is permitted to interfere with its sublimated conceptions of freedom. Its motto is: "All for perfect independence, and the Empire's trade well lost." We may be certain that Mr. Baldwin cannot understand Mr. de Valera's point of view, and it is equally certain that Mr. de Valera cannot understand the British temper towards Ireland. Mr. Baldwin lives in the present; Mr. de Valera still fights with Strongbow. We fear that neither Mr. O'Kelly nor Mr. Thomas can be an interpreter between the two.

This clash of ideals—this conflict between past and present—has all the elements of great literature; we can conceive dimly how Shakespeare would have handled it. Unhappily, it has a nearer and more urgent interest for the citizens of the Free State. Mr. de Valera has taken an impossible stand. He cannot continue at once to acknowledge and to repudiate the bonds of Empire. He cannot assert the Free State's rights as a Dominion and denounce the Treaty through which those rights exist. Already, after a few weeks of economic war, the Free State's main industry is crippled, and she faces a winter which must inflict the gravest hardships on her farmers and working classes. Sooner or later the clash of ideals must be resolved—if only because the Free State's economy cannot endure its penalties for many months. Fortunately, the choice will be made not by the leaders of any party, but by the people themselves. They must choose definitely between the isolation of a twenty-six county republic and co-operative progress within the British Empire. No middle course is open to them; for Ottawa at this moment is defining the duties and privileges of Empire in the clearest terms. At the next general election, which may come during the present year, the Free State may be required to make the final choice. Mr. de Valera has said that he will seek a mandate for a republic; and, if he gets it, there is little likelihood that Britain will wish to retain an unwilling Dominion within the Empire. It will be a question of "Stay" or "Go," and, for good or ill, the Free State's people will be masters of their fate.

Confiscation in Spain.

The Spanish Government has promoted its agrarian policy by a further step. On Thursday night the Cortes passed a bill under which it will confiscate the estates of all who took part in the recent monarchist revolt. This decree will involve a number of the largest, wealthiest and most illustrious land-owners in Spain. The lands confiscated will be devoted to the furtherance of the State's plan of agrarian reform; in other words, they will be divided into holdings for the benefit of the landless peasants. We fear that the Spanish Government has not improved its position by this extremely drastic step. Clemency would have been the surest guarantee against any further efforts to provoke trouble against the Republican régime. Now the Government has incurred the enmity of the wealthiest and most powerful class in the State—a class, furthermore, which, for all the Republican zeal displayed in Spain, yet commands the almost feudal respect of multitudes of peasants. If the Government had been "willing to let the matter drop," it would have bound these people to its cause, and would have obtained powerful and eminently desirable allies. As yet it is in no position to despise such allies, or, for that matter, to despise any allies at all. The Spanish Government, as the recent revolt showed, is established firmly so far as material strength goes. Yet it is surrounded by a constant menace in the shape of militant Socialism, and nobody can tell when the menace may take concrete form. The ravages of the great Communist union, which threatened the new régime for more than a year after the fall of the Monarchy, have been slackened, but the spirit engendered is by no means dead. We cannot but admire the firmness with which the Republican Government set its hand against these efforts to disrupt the infant State, and the very fair measure of success that has attended its firmness. Communism, however, is an insidious enemy which works under ground and knows how to bide its time. In comparison with the danger from Communism the danger from Monarchist reactionaries is slight; the assistance, however, of ex-Monarchists would be a strong asset. The Spanish Government alienated one powerful source of support when it confiscated Church property; it has alienated another now.

Vegetable Prices.

We print to-day an article from our Agricultural Correspondent which deals with the price of vegetables in Dublin. There has been a good season; supplies never were more plentiful; yet, while the producer in many cases cannot get enough for his vegetables to pay the cost of taking them to the market, the Dublin housewife is being forced to pay artificially high prices. Suggestions of "profiteering" are denied indignantly; but the fact remains that potatoes, for example, for which the farmer obtains 3s. a hundredweight, are being retailed in Dublin at tenpence a stone. There is little doubt that the producing farmer in the Dublin area is working, when not at an actual loss, at the smallest possible margin of profit. Market gardening has ceased to pay. In the first place, nearly every occupier of a new house has his own garden, which he cultivates for his domestic uses. Furthermore, since the advent of the motor lorry, the area of supply has been widened enormously. Before the War market-gardening was virtually confined to a radius of ten miles from Dublin, but nowadays vegetables are sent to the city from a distance of fifty miles. Consequently, competition is so keen that prices have fallen to a rock-bottom level; and cases are on record in which farmers have dumped their stocks rather than incur the expense of sending them to the market. Yet retail prices for vegetables of all kinds seem to remain constant. The consumer is helpless. He finds a regular army of middlemen standing between him and the producer, and is forced to pay substantially more for his vegetables than the citizen pays in London or even in Belfast. The discrepancy between retail prices in Dublin and Belfast is one of the mysteries of our times; hitherto all attempts to explain it have failed.

The Radio Exhibition.

The National Radio Exhibition, which opened in London yesterday, forms a landmark in the history of broadcasting in these islands. Ten years ago the British Broadcasting Company came into tiny existence. During the decade it has advanced until to-day, under State direction and the title of the British Broadcasting Corporation, it is one of the largest concerns of its kind in the world. Ten years ago, when the first station began its tentative nightly programmes, there were few people to listen to them. Daring experimenters, equipped with vast, clumsy receiving sets that filled nearly the whole wall of a room, twisted incessant knobs, played tricks with a labyrinth of wires, and thought themselves well repaid when a few faint bursts of melody struck their adventurous ears. To-day the thrill of adventure is lacking; sets have shrunken to a compact and efficient orderliness, and the five-year-old child, at its fancy, can move a single knob and can be greeted by full and undistorted strains from any and every station between Berlin and Belfast. We are too ready in these days to greet every fresh achievement of science as a wonder; yet the discovery and progress of wireless broadcasting within a surprisingly short space of time is an enterprise of which the human mind may well be proud. If television, as yet in its infant stages, advances to maturity with the speed of wireless telegraphy, the combination of the two will be of sufficient importance to mark an epoch in history. Men of science foretell a future when most of the world's operations will be conducted by means of wireless rays. When that time arrives, broadcasting and television will have become, perhaps, the normal method of communication.

MR. MACDONALD'S "HOLIDAY."

LONG HOURS OF WORK.

Mr. Ramsay Macdonald's "holiday" at Lossiemouth is being spent in working days which extend from daylight to darkness. His staff are spending the busiest time they have had during vacations at Hillocks. Pressure has increased, and yesterday, after a game of golf, Mr. Macdonald was engaged on work in connection with the Ottawa Conference. He is also keeping in close touch with the developments of the dispute in the Lancashire cotton trade.

Sir Herbert Samuel, who is the guest of Professor and Mrs. Collis at Tower House, has not yet called upon the Prime Minister.

NEWFOUNDLAND'S GOVERNOR

RELINQUISHES HIS POST.

The Dominions Office issues the following announcement:—

"Sir John Middleton, K.C.M.G., K.B.E., has applied for permission to relinquish, for private reasons, his appointment as Governor and Commander-in-Chief of Newfoundland, and His Majesty the King has been pleased to accede to his request. Sir John Middleton will leave Newfoundland in November on a month's leave prior to retirement."

Sir John Middleton was appointed to the Newfoundland Office in June, 1928. From 1920 to 1927 he was Governor and Commander-in-Chief of the Falkland Islands. For many years he administered the Government in Mauritius, where he held the appointment of Colonial Secretary. Before he took up his present appointment he had been Governor and Commander-in-Chief of Gambia.

COURT AND PERSONAL.

The King and Queen will leave London to-day for Yorkshire, and will travel by train to Harrogate, where they will be met by the Earl of Harewood. Their Majesties' grandson, the Hon. Gerald Lascelles, will celebrate his eighth birthday to-morrow, which is also the birthday of Princess Margaret Rose, the younger daughter of the Duke and Duchess of York.

The King and Queen will attend the Braemar Gathering, which, owing to the mourning for the late Princess Royal, was not held last year.

The Prince of Wales and Prince George were the guests of the Governor of Malta at an official dinner at the San Antonio Palace last night.

The Duke and Duchess of York, with the two little Princesses, are expected to arrive at Birkhall House, Balmoral, to-day.

The Sultan of Brunei has arrived at Plymouth. Brunei is one of the unfederated Malay States, and the Sultan, who is only nineteen years of age, has come to England to continue his education.

The Marquess and Marchioness Douro have arrived at Craigendinnie, Aboyne, from Strathfieldsaye. Lady Alwyne Compton-Vyner has started on a cruise to the Mediterranean. Lord Charles Hope and his nephews, the Earl of Hopetoun and Lord John Hope, have arrived at St. Andrew's for the tennis meeting.

There has been a steady exodus North during the past ten days. All the houses near Balmoral are occupied. Sir Clive and Lady Wigram are in residence at Craigengowan. Earl and Countess Peel have taken the shooting at Brawlen Lodge, near Beauly, for the season. Lord and Lady Sands will spend some time at Uppat House, Sunderland, which they are renting during Viscount and Viscountess Chaplin's absence in Canada.

The Marquess of Dufferin and Ava will preside at the dinner which will be held at the Hotel Victoria, in the autumn, in aid of Queen Mary's Hospital for the East End.

A marriage has been arranged, and will take place on 1st October, 1932, at Shillong, between Gerald Pakenham Stewart, I.C.S., only son of Pakenham Thomas Stewart, B.A., F.S.I., of 14 Appian Way, Dublin, and Elisabeth, elder daughter of W. L. Scott, C.I.E., I.C.S., of Shillong, Assam (and Christchurch, New Zealand).

The marriage arranged between Hugo Joseph Gibson and Nora Driscoll Brooks will take place quietly late in September at Zion Church, Rathgar.

Dr. W. G. Myers, 22 Harrington street, has left town for one month.

C. D. Cassidy, Surgeon Dentist, has changed his address to 19 Westland row.

Miss Gertrude Hill has left 2 Charleston road, Rathmines, until September 5th.

THE KING AND QUEEN GOING NORTH.

VISIT TO HAREWOOD HOUSE.

Arrangements are complete for to-day's reception of the King and Queen at Harewood House, the Yorkshire residence of the Princess Royal and the Earl of Harewood. Their Majesties are to pay a week-end visit to Harewood House on their way to Scotland, breaking the journey north on Saturday evening at Harrogate, and resuming it early on Monday morning. Sunday is the eighth birthday anniversary of the Hon. Gerald Lascelles, the Princess Royal's younger son.

The King and Queen will attend the Sunday morning Service at Harewood Parish Church, which is within the grounds of Harewood House, and later in the day the King will plant a tree in the park, in accordance with the custom established by King Edward to commemorate Royal visits.

MR. WILLIAM NORTON IN LONDON.

VISIT NOT POLITICAL.

Mr. William Norton, leader of the Irish Free State Labour Party, arrived in London last night.

"There is no political significance in my visit," he told a reporter. "I am staying in London until Sunday morning, when I shall leave for Switzerland to attend the International Postal Conference at Lucerne."

He added: "I do not suppose I shall see any of the English Labour leaders while I am in London. I may try to see Sir Stafford Cripps on Saturday if he is available, but I have not come over here to talk politics."

LONDON LETTER.

THE TWICKENHAM BY-ELECTION.

59 FLEET STREET, LONDON,
FRIDAY NIGHT.

Twickenham's choice of a Conservative candidate has fallen on Mr. Murray Philipson, a nephew of Viscount Elibank. Most of the three score aspirants to represent this constituency in Parliament gradually dropped out of the list as they began to realise the remoteness of their chance of selection. Several of those left in the running, however, were, and still are, convinced of their claims to the seat. Mr. Philipson's selection was not unanimous, and there is a possibility that an Independent Conservative will stand against him at the election. Such a split would give Labour its opportunity, and the party is working hard and enthusiastically in the hope of adding another victory to those at Wakefield and Wednesbury. Liberals did not send a man to the poll at the general election last year, but they have one in the field for this occasion. The Independent Labour Party has been considering the contesting of the seat, but is afraid that it might have to forfeit the deposit.

The Session.

Mr. Lansbury, having returned from his Cornish holiday, soon will set in train his party's demand for an earlier resumption of the parliamentary session. The resumption at present is fixed for October 27th. The Labour Party seeks to curtail the recess by at least a fortnight in order to discuss a variety of subjects, conspicuous among which is the increase of unemployment. Mr. Macdonald is not likely to accede to Mr. Lansbury's request, though he may deem it expedient to cut short the holiday for purely Government business. There is still the possibility that a supplementary Budget will be introduced, but, so far as that is concerned, it may be left over for the new session of Parliament, which will begin about the end of November. The remainder of the present session will be absorbed by the accumulation of public business left half-finished last July.

Palestine to Baghdad.

Europeans employed in Iraq, and the casual travellers found in that part of the world, will benefit greatly by the new air service which will come into operation next month between Palestine and Baghdad. At present this stage is done by motor car, and it occupies two days spent in considerable discomfort. By air the journey will take only seven or eight hours, and the cost will be much less than by car. Imperial Airways will employ on this service an eight-seater Avro three-engined monoplane.

The extension of the London-Karachi air mail service to Singapore and Australia still is being considered, but arrangements have just been completed to extend the service by means of a connection from Karachi to Madras. Letters thus will be flown the diagonal length of India in just one-fifth of the time now taken by surface transport. The three intermediate stopping places include Bombay, and, according to the time-table, letters carried by the machine leaving Croydon on Saturday would be delivered at Bombay on the following Saturday afternoon and at Madras on Sunday morning.

The M.C.C. Team.

With the selection of T. B. Mitchell, of Derbyshire, for sixteenth place, the M.C.C. team to visit Australia is complete. Taken as a whole, it is acknowledged to be a strong side that ought to justify its choice. When these teams are picked there is always criticism concerning personnel chosen or omitted. On this occasion the Selection Committee has tried to meet the view, often expressed in connection with previous tours, that younger players should figure more largely in the programme. The average age of the present team is much lower than usual. A criticism of the team is the presence of too many amateurs, but no one can question that every man has earned a place in it.

Buckfast's Disappointment.

There has been an unfortunate dilemma in connection with the new Buckfast Abbey, the consecration of which will be performed by Cardinal Bourne towards the end of the month. A masterpiece of German goldsmiths' art, an altar piece of pure gold and silver, set with precious stones, and ordered two or three years ago for the Abbey, has been refused admission to this country until the ad valorem duty on it has been paid at the full rate. This may be assessed at anything from £600 to £1,600, and until the money is forthcoming the work will have to remain at Aix-la-Chapelle, where it was executed. The donor of this altar piece, formerly a resident in one of the London suburbs, died soon after the order was placed, but not before the purchase money was paid over. No doubt, he would have met the duty; but his executors will not be at liberty to meet it for some considerable time, if at all.

Sheep-Dipping.

Sheep-dipping has started, and in the course of the next week or so every sheep in Great Britain will have been treated, while at least a quarter of a million will have been rounded up from the Welsh hills to undergo the same process. The dipping season comes once a year, but in certain districts, troubled by sheep scab, the operation may be carried out twice. The dip in most cases is a V-shaped trench in which the animals are dipped, not always without a struggle, and through it they flounder until they reach the other end. By that time it is calculated that they have absorbed sufficient of the disinfectant solution to be set up for the year. The immersion lasts a little more than a minute.

The Manhattan.

The new American liner, Manhattan, has completed her maiden voyage from New York to Hamburg. This 25,000-ton vessel is said to be the biggest steamer yet built in America, and, together with her sister ship, the Washington, which will be ready to take the water next May, will offer serious competition in the North Atlantic trade. They will ply between New York and Hamburg via Queenstown, Plymouth and Havre on the eastward voyage, and Havre, Southampton and Queenstown westwards. A novelty on the Manhattan's voyage was the employment of Chinese waitresses in the great saloon. Though they looked the real thing, they were actually 100 per cent. American, since all of them were born in New York.

Mangoes for Britain.

London is a great market for much of the world's produce, but Egyptian mangoes have not yet been sold here. This deficiency is being made good. A telegram from Cairo announces that the Egyptian Department of Commerce has despatched a consignment as a trial to ascertain whether regular shipments would be possible. Indian mangoes, which were introduced to this country in commercial quantities this year, have met with a ready sale, and, if the fruit arrives in good condition, and makes an appeal to the British palate, further consignments will be despatched. The experimental shipment from Egypt is expected to arrive at Covent Garden next week, and will be submitted to expert examination with regard to its condition and the manner in which it has withstood the journey.

BETTER FEELING AT OTTAWA.

THE ANGLO-IRISH OBJECT.

AN "AGREEMENT TO AGREE."

TARIFFS MAY GO, AS FIRST STEP.

By Our Political Correspondent.

THE rumours which have been current in Dublin this week as to an imminent resumption of negotiations in connection with the dispute with Great Britain received last night a certain amount of corroboration in the news from Ottawa.

The impression in political circles in Dublin is that the British Government is willing to discuss the situation if it receives a satisfactory assurance as to the future policy of the Free State towards the Commonwealth of Nations.

NO AGREEMENT AT PRESENT.

It is now unlikely that any agreement will be reached at Ottawa regarding the Anglo-Irish toubles, Mr. Sean T. O'Kelly, Vice-President of the Free State Executive Council, told Reuter yesterday.

He thought that the way had been paved for agreement later.

There was a further rumour, based on information from London, that such assurance would be forthcoming.

In the event of a resumption of negotiations it is assumed that the tariffs on both sides would be suspended, to permit the uninterrupted flow of trade in a normal way.

With regard to the disposal of the land annuities now held in the suspense account, no doubt an agreed arrangement would be reached.

There was no meeting of the Executive Council last night, but several of the Ministers were in their offices to a late hour.

According to present arrangements, the Free State delegates will leave Ottawa on Wednesday next, and will arrive in Dublin about that day week.

THE CONVERSATIONS.

HOPEFUL IRISH VIEW.

From the Press Association Special Correspondent.

OTTAWA, Friday.

The conversations between Mr. J. H. Thomas and Mr. Sean T. O'Kelly, the head of the Irish Free State delegation at the Imperial Economic Conference, according to information gained in Irish quarters, have been directed towards what is termed "an agreement to agree," to be followed almost immediately by the removal, both by the United Kingdom and the Irish Free State, of the recent militant Customs tariffs. The two Governments, it is asserted, will then proceed in the improved resultant atmosphere to work out the personnel of a tribunal to consider the question of the land annuities.

President de Valera, when approached by the Press Association last night, would make no comment on the report from Ottawa in regard to the "agreement to agree."

RETURN OF MR. JOSEPH BRENNAN.

Mr. Joseph Brennan, a member of the Irish Free State delegation to the Ottawa Conference, arrived at Southampton yesterday on the White Star liner Olympic. He refused to make any statement, and he left for London.

"SUCCESS OF OTTAWA CERTAIN."

MR. THOMAS'S STATEMENT.

Mr. J. H. Thomas, the Dominions Secretary, in a broadcast message from Ottawa to the Radio Exhibition, which opened to-day in London, declared:—"To-morrow we shall be signing agreements, which we hope and believe will bind Great Britain still more closely with the Dominions and Colonies overseas.

"During these hours we are setting the seal of the success of our Conference, which I will now say is certain. This, I know, will be good news to every citizen of the old country."

IRISH FREE STATE NOT INCLUDED.

DOMINIONS' AGREEMENTS INITIALLED.

From "The Times" Correspondent.

OTTAWA, Friday.

Agreements between Great Britain and all the Dominions, except the Irish Free State, were initialled to-day. They will be formally proved at the final plenary session of the Imperial Economic Conference, which is to be held to-morrow morning.

There will, of course, emerge from the Conference no commercial agreement between the United Kingdom and the Irish Free State, but the Free State delegation still hopes that it will be possible to conclude trade arrangements with certain other Dominions, and may remain at Ottawa next week for this purpose.

DAMAGE OVER £70,000.

MANSION GOES UP IN FLAMES.

ART COLLECTION DESTROYED.

From Our Own Correspondent.

WATERFORD, Friday.

DAMAGE, estimated at between £70,000 and £80,000, was caused by a fire which gutted the residence of Captain Bloomfield, Newpark, near Waterford, early this morning. The mansion was one of the most beautiful and historic in the South of Ireland.

The fire, which is supposed to have had its origin in the fusing of electric wires in the upper part of the house, was discovered by Captain Bloomfield's son about 1 a.m., when he was awakened by smoke and the crackling of flames.

He saw smoke issuing from some upper rooms, and promptly alarmed the household and telephoned to the Waterford Fire Brigade.

Pending the arrival of the brigade, members of the household, reinforced by neighbours, endeavoured to check the flames, which by this time had gained a considerable hold on the building.

The fire brigade, with several Civic Guards, arrived shortly after 2 o'clock, but owing to the inadequacy of the water supply there was no hope of saving the building, which is somewhat remote from the nearest water mains.

Two house tanks yielded a couple of thousand gallons of water, which was speedily exhausted. All that could be done was to let the fire burn itself out.

Only a small portion of the valuable furniture and effects were saved. A great portion of the art collection was destroyed, the loss comprising an original painting by Greuze and an Adams fireplace, both of which were insured for £6,000.

Captain Bloomfield is a well-known collector of objects of art and vertu, and the fame of his collection had attracted Sir Joseph Duveen and other connoisseurs to Newpark to inspect it.

Much sympathy is felt locally for Captain Bloomfield and his family in their great loss.

SOME OF THE TREASURES.

The destroyed mansion was formerly occupied by the late Sir John Newport. It was a structure of the Georgian type. A Waterford building contractor estimates that it would cost £20,000 to replace it.

The contents and heirlooms, as recorded in July, 1921, for insurance purposes, were valued at £10,000.

The heirlooms include an inlaid gold box given by Maria Theresa (Empress of the French), inscription inside, "To Caldwell." There is also a diamond ring, with miniature of her and her husband, which was kept in a box. There is a miniature of Mrs. Commerwell (Captain Bloomfield's grandmother), by Boch.

Other art treasures include the pictures, "St. Peter's Head," by Rembrandt; "Boy's Head," by Greuze; "Dutch Interior," by Otade; "Virgin and Child," on copper, by Perigino; "A Laughing Boy," by Murillo; portrait of Mrs. Ives, by Bathy Queen; Anne chest of drawers, old silver cream jug, embossed.

The last-mentioned antique was nearly in every Court in Europe with two late Lord Bloomfields while in diplomatic service, and it also travelled to India with Captain Bloomfield's father.

Several of these valuables were saved.

ECHO OF HATRY CASE.

HUGE PARENT TRUST LOSSES.

A loss of £3,000,000 through the Hatry collapse was referred to at the statutory meetings of the creditors and shareholders of the Parent Trust and Finance Company, Ltd., of Grand Buildings, Trafalgar square, London, held yesterday, before Mr. J. Barwick Thompson, official receiver. The winding-up order was made last month on the company's own petition.

Mr. Thompson said the accounts submitted to the annual general meeting in January showed a loss of £4,689,278, due in respect of approximately £3,000,000 to transactions relating to guarantees and loans made to the Hatry group of companies.

The balance of the loss was stated to be represented by depreciation in the investments.

RIFTS IN THE LUTE.

The activities of the reconstructed board, with the good-will of the consortium of creditors, met with a certain measure of success, but in recent months there were certain rifts in the lute and dissensions between members of the board.

It was then decided that the moratorium should not be continued, and that each creditor should have liberty of action.

A provisional statement of affairs showed, as at the date of the winding-up order, total liabilities of £5,298,299, of which £2,166,053 were expected to rank for dividend against assets valued at £869,192.

The deficiency with regard to creditors' claims was £1,296,892. The share capital of £2,340,641 had been lost, making a total deficiency of over £3,600,000.

Mr. Thompson said that he purposely refrained from expressing any opinion as to the causes which had brought about the failure of the company. They must await the report of the official receiver.

LIQUIDATOR APPOINTED.

He mentioned that Sir Arthur Du Cros, who was managing director from 1896 to 1923, and chairman from 1919 to July, 1930, was not present at the meeting, but had sent a medical certificate saying that he was unwell and unable to attend.

Mr. Thompson put forward the name of Mr. Rusell Kettle, who had already been appointed special manager, as liquidator, and this was unanimously agreed to.

At a subsequent meeting of shareholders there was a unanimous vote in favour of the appointment of Mr. Russell Kettle as liquidator.

DAN MALONE NOT TO BE DEPORTED.

DECISION BY MINISTER OF IMMIGRATION.

From Reuter's Correspondent.

OTTAWA, Friday.

The young Irishman, Dan Malone, who leapt into the limelight a fortnight ago in connection with an alleged plot on the life of Mr. J. H. Thomas, is not to be deported. In announcing the decision, the Minister of Immigration, Mr. W. A. Gordon, said that the case had been dealt with solely in relation to the Immigration Act, and on that basis it was not intended to enforce deportation.

No specific charge was brought against Malone of plotting to murder Mr. Thomas, though he was detained under the Vagrancy Act, and on that ground it was earlier stated that he was to be deported.

RETURN OF MR. DAN BREEN

Mr. Dan Breen, Fianna Fail T.D. for Tipperary, arrived at Cork Harbour last evening on the North German Lloyd liner [illegible] from New York.

MR. MOLLISON'S THIRTY HOURS' SOLO FLIGHT.

PERFECT LANDING NEAR UNITED STATES BORDER.

CLOUDS AND HEAVY MIST DURING LAST 18 HOURS.

HIS WIFE MAY GO TO NEW YORK BY LINER.

MR. J. A. MOLLISON'S flight from Portmarnock to Pennfield Ridge, New Brunswick, a few miles from the United States border, is the first solo Atlantic crossing from East to West.

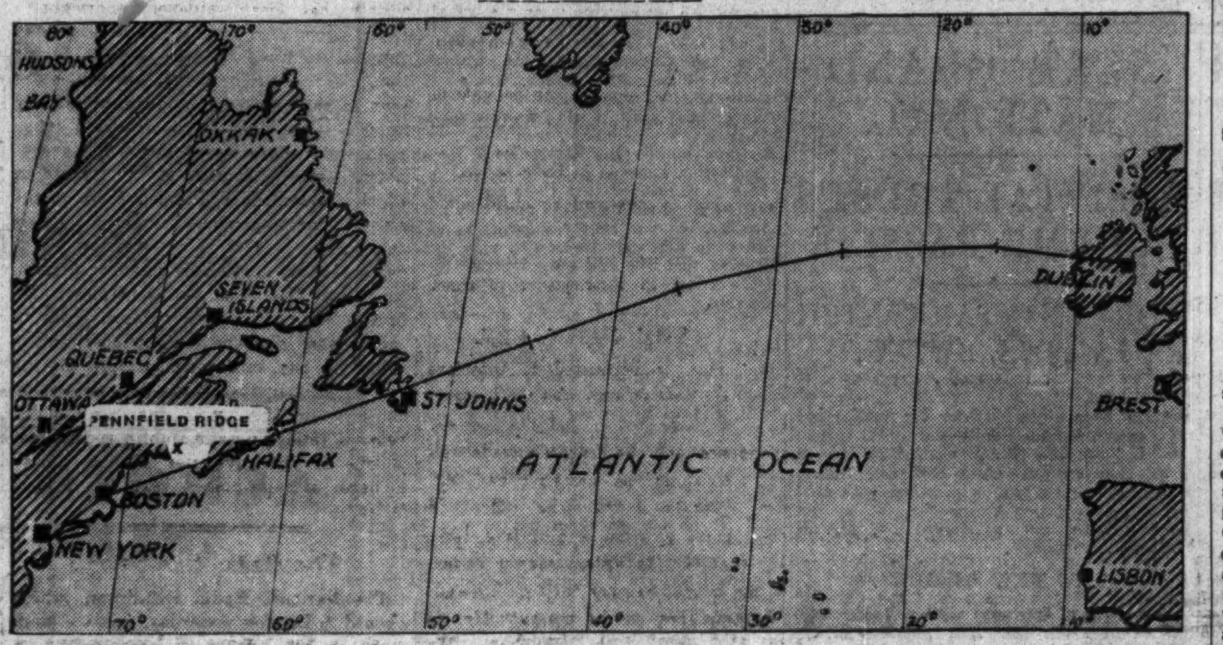
Mr. Mollison made a perfect landing in his 120 h.p. Puss Moth monoplane, after a flight which had occupied 30 hours 15 minutes, and in which he covered a distance of, approximately, 2,526 miles, at a mean speed of 83½ miles per hour.

During the last eighteen hours of his flight he encountered heavy clouds and dense mist. He was over Halifax, Nova Scotia—a distance of, approximately, 2,500 miles—in a little over twenty-four hours, and, keeping to the circuitous route along the coast, spent six hours in covering a straight distance of a little over one hundred miles.

Mr. Mollison was very tired when he landed, and had only a comparatively small quantity of petrol left.

He intends to fly to New York to-day, where he will await the arrival of his wife, who, according to a New Brunswick message, is leaving England by liner this morning. After her arrival he will attempt the return flight. A London message states that Mrs. Mollison has not definitely decided to go to New York to-day, and that she will speak to her husband on the telephone this morning before reaching a decision.

A message received early this morning states that Mr. Mollison will resume his journey to New York at 4 p.m. (British time) to-day.



PLANS FOR THE RETURN FLIGHT.

From Reuter's Correspondent.

ST. JOHN (NEW BRUNSWICK), Friday.

A BRITISH airman in a British light 'plane has made the first solo flight across the Atlantic from East to West. One of the greatest feats in the history of aviation has thus been accomplished by Mr. J. A. Mollison, the intrepid British airman, flying his silver-grey British-built monoplane, The Heart's Content, who has also achieved the distinction of making the first crossing of the Atlantic in a light aeroplane.

Mr. Mollison took off on his epic flight from Portmarnock Beach, County Dublin, at 11.35 a.m. yesterday, and landed at 11.45 a.m. Eastern Standard Time (5.45 p.m. British Summer Time) to-day at Pennfield Ridge, New Brunswick, which is about 55 miles from St. John.

All through yesterday's heat and through the night he flew steadily westward across the Atlantic at an average speed of a hundred miles an hour. Passing liners heard the drone of his engine as he flew overhead during the night, but he was first sighted from land when at 5.45 Eastern Standard Time (11.45 a.m. British Summer Time) his silver-grey Moth 'plane circled over Halifax.

The actual time of his crossing from Dublin to Halifax was, therefore, 24 hours 10 minutes. The distance from Portmarnock to Halifax is about 2,500 miles, so that he has accomplished a magnificent first lap for his there and back flight.

THE FLIGHT.

11.45 a.m., Thursday—Left Portmarnock.

5.45 p.m., Friday—Landed Pennfield Ridge, New Brunswick.

TOO TIRED TO CONTINUE.

Mr. Mollison, who made a perfect landing at Pennfield Ridge, said he had plenty of petrol, but was too tired to continue. "I am too tired to go on," he told the crowd of surprised citizens who ran to greet him.

"I passed Harbour Grace, Halifax and St. John this morning, and hoped to get to New York, but when I got this far I was so tired that I just could not go on. During the last eighteen hours the weather has been unfavourable, and I have been flying through clouds and heavy mist."

It is believed that Mr. Mollison must have lost his bearings in the fog which lay along the coast and in the neighbourhood of St. John. He was sighted over St. John, which is only a hundred miles away from Halifax, at 11.25 a.m. (Eastern Standard Time), so that he had taken nearly six hours to cover the intervening hundred miles.

MESSAGE TO HIS WIFE.

Mr. Mollison's first request before reaching a farmhouse at Pennfield Ridge, where he is resting, was that his wife should be notified immediately. He seemed to be much more concerned about her anxiety over his flight than about his own fatigue.

Mr. Mollison looked haggard and worn after his long ordeal of thirty hours at the controls when he crept out of the cockpit of his tiny aeroplane to meet the crowd of excited farmers and fishermen flocking from the little village nearby. He asked that the news to his wife should be telephoned on one of the village's six telephones to St. John, to be relayed to London, and then he accompanied one of the farmers to his home near by.

His original plan was not only to be the first airman to cross the Atlantic in both directions, but also to set up a record which others would find it difficult to beat by crossing and re-crossing it in a little over four days.

He has now accomplished the most difficult part of his flight—the east to west crossing. This has never before been made by a solo flyer, and has only been flown three times before. On the return journey he will have the help of the prevailing winds which blow from west to east.

In his flight he cut out his proposed stop at Harbour Grace, where a large crowd awaited his arrival from long before dawn.

500 MILES TO NEW YORK.

The next stage of his journey is the lap of some five hundred miles from St. John to New York.

The greatest excitement prevails in America over his spectacular flight, which has touched the American imagination as no flight since Lindbergh's has done.

Mr. Mollison smiled broadly when told that news of his success had been rushed to London. He laughed happily when told that his wife had said: "I am sure it is Jim," when he was reported over Halifax six hours before, and he remarked with a chuckle: "She was always sure I'd find it easy."

Referring to his slowness in covering the distance between Halifax and St. John, Mr. Mollison said: "The mist was heavy over the bay, and I just groped along. I wanted to get to New York, as I planned. I could have made that easily with the fuel I had, but the trouble of weaving my way through the low clouds and heavy mist tired me out. I just could not go on."

Apparently Mr. Mollison tried to follow the circuitous coast of the Bay of Fundy, which swings back north from Halifax and then south-westwards, with St. John and Pennfield Ridge on the opposite shore. Mr. Mollison states that after a brief rest he expects to go to St. John.

SCOTS WHA HAE!

Owing to a misapprehension as to Mr. Mollison's nationality, the New York Mayor's Reception Committee at Roosevelt Field Air Port flew the Irish Free State flag from their car.

"England's Lindbergh" is the title given by the New York evening papers to Mr. Mollison. Eager crowds are buying up the latest editions, which contain full details of Mr. Mollison's flight.

A crowd of several thousand people are already awaiting him at Roosevelt Field air port, while experts from the De Havilland factory at Toronto are waiting to overhaul his aeroplane and engine in quick time.

A special police escort is waiting ready to conduct the flyer with screaming syrens through the streets of New York, where he is sure of a triumphant reception.

A FEW DAYS' REST.

Mr. Mollison now expects to start for New York to-morrow, and to make his return "hop" from there after a few days' rest. Mr. Mollison was delighted when told of his wife's joy in his success, and declared: "I am glad I justified her confidence in me." After arranging for the despatch of further messages to his wife the worn and weary flyer accepted a cup of tea from his farmer host, but refused solid food, fearing the possible effects after a long fast. During his flight he only ate barley sugar, washed down with a few nips of brandy. After he had a little rest and refreshment the intrepid flyer arranged for his 'plane to be covered with a tarpaulin for the night.

He found that he had about ten gallons remaining in his fuel tanks, which he reckoned would have sufficed to carry him to New York if exhaustion had not overcome him.

He drove in this afternoon to St. John from Pennfield Ridge, and will stay here overnight while his 'plane is overhauled by the Superintendent of the St. John Aerodrome, who has already driven out to Pennfield Ridge.

Mr. Mollison intends to rise early to-morrow to make the preparations for his final "hop" to New York.

TO AWAIT MRS. MOLLISON.

In a conversation by trans-Atlantic telephone with his wife to-night Mr. Mollison was told that she would leave to-morrow for New York and would meet him there.

Mr. Mollison will, therefore, wait for his wife before attempting the return flight across the Atlantic.

STOLEN BANK NOTES

PRESENTED AT A DUBLIN BANK.

ECHO OF TIPPERARY RAID.

BANK NOTES stolen from Tipperary Post Office last year, when armed robbers decamped with the sum of £2,500, came to light again when they were presented for lodgment in a Dublin bank this week. The bank at once notified the Detective Branch of the Dublin Metropolitan Guards.

Inquiries in this case have been continued by the police authorities since the date of the crime, and the numbers of the stolen notes had been circulated to all the banks and post offices in the country. The thieves, however, proved themselves very cautious, and nearly a year was permitted to elapse before they ventured to put any of the notes into circulation.

A few days ago the stolen notes were presented to a Dublin bank by city merchants, who had received them in the ordinary course of their business.

The detectives at once renewed their inquiries. It is understood, however, that an early arrest is not expected, as many lines of inquiry have to be pursued.

FORGED LETTER OF CREDIT.

HOW DUBLIN BANK WAS DEFRAUDED.

A record case which is engaging the attention of the Dublin detectives is the defrauding of the Royal Bank of Ireland of the sum of £2,000 by means of a forged letter of credit. This coup was brought off some months ago by two well-dressed strangers who were staying at one of the leading hotels in the city. Their identity has since been established through the medium of Scotland Yard. The English police authorities state that these men are well-known on the Continent.

One of the members of the Dublin Detective Force almost captured the two men before they left the country, but they escaped to Northern Ireland and got away in a boat to Stranraer before the Royal Ulster Constabulary could circulate their descriptions. From Scotland, the English police, who took up the scent, traced the men to Harwich, and from thence to the Hook of Holland, where all trace of them was lost.

"FROM THE TIMES."

(BY SPECIAL ARRANGEMENT.)

AGREEMENT AT OTTAWA.

The Times in an editorial to-day states:—The trade and tariffs agreement between Great Britain and Canada was initialled yesterday. The difficulties which had caused delay, some of them inherent in the circumstances of the two countries, but some artificially fomented by mischief-makers outside the Conference, have been overcome by the determination of the two Governments to achieve a settlement. As agreements had already been reached by Great Britain with the other Dominions and with India, as well as between some of the Dominions among themselves, and between the Dominions and the Colonies, the success of the Ottawa Conference is now not only assured; it is an accomplished fact. The final plenary session will be held this morning when the agreements will be signed, and some of their contents disclosed.

Probably the full details cannot be divulged until the delegates have returned to their own countries, and the necessary legislation is introduced in the different Empire Parliaments. It is already known, however, that the settlement is along the lines indicated both by Mr. Baldwin and by Mr. Bennett in their speeches at the opening session not quite a month ago.

Mr. Baldwin placed before the Conference, as its general objective, the expansion of Empire trade, to be brought about, as far as possible, by lowering the trade barriers between the several members of the Empire, adds The Times. The messages from Our Special Correspondent leave no doubt that this general objective has been attained, and that, to quote the phrase used by Mr. Thomas in the House of Commons before leaving for Ottawa, the result of the Conference will be to provide more trade and freer trade throughout the Empire, as a step towards more trade and freer trade throughout the world. During the past few days some have shown irritation over what seemed to them vexatious and unnecessary delays. To anyone who realises the immensity and the complexity of the task the delegates had set themselves and the strength of the obstacles which blocked the way, it must seem a miracle that the delays were so few. In less than a month's work the Conference has stopped the drift towards the economic isolation of the different units of the Empire, and has secured the general adoption of policies of economic co-operation.

DUNDALK STRIKE NOT SETTLED.

LAST MINUTE HITCH IN NEGOTIATIONS.

At a mass meeting of the Dundalk railway shopmen who are on strike, in St. Patrick's Hall, Dundalk, yesterday, Mr. John O'Byrne, Chairman of the Council of Action, presided, and officials of the various railway unions were present.

A full report of the latest developments which had resulted from the intervention of the Urban District Council was given, and the suggested settlement, the proposals for which were that all the men would resume work on Monday, 22nd, on the basis of 47 hours for a full week, and thereafter disemployment to operate on a basis of two weeks in seven.

These proposals were put to the meeting and endorsed by a substantial majority.

The Council of Action was instructed to communicate its decision to the Great Northern Railway Company.

SMALL POINT AT ISSUE.

Later in the evening it was announced that a hitch had arisen, and a conference was held in the Town Hall between the members of the Urban Council, headed by the chairman (Mr. James Coburn, T.D.) and the representatives of the men. This conference sat till late in the evening, and it was stated by one of the urban councillors that it was unlikely a settlement would be reached that day.

One of the men's representatives told our representative that the point at issue was a small one, and he hoped that it would be overcome on Saturday.

The Dundalk Urban Council deputation will come to Dublin this morning to see the General Manager of the railway company, and a mass meeting of the men will be held at 2.30 o'clock in St. Patrick's Hall, at which the latest developments will be considered.

TO-DAY'S GREAT RACE.

32 STARTERS IN THE "T.T."

ONLY TWO FOREIGN ENTRANTS.

A POWERFUL ALFA-ROMEO PAIR.

By Our Special Correspondent.

THE stage is now set for the fifth of the International Tourist Trophy Races in Ireland. Although we are inclined to forget the fact, the Tourist Trophy race was quite an old event before the happy thought occurred to the Royal Automobile Club to hold the race in Ireland.

The race was transferred from the Isle of Man to Ireland in 1928, and has been held over the Ards Circuit every year since that date. How long we shall be able to induce the Royal Automobile Club to hold it in Ireland is a question many are asking themselves just now. On that point, it will suffice to make one observation: we are happier with regard to the future of the race to-day than we were a year ago.

FEWER ENTRIES.

It is not the determined efforts of the Isle of Man that we have to fear. It is the possibility that the world's commercial depression will cause the motor trade to arrive at the conclusion that the racing game is too expensive a form of advertising to be pursued in these hard times. Many have already arrived at that conclusion. There are but two foreign entrants in to-day's race and thirty-two home entrants. That is a sad falling off compared with the race of former years.

We may console ourselves with the thought that what the entry lacks in quantity it makes up in quality, and the further reflection that the fewer cars there are in a race, the easier is it for the spectators to follow the event intelligently. That is true, of course, but many of us fear that the small entry portends the "writing on the wall."

A FIELD OF 32 CARS.

There will be a field of thirty-two cars. The officially-entered Alfa Romeo will not take part in the race, and the famous make of Italian car—the most famous racing marque of the post-war racing period—will rely on the Earl Howe and Sir Henry Birkin, Bart., to maintain its prestige. The other absentees will be one of the nine works-entered Riley cars (one of the two six-cylindered models of that make in the race), and a M.G. Midget, entered by a well-known English sportsman, Mr. G. F. A. Manby-Colegrave

Yesterday the cars were officially scrutinised by the technical officials of the Royal Automobile Club, to see that their details agreed with their declared specifications. After being examined, the drivers were free to take the cars away to the various garages in the city in which the final touches were being given to them.

THE "SCRATCHMEN."

On another page of this issue will be found a complete list, corrected up to last evening, of the cars, their entrants, drivers and engine sizes. From this list it will be seen there are four Talbots and two Alfa-Romeos in the two thousand to three thousand cubic centimetres class. The Italian cars are supercharged; the English are not. Consequently, the Alfa-Romeos, which are the "scratchmen" in the handicap, will give the Talbots one credit lap and two minutes thirty seconds start. The Alfa-Romeo pair are really "virtual scratchmen," as they have two and a half minutes' start from the bigger capacity cars on which the handicap is based. In the 1,100 c.c. to 1,500 c.c. class the six cars are equally divided between supercharged and unsupercharged models, the latter receiving two laps and five minutes thirty seconds start, and the supercharged cars one lap and six minutes fifty seconds start. In the over 750 and up to 1,100 c.c. class there are seven Riley cars, three Crossley cars and a single Alta.

All of them are unsupercharged, and their handicap is three laps and seven minutes six seconds. The under 750 c.c. class is made up altogether of M.G. Midgets, all of them supercharged, and their start will be four laps and three minutes fifty-two seconds.

START AND FINISH.

What is virtually a mass start will be employed. Each group of cars having the same handicap will be sent away together, and all of the thirty-two cars will be under weigh inside five minutes and six seconds of 11 o'clock. Thus, although all cars, save the Alfa-Romeos, have less than the full distance to cover, by means of the system of credit laps, they will be under weigh at about the same time, and the first car to "pass the post" will be the winner, the first of the cars receiving, say, three credit laps being regarded as having four laps done when it completes the first circuit.

The race will start at 11 o'clock, and if none of the cars exceed their estimated speed and all of them reach it, the field of thirty-two cars should pass the finishing line abreast at 4.30 o'clock.

Belfast's enthusiasm continues to rise. Yesterday boats and trains brought thousands of visitors to the city, and the road carried an even greater number. The streets were crowded with cars bearing identification numbers and international marks of many countries.

M.C.C. CRICKET TEAM.

FINAL SELECTION FOR AUSTRALIAN TOUR.

The M.C.C. team for the Australian tour has been completed by the inclusion of Mitchell, the Derbyshire spin bowler.

He is the one surprise selection; for although he has played in Test trials, he was never really considered as a likely selection. Mitchell has taken over 100 wickets this season.

The full team of 16 is as follows:—

D. R. Jardine (Surrey), captain; F. R. Brown (Surrey), K. S. Duleepsinghi (Sussex), Nawab of Pataudi (Worcestershire), R. E. S. Wyatt (Warwickshire), G. O. Allen (Middlesex), Sutcliffe, Leyland, Verity (Yorkshire), Larwood, Voce (Notts), Hammond (Gloucester), Tate (Sussex), Ames (Kent), Duckworth (Lancashire), Mitchell (Derbyshire).

ANGLO-CANADIAN AGREEMENT.

COMPLETION IN SIGHT.

BRITAIN CONCEDES POINTS.

CATTLE EXPORTS AND IRISH STATUS.

From Reuter's Correspondent.

OTTAWA, Friday.

WITH only one more day to go, events at the Imperial Economic Conference moved rapidly to-day, and the finishing touches were put to the agreements that have been concluded during the long negotiations.

The United Kingdom delegation was very busy this morning signing its agreements with India, South Africa and Newfoundland, and preparing for the signature of its agreements with Southern Rhodesia, Australia and New Zealand, which are virtually complete, apart from a few minor details.

Conversations between the United Kingdom and Canada were continued this morning, and an agreement between them which is all but completed, is expected to be signed this afternoon.

From a well-informed Canadian source it is learned that the principal advantages accuring to Canada under the agreement will be as follow:—

Apples—A preference of 85 cents per cwt.

Butter and Cheese—A preference of 15 per cent.

Bacon—A quota designed to increase prices to United Kingdom farmers, with Canadian farmers enjoying the same advantage.

Cattle—The present restrictions to be withdrawn, giving Canadian cattle the same conditions as prevailed in the past in regard to cattle from Ireland.

Cheese—A preference of 15 per cent.

Potatoes—Embargo to be lifted on December 1st, unless in the meantime examination by United Kingdom experts proves that there is a danger of the potato bug being carried into Great Britain.

Wheat—A preference of approximately 6 cents a bushel.

REQUESTS GRANTED.

Canada thus apparently obtains most of her major requests. The preference on apples will be of distinct advantage to the apple-growers, particularly in the maritime provinces and British Columbia.

The preference on butter and cheese is an increase of 5 cents on the present rate.

The provision of a quota for bacon imports is designed to assist not only Dominions producers, but also United Kingdom farmers.

The removal of the restrictions on Canadian cattle imports to the United Kingdom will meet a long-standing request by Canada, and will enable Canadian cattle to be shipped to Great Britain without the necessity of being "finished" there before marketing.

It is believed that there is a good chance of some bilateral agreements being reached to-day and to-morrow. They present comparatively few difficulties compared with the major negotiations.

Agreements between Canada, South Africa and Southern Rhodesia are likely to be concluded to-day, and the negotiations of fresh agreements between Canada, Australia and New Zealand is also well advanced.

The question of Empire content continues to absorb attention. A uniform fifty per cent. is aimed at, with a few exceptions both downwards and upwards, but it has been decided that the question is too technical for immediate solution.

PROSPECTS FOR TILLAGE.

EARLY RIPENING WHEAT WANTED.

Farmers who have successfully grown wheat in various parts of the country are agreed that the best quality produce is raised in County Dublin, near Malahide. Even there, however, there is land which will not grow wheat satisfactorily, though quite suitable for oats. There is also a wheat-growing area near Bray, County Wicklow, while other parts of the country in which wheat has been grown successfully are South Kildare, Carlow, Louth, and Kilkenny.

Several farmers whom I interviewed on the subject declared that if wheat was grown extensively, it would probably be at the expense of barley, as farmers would not increase the area under tillage. When it was pointed out that the announced intention of the Government was to provide a market at a guaranteed price for wheat sown under the new scheme, the objection was raised: "What about the other crops in the rotation? Where is the labour to come from in parts of County Meath and such places where there is very little tillage?"

Farmers who grew wheat under the compulsory tillage scheme during the Great War are not anxious to go in for this crop again. The difficulty, they say, is to get a grain sufficiently hard for making into flour. For whole-meal purposes Irish grain wheat has proved its suitability. What appears to be wanted now is a variety that will ripen not later than the first week in August, and a guaranteed price for it of 30s. per barrel.

On the other hand, I am told that even now wheaten straw is a drug in the market. How it could be disposed of in the future, with the reduction which has taken place in the number of horse-training establishments, is another problem that awaits solution.

In the absence of particulars of the Government scheme it is difficult to discuss it adequately, but these are points which are certain to be raised by those affected.

CLERY'S DANCE.

There was a good attendance at a dance held in Clery's Ballroom, Dublin, last night. Dancing took place from 10 p.m. till 4 a.m., and Geraldo and his tango orchestra provided the music.

Those present included:—Mrs. Messop, Dr. W. P. O'Callaghan, Mr. and Mrs. C. Hafner, Mrs. C. Roy, Mr. Simons, Mrs. G. Mooney, Mr. N. Figgs, Dr. McWeeney, Mr. R. Fox, Mr. Hipps, Mr. H. Healey, Miss Kingston, Mrs. H. O'Reilly, Mr. Lambe, Mr. D. Coyle, Mr. Brennan, Mr. J. J. King, Mr. S. M. Smith, Mr. and Mrs. T. Reddin, Mr. Morrison, Mr. E. T. Walshe, Mr. Cookshott.

Mr. William May, of Ashburton House, Surrey, senior partner of Messrs. Slaughter and May, solicitors, of 18 Austin Friars, London, E.C., chairman of the Home and Colonial Stores, the Reading Electric Supply Co., and the Thames Valley Electric Supply Co., a director of Greater London and Counties Trust, and of a number of other companies, who died on 6th May last, aged 69 years, has left unsettled estate of the gross value of £197,083 1s. 3d., with net personalty £195,617 11s. 7d. He made no bequests to religious, charitable, or philanthropic institutions, "as for many years I have given considerable sums for this purpose, and I do not hold with the principle of saddling my successors with liability."

DUBLIN'S DEAR VEGETABLES.

CASE OF MARKET GARDENERS.

THEIR INDUSTRY HARD HIT.

From Our Agricultural Correspondent.

DUBLIN house-keepers are complaining that they cannot obtain vegetables at moderate prices, while market gardeners declare that over a long term of years the market has never been worse. The people of Dublin probably are eating as many vegetables as usual, but this is not indicated by the demand on the Dublin market. In all probability a larger number of people are growing vegetables, and the habit has developed to such an extent that market gardeners on both sides of the city have suffered in their business. It seems that some farmers, in expectation of a tremendous increase in the demand for vegetables during the Eucharistic Congress period put a large area under such crops as were likely to be required. Business proved bad, and one grower in the vicinity of Santry, Co. Dublin, was so dissatisfied that he dumped his crops. The yield was good, and the quality was right, but there was no demand.

Among the principal regular market gardeners it has been found impossible to make a profit during the past year. This apparently is due not only to the slump in trade caused by over-production and the maintenance of overhead charges, but to the fact that cabbage and other vegetables are now sent to the Dublin market from places as far as fifty miles away.

POOR MARKET PRICES.

The markets are not abnormal, but there is no demand, and prices are very poor. Potatoes at the moment are selling at 3s. per cwt., a price which, growers state, is not sufficient to pay for the labour, at least, in the neighbourhood of Dublin. There is also a poor demand for cauliowers, broccoli, and Brussels sprouts.

Shopkeepers plead that, owing to the limited inquiry, they have had to throw out half their stock. When asked if it would not have been more profitable to sell at a cut price in order to effect a clearance, retailers were inclined to resent the suggestion that they were "profiteering," and claimed to know their own business best.

While the area under market gardens around Dublin has extended, it is not easy to see whether the amount of land under these crops has extended. Most of the area between Dolphin's Barn and Tallagh has gone out of intensive cultivation, largely as the result of building operations, but other parts of the county have opened up, and the gardens attached to the new houses are being used to a considerable extent.

Before 1914 market gardening was almost exclusively confined to an area within a ten-mile radius of Dublin. Now the use of motor lorries has brought to farms within a fifty-mile radius the same advantages as those in County Dublin, without the drawbacks of high labour and other overhead charges.

HERR VON PAPEN'S OPTIMISM.

From Reuter's Correspondent.

BERLIN, Friday.

Much discussion has been aroused in the German Press by the statement of Herr von Papen, the Chancellor, that the present Government would remain in office for a long time.

The newspapers are much puzzled to know what grounds the Chancellor has for his optimism.

The Nazi journal Angriff waxes sarcastic over Herr von Papen, and says he is using big words, just as Dr. Brüning did before his fall, and that nothing can save him and his Government from the same fate when the Reichstag meets.

The Berliner Tageblatt compares the Chancellor with M. Coué, who repeated that everything was getting "better and better every day" without being able to prove it. "How the Government is going to remain in office after it has been thrown out by the Reichstag, and yet respect the Constitution, is an unsolved problem," declares the paper. It adds that "perhaps it may be necessary to remind Herr von Papen in September of his promise that the Constitution would not be violated."

The Tageblatt is also somewhat disturbed by the Chancellor's claim that Germany must have colonies again, and asks whether the Government really has no more urgent task before it during the forthcoming hard winter than to bring up this subject.

The Socialist Vorwaerts considers that the Chancellor's assertions are in direct contradiction to actual facts, and that his Government has lost all ideas as to its real position.

The Conservative and Monarchist Kreuzzeitung praises the firmness of the Chancellor's statement on foreign affairs, which, it says, will certainly help in the present time of general uncertainty to bring about clarity and confidence.

NEXT GRAND NATIONAL.

HOSPITAL TRUST'S SCHEME PASSED.

WORK ON CESAREWITCH IN FULL SWING.

THE Free State Minister for Justice has sanctioned the scheme submitted to him by the Hospitals' Committee for a sweepstake on the Grand National, 1932.

This scheme, which is identical with that for the Cesarewitch sweepstake, is the first submitted to, and sanctioned by, Mr. de Valera's Government.

THE NEW OFFICES.

A number of Pressmen were yesterday conducted over the new staff premises of the Irish Hospitals' Trust in Exchequer street, Dublin. This house has been acquired from Messrs. Pim Brothers, Ltd., by the Trust, and is of four spacious storeys, which are at present in the hands of artisans, who, under the supervision of Mr. J. Geraghty, clerk of works to the Trust, are renovating and refitting the rooms. It is expected that the work will be completed next week. The indexing machines now at the Plaza will be then removed to Exchequer street, which has accommodation for 2,000 clerks.

THE 'PLANE.

The aeroplane in which Mr. Mollison made his crossing is a Puss Moth single-seater cabin monoplane, driven by a single Gipsy Moth 120 h.p. air-cooled four-cylinder engine.

It is exactly similar in the main features of its design and construction to the touring three-seater craft of the same type flown by amateur pilots all over the world.

The Prince of Wales and the King of Iraq own similar machines.

Yesterday about 700 girl applicants for clerical positions on the Hospitals' Trust staff sat for examination in the Marlborough street schools. The successful candidates will be immediately employed in the Cesarewitch sweepstake staffs. The examination was supervised by Captain F. Saurin.

THE COMING DRAWING.

This addition to the clerical staff will be urgently needed, as the pressure period, which has marked every sweepstake, will soon be upon the Trust. Only 26 days remain until the closing date of the Cesarewitch sweepstake, which is September 15th. The officials advise immediate action on the part of intending subscribers, and say "the quicker these are in the quicker the receipts will be sent out, and the less trouble there will be for all concerned."

It is noted in the sweepstake bulletin that "the amount of prize-money on the Derby sweepstake paid up to date is £2,733,193."

DECORATING THE PLAZA.

Referring to the new setting for the big drum from which the prize coupons in the Cesarewitch sweepstake will be drawn, the bulletin states:—

Mr. Maurice McGonigal, A.R.H.A., who is carrying out the setting for the coming draw, is a Dublin-born man. He is quite a young man, and was trained at the Dublin Metropolitan School of Art, where, in 1924, he was awarded a three years' scholarship and, in the same year, the Taler Scholarship for painting. In the Tailteann Games of 1928 he was awarded the silver medal for landscape painting and another medal for drawing, and in the 1932 Tailteann Games he was again awarded the silver medal for a group of landscapes. In 1931 he was elected an Associate of the Royal Hibernian Academy.

Mr. McGonigal, who studied for some time in Holland, is one of the most popular exhibitors at the Royal Hibernian Academy exhibitions, and his pictures have also been specially exhibited in London, New York, Montreal, and many other cities. The Irish Theatre in New York makes a special feature of his work at present. He is one of the visiting teachers of painting and drawing in the Academy Schools in Dublin. Those who are best qualified to judge, look upon Mr. McGonigal as one of the most promising of the younger Irish artists, and are delighted that he has been entrusted on his own merits with this very important commission.

Mr. McGonigal has already set to work upon the scheme which is to be entirely carried out under his personal supervision, but in the various branches of the design he will have the assistance of many other well-known Irish artists, including Mr. George Atkinson, R.H.A., A.R.C.A.; Mr. Harry Kernoff, Mr. George Collie and Mr. James Golden.

FACED WITH A CATASTROPHE.

FARMERS' CALL FOR PEACE.

UNABLE TO MEET THEIR LIABILITIES.

THE following resolution, which was adopted at a meeting of farmers in Streamstown, was proposed by Mr. D. C. Colgan, and seconded by Mr. P. Farrell:—meeting, to be held in Mullingar, to consider "That we, the farmers and ratepayers of Castletown, view with the greatest alarm the prospect of an economic war between the Saorstat and Great Britain.

"That we call on the Free State Government to immediately settle this dispute with England, or otherwise to let us know at once what is the alternative market for our surplus produce.

"That we call on the other parties in the Dail to use their utmost powers to bring about a settlement of this dispute, and we also call on all patriotic Irishmen to demand peace before the country and its principal industry and agriculture are financially ruined.

"That, pending a settlement, we call on the Government to grant a moratorium on annuities and rates, as, owing to the 20 per cent. tariff, fairs and markets are a failure, and farmers, as a result, are unable to meet their liabilities; and we pledge ourselves to retain our land annuities, as, owing to the depreciation in the price of live-stock, we consider we have lost, and will lose, more than the amount of our land annuities as a result of this suicidal war now being waged; and we further call on the Government to refund the land annuities to those who have paid this year, as that money, which is now held in a suspensory account, is sorely needed by those farmers.

"We also call on the County Council to reduce expenditure and to effect savings as far as possible during the present depressed state of the country. We also call on the farmers of the country to organise a county meeting to be held in Mullingar, to consider what steps can be taken to avert this catastrophe with which we are faced."

KILDARE FARMERS' PLIGHT.

"CAN NOTHING BE DONE TO SAVE US?"

From Our Correspondent.

NAAS, Friday.

Speaking at a public meeting of farmers at Allen, Co. Kildare, to-day to protest against the present tariff conflict, Mr. S. Minch, T.D., said that they were prepared to back the Government if the Government adopted a reasonable policy, but when the policy adopted was absolutely suicidal and ruinous to their best interests and the interests of their country, then it became their duty to oppose the Government by every constitutional means in their power.

He fully realised that their gathering that evening could not be looked upon as a political meeting, but was simply a gathering of agriculturists who were threatened with financial disaster, and who had come together to make every effort in their power to avert that disaster.

THE DAILY CRY.

"Day after day," continued Mr. Minch, "I am receiving letters from all parts of the country, from farmers who are beaten to the wall, and to whom the post brings nothing but a mass of bills, including the now familiar 'Six days' notice.' Letter after letter tells the same story, 'We cannot pay; can nothing be done to save us'?

"What can I do? What can any deputy do? If he advises them not to pay he is branded a traitor who is playing England's game, and would be probably made amenable to the law on a charge of sedition. If he advises them to pay he is met with the answer, 'We haven't the money.' Well, to put it in a nutshell, it resolves itself into the case of what you have not got you cannot give."

EXTRAORDINARY ADMISSION.

The admission by Mr. de Valera, Mr. Minch said, that no alternative markets existed for our produce was an extraordinary one, coming as it did immediately after the Government being voted the enormous sum of £2,000,000, portion of which was ear-marked for the finding of alternative markets. Was that good statesmanship, or was it evidence of the sound policy of self-dependence that they heard so much about? When the whole truth was known, is would probably be realised that the Government policy was on a par with the alternative markets—non-existent.

COMPULSORY TILLAGE

PULLING THE WOOL OVER THE FARMERS' EYES.

From Our Correspondent.

WEXFORD, Friday.

Addressing a Cumann na nGaedheal meeting in Templetown, Co. Wexford, Mr. J. Keating, T.D., referring to the policy of the Government, said that it was clear to anyone who was honest enough to face facts that things could not be much worse than they were at the present time. They had now reached the stage when the Government intended to make tillage compulsory. How many practical farmers held the view that wheat-growing would result in increased employment? No one would agree with the Government in this matter except one or two here and there, where politics had run away with farming common-sense. Was the Irish climate, as they knew it for many years, suitable for wheat-growing on the scale recently outlined? It was not, because of the variable weather conditions, which were bound to militate against a successful harvest.

It was the definite and settled opinion of flour millers that home-grown wheat had to be mixed with wheat from foreign lands in order to mill flour that would not go mouldy. Now was the time for farmers to make known their opinions before they were made the medium of this final experiment in impracticable farming. The wheat scheme was not being launched in their interests, but was one more attempt by amateur statesmen to pull the wool over the eyes of the struggling and hard-pressed section of the community whose interests would be best served by leaving them and their "valuable markets" alone.

GAMBLE IN WHEAT-GROWING.

Taghmon (Co. Wexford) Branch of Cumann na nGaedheal has passed a resolution protesting against the policy of the Government on wheat-growing, stating that it would not be in the interests of agriculture to throw away their live stock trade for a gamble in wheat-growing.

MEATH SOCIETY'S RESOLUTION.

From Our Correspondent.

TRIM, Friday.

A special meeting of the Royal Meath Agricultural Society, held at Trim to consider the position of the farming and business communities arising out of the present crisis, adopted the following resolution:—

"That, whilst not wishing to embarrass the Government in any way, but believing that the agricultural interests of the country are in the greatest peril, we call upon the Government to take steps to end this tariff war, and so enable the farmers to sell their cattle and other produce, so that they may be saved from extinction."

The meeting had under consideration the advisability of proceeding with the annual autumn show, but after discussion referred the matter to a further meeting to be held on Monday night, when a final decision will be reached.

WEXFORD SHOW DROPPED.

From Our Correspondent.

WEXFORD, Friday.

The Wexford Agricultural Show, which was fixed for next month, has been abandoned.

New Ross and Gorey have been already cancelled, and Enniscorthy was the only one of the four county exhibitions held this year.

MR. MOLLISON'S TRIUMPH.

"JIM IS WONDERFUL," SAYS HIS WIFE.

"Jim is wonderful," said Mrs. Mollison as she left her London hotel shortly after learning of the success of her husband's Atlantic flight.

She had been advised by telephone immediately the Reuter message that Mr. Mollison had made a perfect landing at Pennfield Ridge, New Brunswick, reached London.

"I had not the slightest doubt that he would do the trip," Mrs. Mollison said to a reporter.

"Did the news thrill me? You bet it did. Jim is wonderful, and I am longing to give him my congratulations. I am just longing to hear his voice again."

Mrs. Mollison added that she did not think she would be going to Ireland, but would probably await her husband's home-coming in London. She hoped to make a telephone call to Mr. Mollison in New Brunswick.

Mrs. Mollison was lunching with friends in the restaurant at Grosvenor House when she heard that a silver-grey Puss Moth has been sighted over Halifax, Novia Scotia.

"I am sure it is Jim," she said excitedly.

For a few minutes she remained at the table—too excited to finish her lunch—and then she went upstairs to her room. It was there that she received definite news.

Smilingly acknowledging the many congratulations she received, Mrs. Mollison said: "Now I feel that the worst is over. The return journey, I know, is not easy; but, in comparison with the outward journey against beating head winds, it is much easier.

"I feel now much more easy in my mind."

Mrs. Mollison returned to her hotel last night after spending the evening with friends in the West End. She had spoken to her husband over the Atlantic telephone during the evening.

"It was marvellous to hear his voice again," she said. "He sounded a trifle tired, and he told me that he only came down because his petrol supply was running short. Jimmy told me that he would be going on to New York in the morning. I was so excited that I could scarcely speak when I first heard him."

Mrs. Mollison gave instructions at her hotel late last night that she was not to be disturbed, and no confirmation was forthcoming of the report from New Brunswick that she may go to New York.

It is understood that during her conversation with Mr. Mollison last night the latter suggested that his wife should cross by boat to-day.

Mrs. Mollison, however, thought that this would hold up his crossing. Mrs. Mollison will speak over the Atlantic telephone with her husband again this morning.

CONGRATULATIONS.

MESSAGE FROM LORD MAYOR.

The Lord Mayor of Dublin has sent the following telegram to Mr. Mollison:—

"All Irishmen join me. Heartiest congratulations on latest wonderful achievement.—Byrne, Lord Mayor."

Lord Londonderry, the Secretary for Air, sent the following cable last night to Mr. Mollison:—

"On behalf of the Air Council I send you warm congratulations on your great flight from East to West, which has once again given striking proof not only of your personal skill and courage, but also of the efficiency of British aircraft and British aero engines."

The following cable was sent by Lord Wakefield:—

"My heartiest congratulations on the success of your record-making flight. I sincerely trust your return flight will be crowned with equal glory to yourself and your country."

PREVIOUS FLIGHTS.

There have been three previous non-stop flights over the Atlantic from east to west, but none of them was made solo.

The first of these was in April, 1928, when Captain Kohl and Baron Huenefeld and Commandant Fitzmaurice flew from Dublin to Greenly Island, Newfoundland, in the Bremen in 36½ hours.

In June, 1930, Wing-Commander Kingsford Smith, Mr. Evert Vandyke, Mr. Stanage, and Captain Saul flew from Portmarnock to Harbour Grace, Newfoundland, in the Southern Cross in 30 hours 28 minutes.

In September, 1930, two Frenchmen, Captain Costes and M. Bellonte, flew from Paris to New York in the Question Mark in 37 hours 17 minutes.

The most spectacular trans-Atlantic flight before Mr. Mollison left Portmarnock was one which established a time record from west to east. It was made by a woman—Miss Amelia Earhart (Mrs. G. B. Putnam)—who flew from Harbour Grace, Newfoundland, to Londonderry, a distance of 2,000 miles, in 13½ hours in May of this year.

A week previously the American airman, "Lanky" Lou Reichers, had made a solo attempt from west to east, but had been forced down and rescued by a liner when within fifty miles of the south-west coast of Ireland.

In the following month Mr. Stanley Hausner set out from New Jersey for Warsaw. This was the beginning of a thrilling adventure which nearly cost him his life. He came down in the sea, and was afloat on the wreckage of his 'plane for over a week before being rescued by a British steamer.

The epic story of trans-Atlantic flight was begun in May, 1919, when Mr. Harry Hawker and Colonel Grieve made an attempt from Newfoundland with Ireland as their objective. The machine came down in the sea, and both airmen were picked up.

Sir John Alcock and Sir A. Whitten Brown made the first successful journey over the Atlantic two months later, when they crossed from Newfoundland to Ireland, a distance of 1,900 miles, in 16 hours 12 minutes.

Colonel Lindbergh, in May, 1927, flew solo from New York to Paris, 3,039 miles, in 33½ hours.

FAMILY TURNED OUT OF THEIR HOME.

In Rathfarnham District Court yesterday, before Mr. Reddin, D.J., Michael Maycock and William Maycock, father and son respectively, of Bluebell Cottages, Naas road, Inchicore, were charged on remand at the suit of Superintendent O'Reilly, Dundrum, on the following five counts:—

(1) That they did conspire with persons unknown to commit the following offences—To break and enter the dwelling-house of John Haines, of Bluebell, on August 15, 1932;

(2) To forcibly and without due process of law take possession of the house and premises occupied by him;

(3) To assault the said John Haines by pointing a revolver at him;

(4) Unlawfully damage his property; and

(5) Steal, take and carry away the sum of £3 17s. 0d.

Mr. C. B. W. Boyle appeared for the accused.

John Haines stated that he was a foreman checker on the B. and I. For the past nine years he had been living in the cottage at Bluebell, and the accused occupied a room in the front of the house.

On Sunday night he went to bed about 9.30, and at 12.50 a.m. there was a knock at the back door. One of the boys (his son) got up and went to see who was knocking. He returned and informed witness that the house was surrounded by armed and masked men. When the door was forced witness looked into the kitchen, and saw a man with a revolver in his hand and wearing a mask. He shouted: "Hands up. All hands up." I asked him to let us get our clothing, and he said: "Get out, I order you, in the name of the Republican Army!" He refused to let us get our clothing. He was accompanied by twelve or fifteen men. They were all heavily masked, and armed, as far as I could see.

"One of the men in the crowd went over to the man with the revolver and said 'Put down your revolver. Keep it quiet.'

"My wife, five children and myself were then ordered out to the yard and were told to put our backs to the shed, and at the same time ordered to put our hands up.

"I told the man with the revolver that my wife's money was in the house, and said if he would let her in to get it I would be thankful.

"He told me that she could not go in, and that the first person who put their nose inside the door would be a corpse.

"He then told me, in the name of the Irish Republican Army, that I nor any of the family was to leave the place for twenty-five minutes.

"I waited for the twenty-five minutes, and I collected my family together and walked to James's Street Union. My furniture in the house was thrown out through the front door."

Superintendent—Had you any dispute with Michael Maycock about the house?—Last Christmas he came to me and told me he wanted the house to carry on hairdressing business. I told him that I would look for a house and give him possession as soon as I could. I reported the matter to the Council. I was told by the County Council to remain where I was.

The accused were remanded to the Dundrum District Court, bail being allowed in the case of William Maycock, himself in £10 and two sureties of £25 each. Michael Maycock was remanded in custody.

DUBLIN CHILD DROWNED.

Charles Murphy, aged six, of 20 Darley street, Dublin, was drowned yesterday in the Grand Canal in the vicinity of Harold's Cross Bridge. A man, whose name was not given, plunged into the water and brought the child ashore, but artificial respiration was applied without success. The body was brought in the Corporation ambulance to the Meath Hospital, where an inquest will be held to-day.

GOSSIP FROM THE COURSE.

ONLY MODERATE.

SICKLE MOON ROMPS HOME IN ROBIN HOOD STAKES.

FROM OUR TRAVELLING CORRESPONDENT.

HURST PARK, Friday Night.

RACING with the temperature at 99 degrees in the shade, when there is no shade, is not a state of bliss for anyone, either man or horse, and I am afraid things were rather languid here this afternoon, for there was not a breath of air to relieve the rigours of the sun. Considering the long spell of dry weather the going was surprisingly good. The racing was only moderate, which in view of the atmospheric conditions was a relief.

Mr. Bobbie Watson's filly, Sickle Moon, made the opposition look silly in the Robin Hood Stakes, which she won all the way, with odds of 6 to 5 laid on her, and finished five lengths in front of Eclair, who was in turn three-parts ahead of Pigeon's Blood. Martin Hartigan now trains this filly, who came to him when Mr. Watson removed his horses from Manton, and she will probably win him another race or two this season, as she is well engaged.

POOR HANDICAPS.

The two handicaps were poor affairs. One, the Wilderness Plate, was won by Mr. Herbert Blagrave's Golden Earl, whom he trains himself. Suspense tried to cut the field down, but was headed a furlong out by Golden Earl, who won by two lengths from Chef de Musique. Cranford Cross, who was favourite, never showed up, nor did Lantern, who was favourite for the Maze Handicap.

This race was won by Major Sneyd's stable with Major Lyons' Scattercash, a colt who was assisted by Fox's strong handling to win by three-parts and four lengths from Bunch and Sarafan.

THE SELLING PLATES.

The executive had a poor time out of surpluses. Multorb, after winning the Wolsey Selling Plate by half a length and a neck from Aberystwith and the favourite, Bassenthwaite, was bought in by his owner, Jack Leader, for 110 guineas, and there was no bid at all for the filly by Royal Lancer out of Lady of the Loch after she had won the Cowley Selling Plate for Walter Nightingall. This little thing ran like a hare before the hounds, and beat Ithaca by five lengths. The second was sold for 100 guineas.

Backers had by no means the best of things, for Silver Mount, on whom odds were laid in the last race, an apprentices' plate, only finished third behind Cabeza and St. Cyprian.

SELECTIONS.

The joint favourite for the St. Leger, UDAIPUR, runs here to-morrow for the Richemount Stakes, in which the opposition is so weak that she should win easily.

Other Doncaster candidates will be seen in the St. Leger Trial Stakes, in which I choose YELLOWSTONE to beat Silvermere and Bulandshar.

The Chiswick Plate may be won by ROMNEYA; and in the Lennox Plate I take APPLE TIME to beat Miss Elegance, even though the latter receives 10lb.

GALTEE MORE.

ST. LEGER TRIAL.

UDAIPUR FANCIED TO WIN THE RICHEMOUNT STAKES.

THE St. Leger Trial Stakes promised to be one of the most attractive races of the week, but since Orwell and April the Fifth are scratched and Royal Dancer unlikely to be started, the race has lost much of its interest. In the circumstances the best event of the afternoon will be the Richemount Stakes, in which the Oaks winner Udaipur will take part. The filly is joint favourite for the St. Leger with her stable companion, Dastur, and most backers find it very difficult to separate the pair. Fillies have not often won the last of the classics, and the colts seem far in advance of the fillies this season. My own belief is that Dastur is the better of the pair, but perhaps it is that is well ahead of her contemporary. She will not have very much to beat to-day, and consequently the race will not be a fair test of her ability.

The St. Leger Trial Stakes, in the absence of all the best entries, should be won by YELLOWSTONE.

Bulandshar, who runs for the Aga Khan instead of Taj Kasra, has a chance on some of his early season running. He won the Chester Vase in good style. Seraph Boy is useful and is improving. He caused a big surprise when beating Venturer and Clogheen for the Chesterfield Cup at Goodwood, but on this occasion I shall rely upon Yellowstone.

Connemara Rose will win a race of the type of the Chiswick Plate, but on this occasion I shall rely upon whose recent outing, the first of this season, will have done him good.

Timepiece is a very useful juvenile, but in the Lennox Plate he may be outclassed. Apple Time has met with a lot of success this season, but I hardly think that she or any other will beat

MISS ELEGANCE.

This filly barely gets five furlongs, and the fact that the going is not yielding should be in her favour.

Without beating about the bush, my selection for the Hammersmith Selling Plate is who will have Blotter and Yuford to beat; while for the Ditton Selling Plate, for which about twenty are expected to face the starter, I shall rely upon

LAKIN.

The best displays of the others may come from Ka-Lee and Lady Hurry filly.

DUBLIN racegoers will welcome the meeting at Leopardstown this afternoon, as so far during this week racing has been confined to the South of Ireland. The programme is an attractive one, with the most interesting events coming at the end of the day. For the Londonderry Plate there will be six runners, two of whom are in J. T. Rogers's stable—namely, The Doe and Buen Ojada. The latter has not run up to now, but The Doe has much to recommend her in her two wins out of three attempts. Greek Glen's form is also consistently good, and he seems to hold Doreda safe. Border Ballad will have to improve on previous running to have a chance, but Centoi, Mr. R. S. Croker's sole representative, showed improvement the last time he appeared on a racecourse. This son of Achtoi may be the chief danger to who gets the vote.

NEWMARKET NOTES.

WORK OF EBOR HANDICAP HORSES: HINTS FOR TO-DAY.

NEWMARKET, Friday.

THE first trainer to put in an appearance on the Racecourse side this morning was R. Day, who took the top sheets off Trinidad and sent him six furlongs at a nice pace. Trinidad is in capital trim to meet his engagement in the Clifton Welter Handicap at York on Tuesday.

Frank Butters was on the Bury side with his first team. Slipper travelled six furlongs at a nice pace, and the St. Leger colt, Dastur, in company with Witch Doctor II. and Sans Espoir, went a useful-pace gallop over the same distance, in which he moved freely. Sans Espoir also went well, and he will not be easy to beat for the Ebor Handicap next Wednesday.

I notice that Sigari appears among the Ebor acceptances, but Gilpin has not given him a very strong preparation for the race. I do not think, however, that there is any doubt about the colt getting the distance, and on his Ascot form he can be made out to hold a good winning chance, although he has plenty of weight for a three-year-old. With Colorado Kid, Sigari travelled six furlongs at a useful pace, and will probably be given a much longer gallop in the morning.

Formentor assisted Mannering in a smart five-furlong spin, while Sunset II. had a similar gallop with First Offender.

The only animal in Hogg's team to do any work was the Ebor Handicap candidate, Evening Glory, who covered one mile steadily. The handicapper has certainly treated her well, but I am afraid the distance of this event is too far for her.

R. J. Colling's Cat o' Nine Tails, who returned from Stockton without running, compassed one mile and a quarter at a good pace. He remains in the Ebor Handicap, and he appears to be nicely handicapped with 7st. 8lb., but it is my opinion that, if the race is to come to headquarters, it will be by the aid of Sans Espoir.

D. Waugh gave Ortygia, in company with Cassius, Mati Hari and Fricasse, just a useful pace gallop over one mile, while the only other gallop of any interest was that which Walters gave to Abbot's Ferry, who moved well over one mile and a quarter with Greetland.

We shall have a fair number of runners at Hurst Park.

IGNAME,

our only runner for the Hammersmith Selling Plate, is in good trim and should run forward.

We have Red River, Promptress and on the scene of action for the Ditton Selling Plate, and in this company the latter should be a reasonably good thing.

Bulandshar has been sent to represent the Fitzroy House establishment in preference to Taj Kasra in the St. Leger Trial Stakes, and he will run well, but I like better the chance of who has made marked improvement in his gallops recently.

YELLOWSTONE (next best),

UDAIPUR

appears to have an easy task to beat our other runner, Royal Progeny, in the Richemount Stakes.

Vain Bachelor has been well tuned up for the Chiswick Plate, but as appears to be approaching her best form I give her the preference.

Gay Lover, Sharpe's Victor, Christening Cup and Chalcedonyx will oppose in the Lennox Plate, and if there is any danger to Earl's filly it may be Chalcedonyx.

APPLE TIME

At Pontefract my fancies are:—2.30, Starlina; 3.0, Alpine Call; 3.30, Bayonet; 4.0, Pinewood; 4.30, Fore*; 5.0, Grecian Isle.

OPENING LEAGUE GAMES

WILL SHELBOURNE CHALLENGE ROVERS THIS SEASON?

By Our Special Correspondent.

DESPITE the fact that the majority of the cross-Channel players who were with the Free State League clubs last season have departed, and their places being filled, for the most part, with local men, interest in the opening matches of the season will be as keen as ever, and there are certain to be big attendances at the various grounds this week-end

Shelbourne are the one club who have not been frightened of pursuing a progressive policy, and only two or three of last year's side will be seen at Shelbourne Park this afternoon. English players will fill the vacant places, and while there is no famous name among them, the centre-half, Maloney, was regarded by Northampton as being worth £3,500 last year. Astley, Holmes, and Billcliffe have shown themselves capable defenders in the trial games, but Shelbourne are nearly always strong in this department, and the attack will be watched with greater interest. Carroll, the popular little right-winger, will be seen in the same place, but the other men are newcomers, so it is almost impossible to forecast their possibilities. It is, on the whole, a younger team than Shelbourne have had for some time, and that in itself is a good point. Cork are the real mystery team so far, for eight of them are newcomers, and the whole forward line is different. Rorrison, of Doncaster, may, however, prove a dangerous scoring centre-forward, while Lennon is certain to add steadiness to the half-line. It is almost impossible to say how the match will go, but I certainly fancy Shelbourne's chances of taking both points.

THE CHAMPIONS' CHANCES.

The other four games will all be played to-morrow, and three of them present interesting possibilities. Shamrock Rovers, the champions, should not have great difficulty in disposing of St. James's Gate, and even before their team takes the field, it is easy to forecast a good season for them. They have always had the knack of being able to find capable reserves, and whereas the loss of two of last season's outstanding men, Moore and Daly, would leave most other clubs crippled, they are able to fill the places with Byrne and Gaskins, of Brideville, who should fill the bill satisfactorily. They still retain their two brilliant cross-Channel men, Matthews and Smith, and will gain two points comfortably from a St. James's Gate team that varies little from last season.

Dolphin will present an unusual appearance, for only Somers of their cross-Channel men has been retained, and the departure of Kelly and Paterson will certainly be regretted by the club's supporters. Still a useful side has been built up, and the defence will certainly be sound. Lennox has once more returned from Shelbourne to partner Doyle, and Bermingham of Bohemians should strengthen the half-line. It is not to be expected that we will see the scintillating forward movements that have been the chief feature of Dolphin's play for the last two years, but the present line is composed of hard workers who will try all the way. Drumcondra should be one of the improved teams this time, for they have signed on two very valuable men in Harrison, Dundalk's centre-half, and Bermingham of Brideville. The defence should do all that is necessary, and this may inspire the forwards, but I would like to have seen one or two scoring forwards among the acquisitions. A draw would not in the least surprise me here, or, alternatively, a win for Drumcondra.

DUNDALK AT BRAY.

Bray will entertain Dundalk, who, like Cork, are working on far less ambitious lines than last season. With the exception of Frame and Hutchinson, the goalkeeper and centre-half, Bray are much as last season, and the game should be close, with Dundalk as the more likely winners. The League newcomers, Cork Bohemians, will face a stiff test in their very first encounter, when they meet the Dublin Bohemians; yet if the side can settle down from the start they must stand an excellent chance of winning, for the amateurs will be without two useful men in Cannon and King, while their centre-forward, Barry, is making his League début. Waterford have such a leavening of experienced players, such as Harris, Arrigan, Crawford and O'Brien, that they should prove a decidedly useful combination. At any rate, the result of this match will give a good line on their prospects for the season.

FOOTBALL SEMI-FINALS.

DUBLIN'S CHANCE AGAINST KERRY. CAVAN v. MAYO.

(By PAT'O.)

IN fixing two All-Ireland semi-finals for the same venue on the same day, the Central Council of the G.A.A. has taken a bold step. Hitherto one interprovincial game, supported by a minor or junior fixture, was deemed sufficient attraction. To-morrow the champion footballers of all four provinces—Dublin (Leinster), Kerry (Munster), Mayo (Connaught), and Cavan (Ulster)—are engaged in the penultimate stage of the 1932 series.

Bringing all four provinces into the same field on the same day is typical of the new spirit in the G.A.A. Irrespective of gate values, the programme must be run off according to schedule. To-morrow's winners meet at headquarters on September 25th.

All four teams are confident. So evenly distributed is Gaelic football strength that it is difficult to name winners in a year of surprise results. Dublin's much-improved form calls for first attention. A team of young players, they are an almost perfect combination. Against Wexford last Sunday Dublin played superb football. Will Kerry allow their set system of passing to develop? The Dublin front line against Wexford fairly staggered us with its efficiency. Will they find Kerry's tall backs a different proposition to Wexford's rather diminutive defence? I think so. Kerry, heroes of many a final, will fight for every ball, and make Dublin jump higher than did Wexford. Remembering that Kerry are an ageing side, with Brosnan and Doyle exchanging places and O'Donnell off, I believe Kerry will be below full strength, and think that Dublin has the best chance in many years of securing a championship. I must say that I liked this Dublin team in all their four games, and Kerry will have to fight hard for their laurels.

We have not seen Cavan at Croke Park for some time. Smith, Lynch, and Farrelly have balanced the team through a busy year. Their attack has suffered recently from minor accidents, and they may not be at their best to-morrow, for Blessing is a big loss in front.

Mayo are at full strength. Courell, Forde, Mulderrig, and Flannelly will be the outstanding quartette in a side which includes Hanly (Army) and Hearns (Garda).

Both games promise close and swinging fortunes. Mayo's speed in wings and apt handling of high balls should bring them to the final; but only stage-fright can prevent Dublin from giving Kerry the game of their lives. I do not think the Kerry-Dublin game will bring such close football as the earlier clash between Mayo and Cavan, who are more allied in styles.

I select Kerry and Mayo to win, but the lot of the prophet this season is not a happy one, and I shall not be very much surprised if one, or both, of the chosen sides fail to win.

The programme for Croke Park is:—

1.15—Kerry v. Galway (minor football).
2.30—Cavan v. Mayo (senior football).
3.45—Kerry v. Dublin (senior football).

ARMY CUP FOOTBALL.

In the Medical Services' Cup football match at the Curragh, Supply and Transport Services defeated Signal Corps by 2 goals and 4 points to 2 goals and 2 points. The Transport team should now go far in the competition.

At Baldonnel the Army Air Corps were lucky to escape defeat by Ordnance Services in the Dublin District postponed tie. The final score was:—Ordnance Services, 1-3; Air Corps, 0-6. Murphy, Maher and O'Callaghan scored for Ordnance; O'Brien and Brown for Air Corps. The replay is fixed for Thursday next.

LAWN TENNIS.

THE LAST TEST OF THE SEASON.

IRELAND'S CHANCES AT SCARBOROUGH.

By Our Special Correspondent.

IRELAND'S last test of the season, the match against England at Scarborough, will take place on Monday and Tuesday. The programme will consist of four men's singles, two women's singles, two men's doubles, two mixed doubles, and one women's double—eleven matches in all. Ireland has her strongest team out, as far as the singles are concerned, and we should hold an equality in the six matches there, but England's superiority in doubles play will, probably, give them the victory.

The order of play has not yet been decided, but Rogers and H. F. David will be the top men, followed by McGuire and Gandar Dower, Cronin and Ritchie, and McVeagh and Chamberlain. Two, at least, of these four matches should be ours. Although Rogers's form has been in and out this season, he is a sounder singles player than David, and McGuire seems to reach the peak of his form in England. In this match two years ago he beat J. C. Gregory, and, following the Irish championships this year, he played brilliant tennis at Frinton. Gandar Dower can be a most formidable opponent on his day—he took F. J. Perry to five sets in the British hard court championships early in the year, and beat H. O. Hopman just prior to Wimbledon—but he will have to be at his best to beat McGuire. Ritchie has so greatly improved this year that I rather doubt Cronin's ability to beat him, but McVeagh's pertinacity and ability to play on an opponent's weakness may gain him the day over Chamberlain.

I am not so happy about our women. Miss Montgomery, on her form at Fitzwilliam, is capable of beating both Miss Wallis and Miss Stoker every time, and as Miss James is considered at least as good as Miss Montgomery, I give England two wins here.

In the doubles, Rogers and McGuire should be a better pair than any combination on the opposing team, but McVeagh and Cronin are a long way behind them, and Miss Wallis, fine base-line player as she is, will, probably, find the disadvantage of being at the back of the court against two volleyers rather too much for her. We have fared badly against England in our last two matches, and it will be disappointing if there is not a big improvement this year.

MRS. L. A. HARPER BEATEN.

The American women's national singles championship was continued at Forest Hills yesterday, when the quarter-finals were played. Mrs. J. B. Pittman entered the semi-final by defeating Miss Mary Greef, 6-3, 6-2.

A surprise was caused when Mrs. L. A. Harper, the American Wightman Cup player, was defeated by Miss Carolyn Babcock, a twenty years old Los Angeles girl, by 6-3, 7-5. This was mainly a base-line duel.

Miss Ridley, the only other British player, defeated Mrs. Painter (formerly Miss Marjorie Morrill), sixth ranked player in the United States, by 3-6, 8-6, 6-4.

KENILWORTH-LEINSTER TOURNAMENT.

To-day, at 3 o'clock, there will be an American tournament at Kenilworth square, organised by the Kenilworth and Leinster clubs. The members of both clubs are requested to enter and turn out punctually.

YACHTING.

THRILLING RACE ON THE CLYDE.

AMERICA TWO UP IN THE SEAWANHAKA CUP.

THE second race in the international contest for the Seawanhaka Cup in the Firth of Clyde yesterday was won by the American 6-metre Jill, which is thus two up, with three races to go. The challenger beat the British defender, Maida, by a minute and a half in a race marked by fluctuations in fortune. The course was a triangle of seven miles, and two rounds were sailed.

The course was sailed in a light north-easterly breeze, variable and patchy. At the start, at half-past one, Maida fetched through on the starboard, on the weather of Jill, and, keeping her grip firmly on the challenger, never allowed her to get away from under her lee. Maida's superior qualities to windward enabled her to establish a lead of about half a minute at the weather mark, and at the end of the first round she led by fully a minute.

On the second round the American boat soon demonstrated her better speed in the light weather conditions, slipping through Maida's lee, and rounding the weather mark almost two and a half minutes ahead. On the spinnaker run on the succeeding leg Maida provided a thrill for the thousands of spectators by romping past the American challenger with the aid of a nice slant of air, but Jill succeeded in overtaking her again.

The third race to-day is over a windward and leeward course, and if Jill is successful she wins the cup.

SHAMROCK WINS AGAIN.

Shamrock V. added another flag to her string in the principal race at the Torbay regatta yesterday. Westward rejoined the big boats, but the wind was too light for her and she gave up. The course was shortened on account of the light breeze, and they were stopped at the end of the first round, when Shamrock was well ahead of Astra. The finishing times, corrected, were:—

	H.	M.	S.
Shamrock V. (winner)	2	28	7
Astra (second)	2	32	20
Candida (third)	2	34	52
White Heather II.	2	34	46
Britannia	2	43	24

TO-DAY'S FIXTURES.

The last race on the R.A.Y.C. programme will be sailed to-day, a Corinthian Handicap, for Cruisers under 10 tons, for the No. 4 Champion Cup of the club. The equivalent match on the D.B.S.C. card is "starred."

The other Dublin Bay classes will sail under D.B.S.C. auspices. The 21-Footers have the "Kismet" special prize. The handicap for club prizes is Oola (scr.), allows Maureen and Geraldine 2 mins., and Innisfallen 4 mins. The 17-Footers have the "Punctilio" special prize. The handicap for club prizes is Pauline, Bobolink, Silver Moon and Hera (scr.), allow Echo and Rosemary 4 mins.; Deilginis 5 mins., and Anita and Oona 6 mins. The handicap for the Wags is Phyllis (scr.), allows Coquette 4 mins., Pansy 8 mins., Tomboy 9 mins., Mary Kate and Kittiwake 10 mins., Amyl, Vela, Mollie, and Alfa 11 mins.; Blue Bird 12 mins., Barbara, Moosmie and Nesta 13 mins., and Marie Louise and Cupid 19 mins.

HOWTH S.C. DINGHIES.

The race postponed from Monday was sailed on Thursday evening in a light easterly breeze. Four started, Altair leading Snipe, Elf and Orion over the line. Altair was still leading at the close of the round, with Snipe, Orion and Elf following, and in this order they finished, Orion winning on handicap, Snipe taking second prize.

WATER POLO.

CLONTARF ON TOUR.

JERSEY .... 4 CLONTARF 0

Clontarf, who are on tour in the Channel Islands, played their first match on Wednesday last against the Island of Jersey. The Dublin club, who had not intended to play until a later date, were called upon to take the place of the Hampshire County team, who were delayed by fog at sea. Jersey scored two goals in each half, and won by four goals to nil. Clontarf failed to take advantage in the first half of a strong flowing tide, and were unable to make headway in the second period. Lavery, Lightfoot, and Harte did well for the visitors, who were represented by J. C. Harte, E. J. Lightfoot, M. White, R. P. Lavery, Captain C. Archer, E. J. Doyle, and V. Hayes.

DUBLIN SPORTING GUN CLUB.

A clay pigeon shoot will be held at Keegan's Shooting Ground, Redcow, to-morrow, commencing at 1 o'clock. Visitors invited.

THE IRISH OPEN TITLE.

WILL KENYON RETAIN IT AT CORK NEXT WEEK?

(By Our Golf Correspondent.)

TO-DAY a number of the Irish Professionals who have entered for the Irish Open Championship at Cork will leave Dublin for the South, in order to get in a round at Little Island prior to the International match with England on Monday. The bulk of the competitors, however, will not arrive at Cork until to-morrow, the Southern England section leaving in the morning by the 9 a.m. from Kingsbridge, and the Northerners going on from Rosslare.

In golfing circles in England the English team for Monday, which includes four men who played against America last year, is considered a powerful combination, and the selection of several new to International golf has given general satisfaction. It should be a most interesting match, and may be much closer than local golfers think it will be.

Everything is in readiness at Little Island for Cork's most important golfing week. The course was never in such splendid condition, and should the weather continue in its present genial mood it is likely that the record breaking will begin early. The holder, E. W. Kenyon, who set up a course record at North Manchester this week, is favourite for the title, but he will have to fight hard to retain it in such a representative field.

The order of starting for Tuesday was published yesterday, and the order for Wednesday is:—

LONDON JOURNALIST'S TRIBUTE TO IRISHMEN.

Mr. F. J. C. Pignon, the well-known London golf journalist, who accompanied the British team of professionals to the United States as manager, writing in yesterday's Daily Mail, paid a striking tribute to Irish golf and golfers, and the Irish Open Championship Committee in particular. Mr. Pignon has reported the championship and other important tournaments in Great Britain, Ireland, America, France, Germany and Belgium, and written voluminously of the game for the British golfing Press, and his references to Irish golf thus carry considerable weight.

"The Open Golf Championship of Ireland," he says "will be played at Cork next week, and yet another step towards the ambition of all Irish golfers, which is to get a place on the rota of championship courses for the Open or Amateur Championship, will have been made. The British Women's Championship has been played in Ireland, but neither of the two men's events. That has been the aim of Irish golfers for many years, and it is worth the consideration of the authorities.

"There seems to be no reason why Ireland should not be included in the British Championship rota. There are Irish courses which compare very favourably with the championship links in England and Scotland. In the matter of organisation Ireland has nothing to learn. I know of no championships in the world where competitors are better looked after

"DESERVES OFFICAL RECOGNITION."

"The organisers, ... conduct the play in the strictest interpretation of the rules of the game, and control the crowds admirably. They have such a strict regard for fairness that they refuse even to consider the weather. I recall that the most remarkable championship ever played, so far as weather conditions are concerned, was the first Irish Open Championship at Portmarnock in 1927.

"Ireland has done, and is doing, a great deal for the game, and deserves official recognition in the British Championship rota . . . There is no reason why the British Open Championship should not be taken to Ireland; for if such a distinguished company of professionals will make the journey for the prizes, and comparatively lesser honour, they would go there for the Open Championship—and the British Open is to all intents and purposes a professional event."

IRISH GOLFER IN LAST EIGHT AT HAMBURG.

An Irishman is one of the last eight in the German Open Amateur Championship—Vincent Carroll, of Dundalk and Portmarnock. In the first round, yesterday, he beat Carlos Pani (Hamburg), 4 and 3, and in the afternoon put out S. Samek (Wannsee), 4 and 2, thus qualifying to meet Brigadier-General Critchley in the third round to-day. Five British players, including A. C. McNair (St. George's Hill), Lieutenant-Colonel Moore-Brabazon (Royal St. George's), and General Critchley and two Germans, with Vincent Carroll, make up the last eight.

ATHLETICS.

WORLD RECORDS EQUALLED.

A MINOR OLYMPIAD AT CHICAGO.

CHICAGO, Friday.

THE high quality of athletics produced at the Olympic Games, when more than twenty world's records were broken, were served up at a meeting here yesterday, in which a large number of Olympic competitors participated. Three world's records for men were equalled, and two women's records beaten.

A notable feature of the meeting was the return clash of Ralpy Hill and the Finn, Lauri Lehtinen, the two runners concerned in the incident connected with the 5,000 metres race in the Olympic Games, when the Finn, who gained a narrow victory, was alleged to have used foul tactics. Neither of them won on this occasion, however, the winner being Kuscoginski, of Poland, who won the Olympic 10,000 metres title. Hill finished second in 14 mins. 59 9-10 secs., while Lehtinen dropped out soon after the half distance.

The negro crack, Ralpy Metcalfe, equalled world's record by winning the 100 metres in 10 3-10 secs. from Borchmeyer (Germany), who later won the 200 metres event in 21 2-10 secs., which also equals world's record time.

OLYMPIC TIME BEATEN.

The 800 metres was won by Phil Edwards, the coloured Canadian, who finished second to Tommy Hampson in the Olympic Games. Dr. Otto Peltzer, an Olympic finalist, finished second to Edwards, whose time was 1 min. 55 4-10 secs.

Percy Beard, who finished second to Saling in the Olympic final of the 110 yards hurdles, equalled world's record for this event yesterday by winning in 14 4-10 secs., or 2-10 secs. faster than the time which earned Saling the Olympic title. The 400 metres hurdles was won by the Italian, Facelli, in 52 5-10 secs.

Miss Stella Walsh, of Poland, who won the Olympic 100 metres title in world's record time, set up another world's record by winning the women's 200 metres in 24 1-10 secs., and another Polish woman set up a world record in the discus event, Mlle. Wajsowna accomplishing a throw of 137 ft. 3½ ins. The women's 80 metres hurdles was won by Miss A. Wilson in 12 1-10 secs.

SPAIN'S WAY WITH REBELS.

PRISON AND SEIZURE OF ESTATES.

From Reuter's Correspondent.

MADRID, Friday.

The Spanish Government is taking active steps to deal with aristocrats involved in the recent Monarchist rising, and the passing of the "Monarchist Rebels Expropriation Bill" by the Cortes in the early hours of this morning was followed by the detention of three important noblemen—the Duke of Santa Cristina, the Marquis Semment and Count Altamira.

It is impossible as yet to say what will be the result of the Expropriation Bill, which, besides being a form of punishment, is also part of a constructive plan; for the estates appropriated will form the basis of the agrarian reform scheme which the Government has been planning, and for which it would otherwise have been necessary to purchase new land.

It appears probable that as the result of the bill many hundreds of thousands of acres of land, together with valuable water rights and other dues owned by many of Spain's wealthiest noblemen and landowners, who are at present in prison, will become the property of the State.

The Duke of Medinaceli, bearer of one of the most ancient titles in the country, alone possesses over 200,000 acres of land, which he may now forfeit. The actual extent of the expropriation, however, is dependent on the results of the investigation which is being carried on into the responsibility for the Monarchist plot.

The new measure is designed to affect all property outside municipal limits belonging to those who are found guilty of having been implicated in the rising. The owners will only have the right to apply for an allowance sufficient for their bare existence, and then only if they can prove that the estates seized provided their sole income. The right of appeal is allowed.

Priests' Escape when 'Plane Crashes.

From Our Own Correspondent.

WATERFORD, Friday.

Two priests, who were passengers, and a pilot, had a narrow escape when a pleasure 'plane crashed at Tramore strand this evening. The 'plane was in the act of rising when the engine appeared to stop. The pilot tried to make a forced landing, but the machine nose-dived into the mud on the strand, and was badly damaged.

The Court of Criminal Appeal, London, yesterday, allowed their appeals, and set free Horace Ralph Loveday, aged seventeen, and Albert Charles Smith, aged eighteen, who had each been sentenced by the Recorder at Norwich City Sessions to three years' confinement in a Borstal institution on a charge of housebreaking.

TOURING SIDE COMPLETE

MITCHELL REPLACES ROBINS. STRONG BOWLING.

THE M.C.C. Selection Committee having announced yesterday that T. B. Mitchell, the Derbyshire slow bowler, has been invited to fill the place left vacant through the inability of R. W. V. Robins to make one of the side, the team going out to Australia next month is now complete. The players chosen for the undertaking are:—

D. R. Jardine (Surrey) (captain).
H. Sutcliffe (Yorkshire).
M. W. Tate (Sussex).
W. Hammond (Gloucestershire).
L. E. G. Ames (Kent).
G. Duckworth (Lancashire).
M. Leyland (Yorkshire).
H. Larwood (Notts).
R. E. S. Wyatt (Warwickshire).
K. S. Duleepsinhji (Sussex).
Nawab of Pataudi (Worcestershire).
F. R. Brown (Surrey).
G. O. Allen (Middlesex).
W. Voce (Notts).
H. Verity (Yorkshire).
T. B. Mitchell (Derbyshire).

Of these sixteen men, the first eight were members of the side which, led by A. P. F. Chapman, four years ago, won the first four of the five Test matches and lost the last. Sutcliffe and Tate are paying their third visit to Australia.

As finally constituted, the side includes eight first-class batsmen and six others who are likely run-getters, the only men without reputations as batsmen being Duckworth and Mitchell, and of these two Duckworth commands a defence of some quality.

The outstanding feature of the team is the number of bowlers selected for the tour. In all there are ten men accustomed to bowling in first-class cricket—Larwood and Allen (fast), Tate and Voce (fast medium), Hammond and Wyatt (medium), and Brown, Verity, Mitchell and Leyland (slow). Further variety is introduced into the attack by the fact that Voce, Verity and Leyland are all left-handed, so that England's bowling will be far from stereotyped in point of style.

GOOD START BY LEINSTER.

Phœnix opened a two-day fixture with Leinster in the Phœnix Park yesterday. Leinster, who were without N. H. Lambert, J. C. Shires and J. B. Ganly, won the toss, and started batting on an excellent wicket with F. G. Connell and R. L. Cunningham, to the bowling of T. H. Dixon and Ruddle. Runs came steadily, and at 20 Boucher went on for Ruddle, and then J. P. Pigot relieved Dixon. At 67 Cunningham got leg before to Boucher when 26 (4 fours), and Ingram was in and out for a single.

Connell and Bookman sent up the century after an hour and a quarter, and Dixon, going on again, bowled Connell, who had batted eighty minutes for a sound 46, 5 fours, the third wicket falling at 111. Hamilton, Lambert and Bookman scored freely, despite bowling changes, and put on 64 for the fourth wicket, when Lambert was taken behind the sticks with 33 to his credit (4 fours), the fourth wicket falling at 165 after the innings had lasted two hours. Whiteside failed to score, but Bookman and Hill were together when play ceased. Score:—

FINANCIAL NEWS AND NOTES

TONE AND COMMENT

DUBLIN STEADY.

RISE IN BANK STOCK.

Dublin Stock Market closed the old account in fairly steady fashion. There were some wide price movements in both directions, but on the whole the undertone was not dull. Free State Funds were almost unchanged, and Land Bonds improved. British Funds reflected the weakness in London, with War Loan Assented down to 98½.

Dublin New 5 p.c. lost ½ at 106⅞.

The Bank section was very firm. Bank Stock gained five points at 265, and in other cases support was forthcoming at last prices.

Among Rails, the feature was a drop of 3 points in Great Northern Debs. to 49. Grand Canal Ord. fell heavily to 40s. ex. d., a drop of over 20s. Cables Stocks rose all round, following the improvement in London.

Alliance Gas lost five shillings at 10½. Inglis £1 Ord. shares came to business at £5.

The Industrial section was firm, with Unilevers, Imperial Tobacco, Chemicals and Dunlops all at higher levels. Among local securities Dockrell Pref. and Williams (H.) rose sharply.

The Stock Market will be closed to-day (Saturday).

LONDON RALLIES.

MANY SUBSTANTIAL GAINS.

Yesterday was the last day of the mid-August account, and, with attention principally directed to the arrangement of preliminaries in connection with the carry over, rather quiet conditions prevailed. The undertone, however, was very firm, and the bulk of the movements resulting from the day's business was favourable to holders, the advances in a number of instances being of quite substantial amounts. The outstanding feature was provided by Argentine Rails, which were marked forward on the news that the Argentine Government is to take steps to combat the effects of road competition. At the close the junior stocks showed advances ranging up to 2½ points, while the prior charges were put one to two points firmer. The trans-Atlantic issues made a good showing following the improvement on Wall street overnight, while many of the home Industrials reached higher levels. Textiles, on the other hand, moved irregularly, and Pinchin Johnson were depressed on dividend fears. In other directions, Oils attracted an active business, and, although they failed to hold the best levels, some appreciable advances wree shown at the end. Mines also developed a firmer appearance, Kaffirs advancing on Cape support, while some of the Rhodesians went forward.

Quiet conditions again characterised the gilt-edged market, and profit-taking continued to exercise an adverse influence, the closing levels mostly showing fractional recessions on the day. War Loan 5 per cent. Assented lost fresh ground, being ½ lower to 98½ at the close, but Victory Bonds gained the turn at 106⅜. Very little business was transacted in Foreign Government Stocks, and quotations showed little variation from Thursday's closing levels. British Rails also attracted but scanty attention. The tone, however, kept steady at the reduced levels. Among Colonial and Foreign Rails, the Argentine descriptions, as mentioned above, provided an outstanding feature of strength, and values appreciated sharply. "Bags." finished 1½ points better, with B.A. Pacific and Western each a full point harder, while Central Argentine Ord. and Entre Rios Ord. were each 2 points to the good. Canadian Pacifics rallied sharply and more than recovered the previous day's loss, closing 1 11/16 points higher at 20¼. A firm tone characterised American Rails, and, under the lead of Southern Pacific, which closed 4 points firmer, prices strengthened all round.

When bailiffs went to carry out an ejectment order at a house on the L.C.C. estate at Dagenham, Essex, yesterday they were confronted by six men armed with sticks. The bailiffs called for the police, who drew their truncheons, three of the six men being slightly injured.

THE INDUSTRIAL MARKET.

BREWERIES CONTINUE GOOD.

As was only to be expected on the last day of the account, trading among Industrials was of modest dimensions. Dealers were chiefly occupied with the preliminary arrangements for the carry-over. The general tone, however, was brighter. Although moving in irregular fashion at times the Trans-Atlantic counters were seen to advance, and finished with a fairly firm appearance after a good turn-over. Nickels strengthened to 12⅛, closing at 11⅞. Radios were finally 12⅞, after 13¼; U.S. Steel at 59, after touching 61, and Drug Incorporated at 60. Hydros showed little variation at 8⅞. "Emmies" rose to 15s. 6d. during the afternoon, but profit-taking caused a reaction in the late dealings at 14s. 9d.

Cables and Wireless stocks were subject to "bear" covering operations, and the Pref. finished ½ higher on balance at 66½, with the "A" Ord. ½ up at 23¼, after being 23⅜.

Motor shares generally presented a firmer front; Dennis recovered 9d. to 12s. 6d., and Thomas Tilling a similar amount to 56s. 3d., while Leylands strengthened to 25s. 6d.

The best showing was again made by Breweries, in response to the rising temperature. Ind Coope continued prominent, and closed 2s. 3d. higher at 48s. 3d., with Bass, Ratcliff marked up 1s. 9d. to 53s. 6d., while gains of 1s. were recorded by Hoare Ord. at 48s. 6d., and Watney Defd. at 44s. 6d. Guinness units at 78s. 6d. were 6d. better.

There was not a great deal of fresh business passing among the leading Tobacco shares, which closed around the overnight levels.

The uncertain labour outlook in the Lancashire cotton industry continued a restraining influence in the Textile section. Bradford Dyers, Calico Printers, Sewing Cottons and Patons and Baldwins found supporters, but Bleachers, Fine Spinners, William Hollins and J. and P. Coats all lost ground, the last-named declining 7½d. to 45s. 7½d.

Rayons showed little variation throughout, Courtaulds remaining around the overnight level.

Catering and Provision issues were fairly well maintained. H.P. Sauce found favour at 5 7/16, Tate and Lyle at 50s., and Unilever at 1 19/32, the last-named on further support from Amsterdam. On the other hand, Home and Colonial Stores and United Dairies finished on the dull side.

In the Miscellaneous group, Dunlops received further support, buying for new account carrying them up to 15s. at one time before they finished with a rise of a few pence at 14s. 9d. Spillers at 41s. 7½d. and the Defd. at 27s. 9d. also showed moderate recoveries, while improvements of a few pence took place in British Match, British Cements, Chemicals, Swedish Match and Molasses. Spratt's Patent advanced 1/16 to 3.

OIL SHARES FIRM.

Following the improvement which was witnessed on Thursday afternoon, the Oil Share market opened with a distinctly firm appearance yesterday, although there was, perhaps, slightly less business passing than in the earlier days of the week. Dealers reported quite a good turnover, especially for the last day of the account, a hard tone prevailing throughout. There was some selling for cash, especially of Lobitos and Phœnix, but the shares were all taken quite easily. At the close the bulk of the movements were again in the right direction.

RUBBER SHARES NEGLECTED.

The Rubber Share Market remained in a state of almost complete inanition yesterday, but share values were mostly well maintained, the steady tone apparent in the commodity market exercising a beneficial influence at the close. Share quotations, with a couple of minor exceptions, were repeated at Thursday's closing levels. In the raw material department a fair demand was met, and a steady tone ruled. Spot and September sold at 2 11/16d. per lb., with October to December fetching 2¾d. per lb., January to March 2 13/16d. to 2 27/32d. per lb., and April to June 2⅞d. to 2 29/32d. per lb. It is expected that London stocks of rubber on Monday next will show a further contraction of some 750 tons, whilst Liverpool stocks may be reduced by something like 300 tons.

DIVIDENDS AND REPORTS.

BROKEN HILL PROP.—A cable from the head office of the Broken Hill Proprietary Company reads:—"The 80th report, for the year ended May 31 last, states that the difficult conditions referred to in the last report continued throughout the year. During the first half of the period a still further decline occurred in orders, but this was offset to some extent by improvement in the second half. Rigid economies continued throughout, and are more fully reflected in this year's results. Aggregate tonnages produced have not been equal to the previous twelve months. Total production of pig iron, 165,563 tons; and steel, 195,110 tons. Net profit for the year was £103,720, against £83,257, after providing £252,990 for depreciation and £47,419 for Debenture interest. After due provision for all outstanding liabilities there remain liquid assets of £625,648 in cash and other convertible stocks, which, however, does not include interests in other companies, but is inclusive of reserve and insurance funds. No. 2 battery—New coke ovens on reduced output throughout the year and greatly assisted towards results obtained."

LONDON MINING MARKET FIRM.

FURTHER DEMAND FOR WILUNAS.

As far as the Mining Market was concerned, the account came to an end yesterday in promising fashion, a minor, but distinct, reversal of the previously dull tendency taking place. The change of trend appeared to be largely due to a recovery in the Metal Market, where tin, copper, lead, and spelter all closed higher on balance.

The outstanding section, from the point of view of the volume of trading, was again the Kaffir department. The Cape was a buyer of a number of issues, including East Rand, West Rand, Nourse, Durban Deep, and Randfontein, and prices stiffened. Paris was quiet, but a buyer when it took any interest at all. Continental purchases helped De Beers issues.

Although the price of copper rose to £31 13s. 9d. per ton and New York was firm, Rhodesian Copper shares moved very little. Tin recovered to £142 7s. 6d. per ton, but the share market remained quiet. The tone kept fairly firm, although a few issues came on offer.

Commonwealth attentions to West Australians consisted of the purchase of a few Lake View and Star, which again hardened a trifle. The feature in this section was a further demand for Wilunas, and, the available supply of the shares being small, the price quickly advanced. Closing prices:—

YORK STREET FLAX-SPINNING COMPANY.

The forty-fourth annual meeting of the York Street Flax-Spinning Company, Limited, was held yesterday in the offices, Henry street, Belfast. The directors, in presenting their forty-fourth annual report, stated that the profits for the year ended 30th June last amounted to £15,536. Add amounts previously provided for income tax and Russian debts, no longer required (£9,273), and amount previously written off shares in subsidiary companies, not now necessary (£3,918); making a total of £28,728. Interest on Debenture stock accrued to date and paid took £11,250, depreciation of plant and machinery (provision for the year) £25,000, and directors' remuneration, auditors' fees and sundry expenses, £1,146, making £37,396, and leaving a debit of £8,667. The debit balance from last profit and loss account was £102,644, thus leaving to be carried to debit of new profit and loss account £111,311. The directors reported that, while the abandonment of the gold standard gave a considerable stimulus to business locally for a few months, the effect of this soon passed away. Until world conditions show decided improvement, better results can hardly be expected. Meanwhile the interests of the company are fully protected by the large amount of liquid capital ready for use on the first signs of improving trade. The retiring directors, the Right Hon. Sir Thomas J. Dixon and William Chaine, Esq., were re-elected. Messrs. Ashworth, Rowan and Company, the company's auditors, were also re-appointed.

FINANCIAL PARAGRAPHS.

FIGHTING THE DEPRESSION.

With America's latest scheme to take the depression in hand the idea of eliminating the undisposed surplus of raw materials is on the way to being realised (says a Reuter's New York message). The organisation and operating plan of the "Commodities Finance Corporation," designed to furnish credit for the movement of commodities from producers to manufacturers, was announced by Mr. Mortimer N. Buckner, the banker. The announcement followed a meeting of prominent New York bankers, who will be asked to subscribe 50,000,000 dollars against notes issued by the Corporation. The Corporation will make loans to consumers of raw materials to finance the purchase of stocks for manufacturing purposes, and at the same time to remove the surpluses of cotton or wheat held by the Federal Farm Board.

FUTURE OF INTEREST RATES.

"With the restoration of British financial prestige, which now stands, in contrast with that of its chief rivals, higher than ever before in living memory, it may surely be contended that 3½ per cent. is not the summit of Treasury ambition, and that British credit may fairly expect to return to a 3 per cent. basis, dragging the general rate down with it, for solvent and honest borrowers." This remark appears in an article on the future of interest rates in the Quarterly Review of J. Henry Schröder and Co." "Against this view," the article continues, "there is the fact that would-be borrowers will be plentiful, but, on the other hand, it is to be feared that not many of them will be able to satisfy the fastidiousness of investors who, after the grim lessons of the last three years, will regard all loan offers with what Sheridan called a 'damn'd disinheriting countenance.'"

STEEL SLEEPERS FOR SOUTH AFRICA.

A contract placed a fortnight ago with the United Steel Companies (Workington Iron and Steel Branch) for 100,000 steel sleepers required for use with 80lb. steel rails for the Union of South Africa Railways and Harbours Administration, has (says Modern Transport) now been increased to 150,000 sleepers. The contracts for the auxiliary fittings required in connection with the use of these 150,000 sleepers have been awarded as follow:—Messrs. Charles Richards and Sons, of Darlaston (Staffs.), 630,000 sleeper bolts; and the Tees-side Bridge and Engineering Works, Middlesbrough, 315,000 sleeper clips.

NEW PLANS FOR SWEDISH MATCH.

The Evening Standard is informed that plans for the re-organisation of the Swedish Match Company are now approaching completion. A special Committee is engaged in Stockholm in drawing up a scheme which will preserve the business and goodwill of this £20,000,000 manufacturing company. Representing British interests in Stockholm are Sir Arthur Worley, Chairman of the London Protective Committee, and Mr. Bartholomew, of Bryant and May. On behalf of Sweden, there are in attendance Director Prytz, until recently of the Swedish Commercial Bank; Director Wallenberg, of the Stockholm Private Bank, and a lawyer, Axel Frossman. There are also representatives of American and French Banking creditors of the company and of the Irving Trust Company, acting for the now defunct International Match Corporation. In the hands of the Committee is a fact-finding report prepared after exhaustive investigations by Price, Waterhouse and Co., the London firm of chartered accountants. In the City it is now recognised that the position of the Swedish Match Company is entangled with the remainder of the Kreuger group, but hopes are entertained that the framework of the match business will be maintained. Creditors have agreed to a moratorium lasting until the end of this month, and it is believed that under new management the company will be able to continue its manufacturing operations. Under the Kreuger régime the Swedish Match Company operated match factories all over the world, and had monopolies in nearly a score of countries. Many of these monopolies are now in question. In 1929 the £18,000,000 of nominal capital of the Swedish Match Company was valued in the market at close on £100,000,000. At the lowest point this year the valuation stood at a mere £600,000. Even the recovery in the "B" shares from 3s. 3d. to 11s. 6d., in which British investors are substantially interested, means only a recovery to £2,000,000.

BIG DROP IN FRENCH EXPORTS.

FROM REUTER'S CORRESPONDENT.

PARIS, Friday.

A decline of nearly forty per cent. in France's exports since last year is revealed in the figures for the first seven months of 1932 issued to-day. The value of the exports this year was 11,512,205,000 francs, as compared with 18,654,362,000 francs for the first seven months of 1931. This is a drop of 7,142,157,000 francs.

Imports show a decline of nearly one-third. For the first seven months of 1932 the figure was 17,667,082,000 francs, compared with 26,837,817,000 francs during the corresponding period last year, this being a drop of 9,170,755,000 francs.

BRAZIL CUSTOMS DUTY "CUT."

FROM REUTER'S CORRESPONDENT.

RIO DE JANEIRO, Friday.

A reduction of 50 per cent. was decreed to-day in the Customs duties on various articles, including cement, copper wire, aluminium sheeting and fine jute for weaving.

A verdict of suicide, with no evidence to show the state of his mind, was recorded at a Woking inquest yesterday on Private William Edward Bartlett, aged 21, of the 2nd Battalion Royal Warwickshire Regiment, whose home is at Queen street, Sparkbrook, Birmingham, who was found shot through the head in a cubicle at the barracks at Woking on Wednesday morning. He had returned from leave the night previous to his death.

GREAT BRITAIN'S TRADE.

WHAT STATISTICS SHOW.

TENDENCY TO TRANSFER TO EMPIRE COUNTRIES.

FIGURES for the first half of this year of British trade, given in comparison with those for the corresponding period of 1931 and 1924, published in the current number of the British Trade Journal, reveal a tendency for British overseas trade to be transferred from foreign to Empire countries. This is particularly marked in imports, in which it is largely due to the reduction of manufactures and the increase in imports of food, drink and tobacco, and of raw materials.

The actual value of the imports consigned from British countries increased £126.6 millions in the first six months of 1931 to £130.4 millions in the first six months of the present year, while imports consigned from foreign countries declined from £291.2 millions to £229.5 millions. Compared with the first half of 1931, nearly every part of the British Empire increased its share of Britain's import trade. Australia, New Zealand and Canada showed large increases.

The proportion of Great Britain's domestic exports taken by Empire countries was also greater for the first half of this year than in the corresponding periods of 1924 and 1931, though the actual value of such exports consigned to Empire countries dropped from £87.3 millions in the first six months of 1931 to £83.8 millions in the first half of 1932. The principal Empire countries to increase their share of Great Britain's domestic export trade were Australia, India and the Irish Free State; but a large decrease was recorded in the case of Canada, and a decrease not quite so large in the case of the Union of South Africa.

BRITISH IMPORTS.

The figures for the first half of 1932 confirm the decline in the proportion of British imports from Europe. After successive increases during the first six months of the years 1929 to 1931 from 36.48 per cent. to 44.21 per cent., the proportion fell this year to 36.78 per cent. As compared with the first half of last year, substantial decreases took place in the proportions of imports from Germany, France, Belgium, the Netherlands, the Soviet Union, and Switzerland, while increases to a smaller degree were recorded by the Scandinavian countries and the Succession States.

Of the self-governing Dominions, the best seller to Great Britain was Australia, which supplied 7.40 per cent. of the imports for the first half of 1932. New Zealand came second with 6.70 per cent., Canada third with 4.81 per cent., and the Irish Free State fourth with 4.03 per cent. The imports from India amounted to 4.07. In all, the Empire countries supplied 36.23 per cent. of the six months' imports. Of the foreign countries, the United States heads the list with 12.01 per cent. of the total 63.77 per cent. of the import trade. Argentina came second with 7.55, Denmark third with 5.54 per cent., and Germany fourth with 4.15 per cent.

It is interesting to note that the imports into Great Britain of trade from the Irish Free State for the first half of this year represented only 4.03 per cent. of Britain's total imports, and this percentage was slightly higher than for the corresponding periods in 1924 and 1931, when the Free State's percentage was 3.81 and 3.99 per cent. of the volume of trade. The Free State occupies ninth place on the list of countries from which Britain imported goods, etc.

EXPORT TRADE.

Generally the proportion of the exports of British products consigned to Europe was slightly more in the first six months of this year than in the corresponding period of 1931, but showed a substantial increase compared with the first half of 1924. The most important increases were recorded with the Soviet Union, the Irish Free State and Denmark, while the proportions taken by France and Germany were much smaller than last year.

The Irish Free State was Britain's second best market, with 8.27 per cent. of the export trade, being exceeded only by India, which took 9.40 per cent. of the total trade; while France was the third best buyer, taking 4.97 per cent. of the trade.

In view of the proceedings at Ottawa the following table of the export trade done by Great Britain with self-governing Dominions is informative:—

Irish Free State	8.27 per cent.
Australia	4.70 "
Union of South Africa	4.62 "
Canada	4.22 "
New Zealand	2.58 "
Newfoundland	0.12 "
INDIA	9.40 per cent.

RE-EXPORTS.

Europe's large share of Great Britain's re-export trade increased from 73.02 per cent. in the first half of 1924 to 75.41 per cent. in the corresponding period of 1931, and to 78.80 per cent. in the first half of 1932. Although her proportion dropped slightly in the first six months of this year Germany continued to take the largest individual share (22.32 per cent.). Other countries in Europe taking large shares were France (16.78 per cent.), the Irish Free State (11.94 per cent.) and Belgium (8.39 per cent.).

THE MONEY MARKET

DEARER GOVERNMENT BORROWING.

Applications were received at the Bank yesterday for £45,000,000 Treasury bills. Tenders dated Monday to Friday of next week at £99 17s. 1d. get about 72 per cent., above in full. The average rate indicated is just over 9/16 per cent., as compared with 11/16 per cent. last week.

Credit remained in ample supply again yesterday, with loans until to-day freely offering at ½ per cent.

The tendency of Discounts was a little firmer on the Treasury bill results. Fine three months' bills were quoted at 11/16, and the "hot" Treasuries were offering at ½. The banks were buyers of September and October bills at 9/16 per cent.

There was a good demand for silver on account of India, China, and America, and the price rose 5/16d. to 18¼d. per oz. for spot and 18 3/16d. for forward delivery. Gold was quoted 3d. higher at 118s. 10d. per oz. fine. About £80,000 was in the market, and was taken for the Continent.

Movements in the Foreign Exchange Market yesterday were not large, but the tendency was again slightly adverse to sterling. Dollars were finally ½ dearer at 3.47⅛. The Canadian dollar appreciated by 1½ to 3.97¾. Among the European exchanges, the franc improved by 3/16 to 88 11/32. The Swiss franc was 2 dearer at 17.80½, and the Italian lira improved by ⅛ lira to 67⅝. South American currencies remained a nominal market, but in the Far Eastern section the Japanese yen was ¾ cheaper at 15⅞.

IN THE NORTHERN CAPITAL.

Motor Week : Bangor's Enterprise : Empire Buying, A Gayer Belfast : Prospective Rate Increase. Road and Rail Transport.

FROM OUR SPECIAL CORRESPONDENT.

BELFAST, Friday.

THE Motor Week events have monopolised public interest not only in Belfast, but in the greater portion of Northern Ireland. We are now looking forward to the T.T. Race, which takes place to-day, when record speeds are anticipated. To have a reasonable chance of winning cars will have to average a speed of nearly eighty-one miles an hour over the 410 miles of the race—the record established last year. The Ards circuit is thirteen and two-thirds miles, and on each circuit there are roughly ninety obstacles, such as bridges, level crossings, etc., to be negotiated, or a total of 2,700 in the thirty circuits. To negotiate these safely at an average of over eighty miles an hour will be a hair-raising performance.

BANGOR'S HARVEST.

Bangor, the pretty seaside resort at the entrance to Belfast Lough, has shown commendable enterprise in making the most of the Motor Week. It subscribed the prizes for the motor rally, and many thousands of visitors were attracted to the town to witness the termination of the race and the checking in of the competitors. The town was also selected as the venue for the Concours d'Elegance. The many thousands of visitors in Bangor at present from the Free State, Scotland, Lancashire, and the North of England generally are pleased with the attractions which the town has to offer, and which this week include the annual Flower Show.

BELFAST'S DECORATIONS.

It was an excellent idea to make the Belfast Empire Week coincide with the Motor Week, and so bring prominently before visitors the attractiveness of local and Empire manufactured goods and products. At the request of the Lord Mayor flags and bunting were displayed in many of the city shops, giving the city a gala appearance. In the matter of decorations, however, Belfast has not been able to approach the displays in Dublin, and many citizens feel that something should be organised on a more comprehensive scale for public events in Belfast. What is to prevent the Belfast Electricity Department from acquiring the necessary material to illuminate the main streets with thousands of multi-coloured lights?

LIKELY RATE INCREASE.

Belfast is faced with the possibility of an increase of 1s. 6d. or 2s. in the £ in the city rates next year. The serious drain upon the rates to meet the demands of the Board of Guardians in respect of exceptional distress amongst the unemployed is the main factor that is upsetting the financial calculations of the Corporation's Finance Committee. It was calculated that this would involve an expenditure of about £80,000 per annum, but, to judge from the rate of expenditure for the past six weeks, this sum is likely to be increased to between £100,000 and £150,000 before the end of the financial year as more unemployed shipyard and other workers exhaust their unemployment benefit and become available for distress relief. To meet this increased expenditure the three principal trading departments of the Corporation—the tramways, electricity and gas—contribute £32,000, and it is hoped to make good the balance or a considerable portion of it by reductions in Corporation salaries and wages.

THE ELUSIVE HERRING.

Those engaged in the Northern herring fishing have not had a good season up to the present, and the herring is once again demonstrating its erratic and elusive ways. It is well known that herring will consistently haunt certain waters in large shoals and suddenly disappear for many years, to reappear later when all hope of their return has been abandoned. The coast between Donegal and Tory Island was noted for many years for its herring harvests, but this season scarcely any herring have appeared. On the other hand, the herring reappeared on the Co. Louth and Dublin coasts last week after poor seasons for half a century. Seagulls are the great friends of the herring fishers, and help them to locate the shoals. "Where many gulls are gathered there will the fish be found," is a well-known saying among Northern fishermen.

The fact that thousands of seagulls are now finding an easy "feeding ground" upon the reclaimed land at Belfast Harbour may have something to do with the difficulty of locating the herring shoals. Many believe that, if these gulls had to hunt for their food by hovering over the herring shoals, it would be much easier for the herring fishing boats to secure remunerative returns. The point is one worth considering to see if anything can be done to make these useful birds return to their natural occupation. Last year 43,013 cwt. of herring were landed at Northern Ireland ports, valued at £25,677; but it is anticipated that there will be a decline this year in both quantity and value.

BETTING LAW FINES.

Considerable controversy is proceeding in the local Press regarding the administration of the betting law in Belfast. This has been raised by the weekly procession of representatives of bookmakers into the dock of the Belfast Police Court, where fines ranging from 1s. to 5s. are imposed, almost automatically, for offences under the betting law, chiefly for keeping premises for the purpose of betting. Two views are put forward: (1) that these nominal fines for recurring offences against the law tend to bring the law into contempt; and (2) that these prosecutions are in the nature of persecution and should be abandoned. There are also complaints that magistrates attend on these particular days for the purpose of imposing nominal fines, and generally that magistrates allow their personal views to interfere with the administration of the law.

The Northern Ireland Magistrates' Association, of which the Lord Chief Justice is president, and Sir Robert Kennedy, K.C.M.G., is chairman, have pointed out that "it is clearly the duty of every magistrate to enforce the existing laws, and that the duty of amending any law belongs to Parliament alone," and they quote a former President of the United States (Mr. Grant), who once declared: "I know of no method to secure the repeal of bad or obnoxious laws so effectual as their strict construction." Should the present methods continue, it is not improbable that the Northern Government may be forced by public opinion to take the administration of the betting laws from the ordinary magistrates and reserve it for Resident Magistrates, as in the case of licensing laws and motor offences.

ROAD AND RAIL TRANSPORT.

The report of the Road-Rail Committee in Great Britain, which has just been published, which recommends drastic increases in the taxation of heavy motor vehicles, has been read with much interest in Northern Ireland by railway shareholders and heavy motor vehicle users. Northern Ireland is ahead of Great Britain in road transport legislation, and was the first area in these islands to adopt a system of regulating motor omnibus traffic, and the fixing of stages and fares by a Motor Fares Tribunal. In addition, the Northern Parliament, recognising the severe damage done to the roads by heavy motor lorries, has imposed a higher rate of duty upon such vehicles than has operated up to the present in Great Britain.

If the new scales suggested for Great Britain are adopted, they will be higher in some respects than those in Northern Ireland, and it is not improbable that there may be an increase in heavy lorry duties in the North. The suggestion that certain types of heavy goods traffic should be prohibited upon the roads is one that has been discussed in Northern Ireland, and this principle may also be extended. It is recognised that the roads were never intended to carry heavy traffic, such as bricks, coal, iron and cement, and that these should be diverted to the railways where a railway is available.

FATAL SEARCH FOR SMUGGLERS' CAVE.

BOY KILLED ON WELSH CLIFFS.

A search for a smugglers' cave, which ended in the death of a boy, was described to the Gower (Glamorgan) Coroner at an inquest yesterday on Clifford George Wilson, aged 17, a student, of Cheyne Walk, Croydon.

Miss Harriet Joan Sadler, of Mulgrave road, Croydon, said that she went on holiday with George Wilson, his sister, Margaret, and a young man named William Agace, who was now in hospital. They went for a bathe on the Gower coast, and on the way back they walked in single file along the path at the top of the cliff, with the object of visiting an old smugglers' cave. She herself led the way, and was followed by Margaret, and the boys came behind. She shouted to them to go back, as it was dangerous. The two boys, however, were already in difficulties. They slid a coupe of feet, and then seemed to fall out into space. The drop was about fifty feet.

James Poole stated that the two girls came to him in a state of alarm. He descended the cliff, and found the boy Wilson dead, and the other youth close by. Agace, who was still conscious, asked him to look after his friend first. Wilson's head was lying in a crevice between two jagged rocks.

Harold Rees, a seaman, made a cradle with rope, and they raised the body to the summit of the cliff.

The Coroner recorded a verdict of accidental death.

FORMER AUSTRIAN CHANCELLOR.

DEATH OF DR. JOHANN SCHOBER

FROM REUTER'S CORRESPONDENT.

VIENNA, Friday.

Dr. Johann Schober, former Austrian Federal Chancellor, died at 10 o'clock this evening. His death, which occurred from heart failure, was very sudden, although he has been ill for a considerable period.

It was thought that the former Chancellor was making satisfactory progress, and only this evening he had a conversation with Herr Strassner, the Pan-German leader, during which the possibility of Dr. Schober's return to Parliament before long was discussed.

Price of Pigs.—At Tipperary quotations were 35s. per cwt., live-weight; last week's price was 36s. At Inistiogue, fat pigs sold at 45s. per cwt., an increase of 3s.

Cyclists will cover the fourth stage and give the staff to fast runners for the final dash.

Immense local interest is being taken in the race.

FREE MILK

TO NECESSITOUS CHILDREN.

Mr. E. J. Casey, hon. secretary of the Dublin Wholesale and Retail Milk Vendors' Association, writes on the subject of free milk to necessitous children:—"With reference to the above, I am desired to point out that the Milk Vendors' Association would consider it most unfair if any attempt were made to deprive them of their fair share of the distribution of milk under the grant. We contend that by utilising the machinery provided by the existing registered distributors who are situated all over the city, not only will the poor be supplied at the lowest possible price, and with a minimum of inconvenience, but milk will be supplied which we are willing to submit to any reasonable test for hygienic purity.

"The registered dairies have suffered their share of the prevailing depression in trade. They employ labour, pay stiff rents and rates, and in other ways are under considerable expense. In recent interviews with the Minister for Local Government, and the Board of Assistance, they suggested that the distribution be carried out by means of tickets issued to deserving cases, such tickets to be supplied only by registered dairymen. The Association is, however, prepared to fall in with any alternative method which will not deprive them of a large share of their trade.

"The Vendors' Association is satisfied that while it is essential that milk of good quality be supplied, the interests of the poor will not be best served by limiting the area from which supplies are drawn or otherwise giving what would amount to a monopoly to any particular class of producers or distributors. They emphatically claim that every milk trader who is properly equipped for the efficient handling of milk should get a fair show."

PROVISIONS.

LONDON.—BUTTER—Colonial descriptions ruled firm, with a good demand for New Zealand makes which are well cleared up. Australian, however, moved off quietly, while in larger supply than usual at this period of the year. There is a wider margin between the prices of New Zealand and Australian than for some time past. Argentine, Baltic and Siberian qualities experience a dragging sale, as the total supplies are in excess of demand, and with stocks increasing lower prices are being taken in order to effect sales. The market for Continental descriptions proved very irregular, owing to rapid fluctuations in Danish quotations, which imparted an unsettling influence generally. Cold stored stocks of box butter are considerably lighter than at the same time in 1930-1931, but casks mostly from Baltic countries and Siberia have increased, and on August 6th totalled 197,493. Production in Australasia and Argentina is fully equal to previous years, and the quantity afloat from these countries shows an increase of about 4,000 tons compared with the corresponding period in 1931. The Danish output has been running between 6,000 to 8,000 casks weekly less than last season, but owing to the smaller European demand larger quantities are still being diverted to U.K. markets. Quotations:—New Zealand, finest salted 108/- to 111/-, do. unsalted 105/- to 110/-; Australian, finest salted 100/- to 103/-, do. unsalted 103/- to 108/-; Argentine finest unsalted 86/- up to 90/-; Danish 110/- to 112/-; Dutch creamery unsalted 104/- to 114/-; Estonian 88/- to 90/-; Latvian 88/- to 90/-; Lithuanian 86/- to 88/-; Siberian 85/- to 86/- per cwt. Dutch rolls 12/6 to 13/- per dozen lb. CHEESE—With reported dry weather, and consequent poorness of feed in Canada prices from that source have advanced considerably of late. New Zealand white is in limited supply and dearer on the week, but coloured comparatively quiet on about former terms. Canadian arrivals mark a substantial increase compared with last year. Quotations:—English farmers' ranges from 80/- to 110/-, loaf 90/- to 100/- per cwt.; Cheshire 9d. to 9¾d. per lb. Canadian coloured also white 60/- to 62/-; New Zealand coloured 56/- to 58/-, white 61/6 to 62/-; Australian, finest coloured 56/- to 57/-; South African coloured 55/-; Dutch Edam factory ranges from 33/- to 64/-; Gouda full cream 72/-, factory 36/- to 60/-; Cheddar shapes 52/- to 64/- per cwt.; Italian Gorgonzola 8¼d. to 9½d. per lb. BACON—A firm tone governed the market, demand being well sustained under a spell of fine weather. A feature of the market is the decreasing supplies when compared with receipts during the past twelve months, and with Danish killings running lighter the total arrivals are more easily absorbed. Officially quotations remained unaltered. Irish quoted 75/- to 88/-; Danish 66/- to 68/-; Swedish 65/- to 66/-; Dutch 52/- to 58/-; Polish 52/- to 57/-; Lithuanian 51/- to 58/-; Canadian 62/- to 64/- per cwt. Killings for the week:—Denmark, 116,922; Sweden, 7,795; Poland, 24,535; Lithuania, 3,260. HAMS—English in fair request at 112/- to 130/-, as to weight. American quietly steady. Short cut 66/- to 72/- per cwt. LARD firmer for American, but business restricted. American boxes 48/6 to 50/-, pails 54/6; cartons, 1lb. 53/-, ½lb. 55/-; Irish bladders 54/- to 68/-; Danish do. 52/-, boxes 42/-; Dutch refined boxes 45/- to 46/- per cwt. EGGS—Market fully steady, but business restricted, with ample supplies available. Quotations:—English national marked specials 16/-, standard 15/-, medium 13/-, pullets' 10/-, ordinary pack 13/- to 14/-; Northern Irish, 18lb. 14/9 to 15/-, 17lb. 14/- to 14/6, 15½lb. 13/- to 13/6, 14lb. 11/6 to 12/-, small 8/6 to 9/-; Danish ranges from 9/3 to 12/6; Swedish 9/- to 12/-; Dutch 9/3 to 13/9; Belgian 9/- to 12/6; Polish 5/7½ to 7/6; Lithuanian 7/- to 9/3; Chinese nominally 7/9 to 9/3 per 120.

LIVERPOOL—BACON—In the weekly revision of prices at Manchester no quotable change was made in values of Continental, and prices of all descriptions here are repeated in consequence. American and Canadian remains steady, and Irish quoted at open prices. Killings on the Continent for the past week show an increase, Danish being 117,000, against 114,000 for the previous. HAMS and shoulders quietly steady at late prices. LARD on the spot shows no quotable change in prime steam or American refined, with a fair inquiry reported for the latter. CHEESE steady, and in fair request at the recent advance. BUTTER generally steady, though Irish creameries are reduced 1/- to 108/- to 112/- per cwt. EGGS quiet, at 11/6 to 12/- per 120 for extra selected, 11/3 to 11/6 selected, and 9/6 to 10/- for medium, with duck eggs nominal.

MANCHESTER.—BUTTER — Danish official quotation wired five kroner lower; top now stands at 165 kroner per 100 kilos, against 170 previous week, and 218 kroner corresponding period last year. Spot market closed steady for all descriptions, with prices for Continental makes reduced, in sympathy with official quotation. Irish creameries firm on short supplies. New Zealands now on parity with Danish. Choicest qualities quoted—Danish 111/- to 112/-, special dairies extra; Swedish 107/- to 108/-, Finnish 107/- to 108/-, Irish creameries 107/- to 108/-, New Zealands 111/- to 112/-, Australians 103/- to 108/-. OIL CAKES—Linseed Cakes—There is a lull in the upward movement, attributable to a certain amount of profit-taking, and also for the reason that both importers and country merchants are unwilling to follow the market any further at present. English makes remain in moderate demand at £8 5/- to £8 10/-, while Calcuttas, Bombays and Brazilians have changed hands at prices ranging from £7 5/- to £7 15/-. Cotton Cakes—A slightly easier tone prevails, especially in near positions of Egyptians, with sellers yesterday of August loading at £4 12/6 ex ship, but for later shipments quotations are practically unchanged at £4 13/9 to £4 15/-, at which, however, very little new business is reported. London-made, being in extremely limited production, maintain their prices of £5 17/6 to £6. Groundnut Cakes—Best quality 54 per cent. Bombay expellers may be reasonably bought at £7 10/- to £7 12/6 ex store, while in future positions shippers continue to ask prices beyond the views of buyers here. OFFALS—English straight run middlings are firmly held at late rates of £6 12/6 to £6 15/-, and Bran is also fully as dear at £5 10/- for ordinary and £6 10/- for broad. Fancy Plate middlings and fine quality Egyptians have found a rather better sale at £6 10/- to £6 15/-, but Plate pollards have met with no inquiry, and are barely as strong at £5 7/6 to £5 10/-, duty paid. MAIZE FOODS—Garton's maize gluten feed sells readily at £6, with flake maize offering at £6 12/6, maize germ meal at £5 17/6, and finely-ground English maize meal at £5 15/- per ton, all ex factory.

MISCELLANEOUS.

DUBLIN HAY AND STRAW. — Hay supplies slightly larger than last day, but little or no improvement in quality. Business opened with a fair attendance of buyers, who were in a more business-like mood, and, on scarcity, all real, choice quality hay found ready buyers at dearer rates. Secondary sorts, although no dearer, proved easier to sell, after which it was a case of selling the poorer classes to best advantage. Prices over the day's proceedings worked out as follows:—Choice 1st crop, 3/- to 3/3 per cwt; 2nd and 3rd, 2/3 to 2/9; old meadow, 1/10 to 2/- and 2/3. Straw supplies fair, which included one or two loads of new. Trade again of a dragging nature, but prices generally were unchanged at—Oaten, 2/- to 2/6 per cwt., and baled wheaten 2/3 to 2/6.

LONDON METALS MARKET.

TIN FIRM—COPPER STEADY.

TIN—The market developed firmer features, following higher eastern cables, and sellers adopted a reserved attitude, but buyers were reluctant to follow, and business was on a smaller scale. Official quotations were advanced by 27/6 to 30/- per ton for cash and 20/- forward on balance. Standard cash quoted £142 to £142 5/-, three months £143 10/- to £143 15/-; settlement price £142 5/-. Sales amounted to 475 tons; three months at £143 10/-, £143 5/-, and £144. English ingots quoted £143 15/- to £145 15/-. Business was reported in the East at £147 17/6 c.i.f. CRAIGIE BROTHERS' SHEEP SALE.

There was a good attendance of buyers at the opening sale of breeding sheep held in the Cattle Market, Dublin, yesterday by Craigie Bros. The numbers on offer, 2,500 head, were only about half those usually shown. In sympathy with the heavy fall in values of fat stock, prices were much lower than last season. The top price for Galway ewes was 30/- made by Mr. Edward O'Shaughnessy, Mr. James Mulhern's lot making 29/-, a reduction of 20/- on last year's price. Cheviot ewes were a good show, and where owners were willing to take current prices a fair selling trade resulted. The highest price of 26/- was made by Mr. Patrick Maguire and Mr. Richard Lynch, whose lots last season made 53/- and 52/- respectively. Blackfaced horny ewes were a small show, the top price being 15/- for 100 sold by Mr. M. Prendergast, a reduction of 15/- on last year. A number of Suffolk shearling rams and ram lambs were sold at from 3 to 6½ guineas, and Shrop rams from 4 to 6 guineas.
